The Complete Works of W. H. Auden Wystan Hugh Auden, 1996 Volume 5 This fifth volume of W H Auden's prose displays a great writer's mind in its full maturity of wisdom learning and emotional and moral intelligence It contains his most personally revealing essays the ones in which he wrote for the first time about the full history of his family life his sexuality and the development of his moral and religious beliefs Among these works are the lightly disguised autobiographies that appear in long essays on the Protestant mystics and on Shakespeare's sonnets The book also features the full text of his T S Eliot Memorial Lectures Secondary Worlds and many unpublished or unavailable lectures and speeches Edward Mendelson's introduction and comprehensive notes provide biographical and historical explanations of obscure references The text includes corrections and revisions that Auden marked in personal copies of his work and that are published here for the first time

Gulliver's Travels and Selected Writings in Prose and Verse, 1942 Gulliver's Travels and Selected Writings in Prose and Verse Jonathan Swift, 1949 Prose and Travel Books in Prose and Verse: 1939-1948 Wystan Hugh Auden, 1996 This is the fourth volume in a complete edition of Auden's works following Plays Libretti and Prose Volume I 1926 1938 The collection of 580 pages includes the essays reviews and other writings that Auden published or prepared for delivery from the time he arrived in America in January 1939 until the end of 1948 In the following year he wrote his first book of criticism The Enchafed Flood and adopted a new set of themes in his essays and reviews Auden addresses himself to every conceivable subject literature ancient and modern art politics education philosophy religion music especially opera and the theatre The book is an exhilarating experience to read and as an intellectual feat and many of the pieces are reprinted here for the first time for half a century The texts throughout have been wherever possible newly edited from Auden's manuscripts and the notes report variant readings from the published versions

Monologues of Today Stanley Schell, 1916 Virginia Woolf and Poetry Emily Kopley, 2021 Offers a thorough reinterpretation of the motivations and aims of Woolf's canonical work and provides a major case study of genre rivalry It is written in clear and lively language and maintains a narrative drive as it traces Woolf's reading and writing over her lifetime

The Landscapes of W. H. Auden's Interwar Poetry Ladislav

Vit,2021-12-14 This is the first book length study foregrounding Auden's sense of place as a means for enhancing our grasp of this crucial twentieth century poet. Proposing that Auden had a remarkable spatial sensibility, this book concentrates on his treatment of his homeland England as well as the North Pennines and Iceland, both of which served as his good places, holy grounds and sources of topophilic sentiment. The readings draw on the scholarship of humanistic geography, tracing patterns of mental constructs which emerge from spatial experience. In a scholarly but engaging way, this book argues that focusing on Auden's poetics of place as it emerged and evolved can be instrumental to our understanding of this influential poet, not only in relation to his epoch but also to the Anglophone poetic tradition. Precisely because of his stature, these elaborations on Auden's preoccupation with places, escapism, borders and local identity promise to enrich our understanding of the cultural and intellectual climate of the interwar period when established notions of local places and cultures were beginning to be contested by internationalisation. This study will be of interest to both academics and students in the field of Anglophone literary studies while also appealing to those attracted to Auden's poetry, interwar culture and the literary representation of space.

Werner's Readings and Recitations: Monologues of today (c1916), 1916 Prose and Travel Books in Prose and Verse: Prose, 1926-1938 Wystan Hugh Auden, 1996 This book contains all of Auden's prose from 1926 thru 1938 and is the first of the 4 projected vols of his complete prose. The book also includes the complete prose, verse and photographs from Auden's 2 travel books, Letters from Iceland written in collaboration with Louis MacNeice and Journey to a War written in collaboration with Christopher Isherwood.

The Literature of Ecstasy Albert Mordell, 2019-12-13 In The Literature of Ecstasy, Albert Mordell embarks on an intellectually provocative journey through the realms of ecstatic literature, examining works that transcend conventional boundaries and delve into the depths of human experience. With a lyrical and analytical prose style, Mordell engages with a rich tapestry of texts from various cultures and epochs, navigating through the works of poets and prose writers who grapple with ecstasy as a profound emotional and spiritual state. The book situates ecstasy within literary modernism, showcasing its evolution and multifaceted representation across diverse genres, from Romanticism to modernist experimentation. Albert Mordell, a notable literary scholar and critic, was deeply influenced by his encounters with avant-garde movements and mystic traditions. His profound understanding of psychological and philosophical undercurrents informs his exploration of ecstasy as a vital yet often overlooked facet of literature. The author's own experiences with the transformative power of literature have inspired him to uncover the ways in which ecstatic expressions resonate with universal human themes, thus illuminating the interplay between art and transcendent experience. This essential reading is highly recommended for scholars, students and enthusiasts of literature who seek to expand their understanding of ecstatic experience in literary contexts. Mordell's incisive analysis not only enriches the appreciation of canonized texts but also invites readers to reconsider the very nature of literary engagement, making it an indispensable addition to the libraries of those passionate about the intersections of emotion and art.

Song of the Road ,2012-12-17 In Song of the Road Tsarchen Losal Gyatso 1502-66 a tantric master of the Sakya tradition of Tibetan Buddhism weaves ecstatic poetry song and accounts of visionary experiences into a record of pilgrimage to central Tibet Translated for the first time here Tsarchen s work a favorite of the Fifth Dalai Lama brims with striking descriptions of encounters with the divine as well as lyrical portraits of Tibetan landscape The literary flights of Song of the Road are anchored by Tsarchen's candid observations on the social and political climate of his day including a rare example in Tibetan literature of open critique of religious power. Like the Japanese master Bashō's famous Narrow Road to the Interior written 150 years later, Tsarchen's travelogue contains a mixture of luminous prose and verse rich with allusions. Traveling on horseback with a band of companions, Tsarchen visited some of the most renowned holy sites of the Tsang region including Jonang, Tropu, Ngor Shalu, and Gyantse. In his introduction and copious notes, Cyrus Stearns unearths the layers of meaning concealed in the text, excavating the history, legends, and lore associated with people and places encountered on the pilgrimage, revealing the spiritual as well as geographical topography of Tsarchen's journey.

The Theory of the Novel Georg Lukács, 1974-01-15 Georg Lukács wrote The Theory of the Novel in 1914-1915, a period that also saw the conception of Rosa Luxemburg's Spartacus, Lenin's Imperialism: The Highest Stage of Capitalism, Spengler's Decline of the West, and Ernst Bloch's Spirit of Utopia. Like many of Lukács's early essays, it is a radical critique of bourgeois culture and stems from a specific Central European philosophy of life and tradition of dialectical idealism whose originators include Kant, Hegel, Novalis, Marx, Kierkegaard, Simmel, Weber, and Husserl. The Theory of the Novel marks the transition of the Hungarian philosopher from Kant to Hegel and was Lukács's last great work before he turned to Marxism-Leninism.

Romantic Readers and Transatlantic Travel Robin Jarvis, 2016-04-08 Why and how did people read literature on North America by explorers, travellers, emigrants, and tourists? This is the central question Robin Jarvis takes up as he addresses a significant gap in scholarship on travel writing: its contemporary reception. Referencing reviews in the periodical press, personal journals, letters, autobiographies, marginalia, and bibliographical evidence relating to the production, distribution, and reception of travel literature, Jarvis focuses especially on the ideas and perceptions of North America expressed by individuals who never visited the subcontinent. Among the issues Jarvis explores are what the British reception of North American travel narratives says about the ways in which the United States was imagined in the Romantic period; how poets such as Samuel Taylor Coleridge, Felicia Hemans, Robert Southey, and William Wordsworth all voraciously read travel books and incorporated their readings into their works; and the ways in which the reception of North American travel writing should be contextualized within the broader contours of British society and culture. Significantly, Jarvis differentiates between different communities of readers to show the extent to which class or professional status affected the way travel literature was read. Of equally crucial importance, he discusses the reception of travel literature on Canada and the Arctic as distinct from that on the United States. His book constitutes the most thorough exploration to date of the private reading experiences of travel literature during the Romantic period.
