The Witches of Fife Stuart MacDonald, 2014-08-01 Along the coast of Fife in villages like Culross and Pittenweem history records that some women were executed as witches Nevertheless the reality of what happened the night that Janet Cornfoot was lynched at Pittenweem is hard to grasp as one sits by the harbour watching the fishing boats unload their catch and the pleasure boats rising with the tide How could people do this to an old woman Why was no one ever brought to justice And why would anyone defend such a lynching The task of the historian is to try to make events in the past come alive and seem less strange The details of the witch hunt are fascinating Some of the anecdotes are strange The modern reader finds it hard to imagine illness being blamed on the malevolence of a beggar woman denied charity or the economic failure of a sea voyage being attributed to the village hag not bad weather Witch hunting was related to ideas values attitudes and political events It was a complicated process involving religious and civil authorities village tensions and the fears of the elite The witch hunt in Scotland also took place at a time when one of the main agendas was the creation of a righteous or godly society As a result religious authorities had control over aspects of people's lives which seem as strange to us today as beliefs about magic or witchcraft It was not accidental that the witch hunt in Scotland and specifically in Fife should have happened at this time This book tells the story of what occurred over a period of a century and a half and offers some explanation as to

Colonial Justice and Decolonization in the High Court of Tanzania, 1920-1971 Ellen R. Feingold,2018-02-09 This book is the first study of the development and decolonization of a British colonial high court in Africa It traces the history of the High Court of Tanzania from its establishment in 1920 to the end of its institutional process of decolonization in 1971 This process involved disentangling the High Court from colonial state structures and imperial systems that were built on racial inequality while simultaneously increasing the independence of the judiciary and application of British judicial principles Feingold weaves together the rich history of the Court with a discussion of its judges both as members of the British Colonial Legal Service and as individuals to explore the impacts and intersections of imperial policies national politics and individual initiative Colonial Justice and Decolonization in the High Court of Tanzania is a powerful reminder of the crucial roles played by common law courts in the operation and legitimization of both colonial and post colonial states Campaigns and Elections

Stephen K. Medvic, 2017-11-21 Stephen Medvic's Campaigns and Elections is a comprehensive yet compact core text that addresses two distinct but related aspects of American electoral democracy both the processes that constitute campaigns and elections and the players who are involved In addition to balanced coverage of process and actors it also gives equal billing to both campaigns and elections and covers contests for legislative and executive positions at the national and state and local levels including issue oriented campaigns of note The book opens by providing students with the conceptual distinctions between what happens in an election and the campaigning that precedes it Significant attention is devoted to setting up the context for these campaigns and elections by covering the rules of the game in the American electoral system as well as aspects of election administration and the funding of elections Then the book systematically covers the actors at every level candidates and their organizations parties interest groups the media and voters and the macro level aspects of campaigns such as campaign strategy and determinants of election outcomes The book concludes with a big picture assessment of campaign ethics and implications of the permanent campaign New to the Third Edition Fully updated through the 2016 elections Questions the party decides theory of the nomination process in light of the Trump Republican candidacy Covers campaign finance laws and practice emanating from both Citizens United and McCutcheon Critically examines restrictive voting laws in place for the first time in the 2016 presidential election Looks at new automatic voter registration as well as registration removals Expands coverage of media effects on campaigns at every stage including social media Draws upon recent research on new campaign technologies and of the science of campaigning
