

A Tradition of Hospitality

BY SCOTT H. MOORE

Long before there was a “hospitality industry,” the practice of welcoming strangers was central to faithful discipleship. Three recent books can help us recover this rich tradition of hospitality and, by extension, the Christian faith that requires its practice.

Long before there was a “hospitality industry” — think of the scores of books on hotel management, travel and leisure, and the entertaining of guests (not a few of them are authored by Martha Stewart and her armies of copycat designers and decorators) — the practice of welcoming strangers was central to the Christian faith. Today a growing number of Christian theologians and historians are turning toward understanding hospitality as an essential Christian practice that integrates the moral and intellectual virtues.

Christine Pohl, who teaches social ethics at Asbury Theological Seminary in Wilmore, Kentucky, is one of the most articulate leaders in the recent reflection on this ancient practice. Her Making Room: Recovering Hospitality as a Christian Tradition (Grand Rapids, MI: Wm. B. Eerdmans, 1999, 205 pp., $18.00) is must reading for anyone seeking to understand the theological significance of hospitality. She divides her account into Remembering, Reconsidering, and Recovering the practice of hospitality. The introductory section is an overview of the ancient and biblical accounts of hospitality as well as a short history of hospitality in the Church.

In the second division on “Reconsidering the Tradition,” she turns from biblical exegesis and church history to a more properly theological consideration of hospitality. For Pohl, hospitality becomes the means by which we see the world and others as they actually are, as marked by the image of God. Hospitality enables recognition, and this recognition affords the dignity that can be so easily hidden within those in need of hospitality. We begin

Sharing The Search A Theology Of Christian Hospitality:

Sharing the Search Thomas R. Hawkins, 1987 Sharing Possessions Luke Timothy Johnson, 2011-01-24 This book is written as an exercise in theological reflection on one of the knottiest questions imaginable the connection between being a Christian and the way we own and use things When we turn to thinking about money and possessions we find ourselves in murky waters The things we own and use like our sexuality lie close to the bone of our individual and collective sense of identity So writes respected scholar Luke Timothy Johnson in his introduction to Sharing Possessions What Faith Demands Stepping purposefully into the murky waters of owning and sharing Johnson endeavors to clarify and define the ambiguous concept of human possession especially in relation to God's divine ownership and to discern the Bible's teaching on the mystery of human possessing and possessiveness This second edition reflecting thirty years of Johnson's further thinking on the subject features chapters expanded with fresh insights helpful new study questions for each chapter and a substantial epilogue updating the work All who found in Luke Johnson's treatment of possessions as part of the mystery of human existence a deeper and more fruitful approach to the problems of wealth and poverty will find in this new edition continued critical reflection and fresh insight Those for whom this is a first encounter will find out what made it worth reissuing after thirty years Sondra Ely Wheeler Wesley Theological Seminary Hospitable God George Newlands, Allen

Smith, 2016-07-22 Exploring the hospitality of God and its implications for human thought and action this book examines the concepts of hospitality as cognitive tools for reframing our thinking about God divine action and human response in discipleship Hospitality is imagined as an interactive symbol changing perspectives and encouraging stable environments of compassionate construction in society Human rights are of crucial importance to the wellbeing of the people of our planet But there is a sense in which they will always be an emergency measure a response to evils as they are happening The authors argue that a hospitable comparative theology reaches out to bring Christian hospitality into the dialogue of world religions and cultures It will respect the identity of particular groups and yet will strive for a cosmopolitan sharing of common values It will respect tradition but also openness to reform and reimagining It will encourage convergence and development in a fluid stream of committed hospitalities Soul Feast Marjorie J. Thompson, 1995-01-01 There are few books in which a solid biblical vision and a practical hands on approach are so well integrated When you have read and lived this book you have been in touch with the best that Christian spirituality has to offer From the Foreword by Henri J Nouwen

Friendship: Exploring its Implications for the Church in Postmodernity Steve Summers, 2011-10-27 Is the Church a community of friends Steve Summers explores the significance of friendship for our understanding of the church today Since Jesus' statement in St John's gospel I call you friends the concept of friendship has had a huge influence on the Christian understanding of community But is the historical understanding of friendship enough to serve the needs of the church in a post modern age Steve Summers explores the limits of the concept as well as its possible use in contemporary

At the Feet of Abraham Levi UC Nkwocha,2020-11-30 This book advances an Abrahamic asymmetric mutual substitutive model of hospitality as a practical approach to establish peaceful coexistence between Muslims and Christians The merits include its helpful survey of the four models of interfaith dialogue and its clear exposition of the dialogue of life its constructive use of the philosophy of Levinas particularly in supporting its vision of asymmetrical moral responsibility among Muslim and Christians and its familiarity with an extensive philosophical literature on alterity gift exchange and responsibility The research also demonstrates strong command of the relevant Christian and Muslim scriptures and Catholic teaching on interfaith relations in addition to a wide range of background material on African Ubuntu spirit visible in Nigerian sociocultural and religious interdependent relations Through a consistent engagement of these philosophical ethical and cultural dimensions the Abrahamic theology of hospitality is ingeniously crafted to fill the age old gap mutual inability to deal with religious otherness At once the book provokes further scholarship inquiries on and around the identified concerns Its commonness and concreteness with the proposed respect for each other s faith commitment further underscores its quality

Sharing Lights on the Way to God Pim Valkenberg,2006 This book seeks to give form to a theology that hyphenates two traditions that have not only been in constant conflict during most of their historical encounters but are also presented as opposite blocks in the threatening clash of civilizations at the beginning of the third millennium Islam and Christianity Based on experiences of dialogue between the three Abrahamic faiths this book analyzes historical and contemporary processes of interreligious dialogue between Christians and Muslims in order to arrive at a concept of dialogue as mutual emulation It shows how in their theologies of religious others Judaism Christianity and Islam have based their images of others on their self images This characteristic makes traditional theologies of religion quite unsuitable for interreligious dialogue Consequently the author of this book develops a model in which comparative theology and interreligious dialogue are connected by studying as a Christian theologian the theological and spiritual sources of his Muslim partners These exercises in comparative Muslim Christian theology comprise both the medieval Aquinas al Ghazali Rumi and the modern periods Said Nursi Fethullah Gulen Tariq Ramadan An interlude on Teresa of Avila s poem Nada te turbe shows how Christians may recover important insights from their own tradition by reading these Muslim theological and spiritual sources
