Household Words Stephanie Ann Smith,2006 Looking in detail at words that treat people as things and things as people and do so at that strange space where joking ridiculing demeaning oppressing resisting and regretting converge Household Words is a study of how certain words act as indices of political and social change perpetuating anxieties and prejudices even as those ways of thinking have been seemingly resolved or overcome by history Specifically Stephanie A Smith examines six words bloomer sucker bombshell scab nigger and cyber and explores how these words with their contemporary universal meaning appeal to a dangerous idea about what it means to be human an idea that denies our history of conflict She traces bombshell from Marilyn Monroe through women s liberation and the sexual revolution to Monica Lewinsky scab from blemish to strikebreaker sucker from lollipop to the routinely cheated Exposing the ambiguities in each of the words Smith reveals that our language is communal and cutting democratic and discriminatory social and psychological Stephanie A Smith is associate professor of English at the University of Florida and the author of Conceived by Liberty Maternal Figures and Nineteenth Century American Literature as well as three novels Distorted Bodies and Suffering Souls.

Chantal Kwast-Greff,2013 Chaos Pain Self mutilation Women starve themselves They burn or slash their own flesh or their babies throats and slam their newborns against walls Their bodies are the canvases on which the suffering of the soul carves itself with knife and razor In Australian fiction written by women between 1984 and 1994 female characters inscribe their inner chaos on their bodies to exert whatever power they have over themselves Their self inflicted pain is both reaction and language the bodily sign not only of their enfeeblement but also to a certain extent of their empowerment of themselves and their world The texts considered in this book chiefly by Margaret Coombs Kate Grenville Fiona Place Penelope Rowe Leone Sperling and Amy Witting function as both defiance and acceptance of prevailing discourses of femininity and patriarchy between submission and a possible future The narratives of anorexia bulimia fatness self mutilation incest and murder shock the reader into an understanding of deeper meanings of body and soul and prompt a tentative interpretation of fiction in relation to the world of real women and men in contemporary white Australia This is affective literature with the reader in voyeuristic complicity Holding up the mirror of fiction the women writers act perforce as a social lever their narratives as
