History of Science, History of Text Karine Chemla, 2005-08-01 two main interacting ways They constitute that with which exploration into problems or questions is carried out But they also constitute that which is exchanged between scholars or in other terms that which is shaped by one or by some for use by others In these various dimensions texts obviously depend on the means and technologies available for producing reproducing using and organizing writings In this regard the contribution of a history of text is essential in helping us approach the various historical contexts from which our sources originate However there is more to it While shaping texts as texts the practitioners of the sciences may create new textual resources that intimately relate to the research carried on One may think for instance of the process of introduction of formulas in mathematical texts This aspect opens up a whole range of extremely interesting questions to which we will return at a later point But practitioners of the sciences also rely on texts produced by themselves or others which they bring into play in various ways More generally they make use of textual resources of every kind that is available to them reshaping them restricting or enlarging them Among these one can think of ways of naming syntax of statements or grammatical analysis literary techniques modes of shaping texts or parts of text genres of text and so on In this sense the practitioners depend on and draw on the textual cultures available to the social and professional groups to which they belong

Making the New World Their Own Qiong Zhang, 2015-05-26 In Making the New

World Their Own Qiong Zhang offers a systematic study of how Chinese scholars in the late Ming and early Qing came to understand that the earth is shaped as a globe This notion arose from their encounters with Matteo Ricci Giulio Aleni and other Jesuits These encounters formed a fascinating chapter in the early modern global integration of space It unfolded as a series of mutually constitutive and competing scholarly discourses that reverberated in fields from cosmology cartography and world geography to classical studies Zhang demonstrates how scholars such as Xiong Mingyu Fang Yizhi Jie Xuan Gu Yanwu and Hu Wei appropriated Jesuit ideas to rediscover China's place in the world and reconstitute their classical tradition Winner of the Chinese Historians in the United States CHUS 2015 Academic Excellence Award Buried Ideas Sarah Allan, 2015-10-21 Four Warring States texts discovered during recent decades challenge longstanding understandings of Chinese intellectual history The discovery of previously unknown philosophical texts from the Axial Age is revolutionizing our understanding of Chinese intellectual history Buried Ideas presents and discusses four texts found on brush written slips of bamboo and their seemingly unprecedented political philosophy Written in the regional script of Chu during the Warring States period 475-221 BCE all of the works discuss Yao's abdication to Shun and are related to but differ significantly from the core texts of the classical period such as the Mencius and Zhuangzi Notably these works evince an unusually meritocratic stance and two even advocate abdication over hereditary succession as a political ideal Sarah Allan includes full English translations and her own modern character editions of the four works examined Tang Y zhi dao Zigao Rongchengshi and Bao xun In addition she provides an introduction to Chu script bamboo slip manuscripts and the complex issues inherent in deciphering them Medieval Islamic Maps Karen C. Pinto, 2016-11-01 Hundreds of exceptional cartographic images are scattered throughout medieval and early modern Arabic Persian and Turkish manuscript collections The plethora of copies created around the Islamic world over the course of eight centuries testifies to the enduring importance of these medieval visions for the Muslim cartographic imagination With Medieval Islamic Maps historian Karen C Pinto brings us the first in depth exploration of medieval Islamic cartography from the mid tenth to the nineteenth century Pinto focuses on the distinct tradition of maps known collectively as the Book of Roads and Kingdoms Kitab al Masalik wa al Mamalik or KMMS examining them from three distinct angles iconography context and patronage She untangles the history of the KMMS maps traces their inception and evolution and analyzes them to reveal the identities of their creators painters and patrons as well as the vivid realities of the social and physical world they depicted In doing so Pinto develops innovative techniques for approaching the visual record of Islamic history explores how medieval Muslims perceived themselves and their world and brings Middle Eastern maps into the forefront of the study of the history of cartography The Other Yijing Tze-ki Hon, 2021-11-29 In imperial China the Yijing Book of Changes was not just read as a Confucian classic for moral cultivation but also put into practice to solve problems of everyday life To explain why the Yijing was so widely used in China this volume examines its multiple textual layers its divinatory practices its medical uses and its role in Chinese modernity Together the ten chapters
