Sir James Melville
A. H. M.
1835—1817

Edited with an Introduction by
A. Francis Stewart
Esq.

Editor of "The Earl of Mary Queen of Scots," &c.

Sir James Melville, the brother of David Melville, historian of the Church of Mary Stuart, and Queen Elizabeth, started late in the career of France. He was at once a diplomatist, and was employed in a number of important missions, of which probably the most important was that to the Court of England in respect of the Queen's marriage negotiations. His journey was not without the usual difficulties with Queen Elizabeth, and some of the most interesting passages in his work rather tedious and dry, are those containing the progress of, and before the journey and the Queen, subject of her own personal relations.
