Prospective Community Studies In Developing Countries:

Prospective Community Studies in Developing Countries Monica Das Gupta, 1997 This book presents an overview of the leading prospective studies in developing countries in population and health research Prospective community studies are concerned with the understanding of the incidence of birth disease and death The leading practitioners in this field present the methodologies they have developed and summarize the major findings of their studies Since many of these methodologies have never been documented and the results are scattered in different publications the volume provides a great deal of valuable information which is difficult to locate Thus it will be an indispensable guide to researchers in the field of prospective studies and will also be helpful as a teaching aid It is a unique compendium of reflective accounts of prospective research which has been so fundamental to many major innovations regarding the way demographic behaviour is observed monitored and analysed It also provides a comprehensive account of the substantive contribution of prospective studies which include some innovative and seminal findings on community health The debate on the most efficient kinds of surveys is still ongoing and some of the surveys are still in progress too The book will be of great interest for demographers public health researchers family planners and survey specialists

Leveraging Longitudinal Data in Developing Countries National Research Council, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Committee on Population, Workshop on Leveraging Longitudinal Data in Developing Countries Committee, 2002-07-13 Longitudinal data collection and analysis are critical to social demographic and health research policy and practice They are regularly used to address questions of demographic and health trends policy and program evaluation and causality Panel studies cohort studies and longitudinal community studies have proved particularly important in developing countries that lack vital registration systems and comprehensive sources of information on the demographic and health situation of their populations Research using data from such studies has led to scientific advances and improvements in the well being of individuals in developing countries Yet questions remain about the usefulness of these studies relative to their expense and relative to cross sectional surveys and about the appropriate choice of alternative longitudinal strategies in different contexts For these reasons the Committee on Population convened a workshop to examine the comparative strengths and weaknesses of various longitudinal approaches in addressing demographic and health questions in developing countries and to consider ways to strengthen longitudinal data collection and analysis This report summarizes the discussion and opinions voiced at that workshop

Demography: Analysis and Synthesis, Four Volume Set Graziella Caselli, Jacques Vallin, Guillaume Wunsch, 2006-01-03 This four volume collection of over 140 original chapters covers virtually everything of interest to demographers sociologists and others Over 100 authors present population subjects in ways that provoke thinking and lead to the creation of new perspectives not just facts and equations to be memorized The articles follow a theory methods applications approach and so offer a kind of one stop shop that is well suited for students and professors who need non technical summaries such as political scientists public affairs specialists and others Unlike shorter handbooks Demography Analysis and Synthesis offers a long overdue thorough treatment of the field Choosing the analytical method that fits the data and the situation requires insights that the authors and editors of Demography Analysis and Synthesis have explored and developed This extended examination of demographic tools not only seeks to explain the analytical tools themselves but also the relationships between general population dynamics and their natural economic social political and cultural environments Limiting themselves to human populations only the authors and editors cover subjects that range from the core building blocks of population change fertility mortality and migration to the consequences of demographic changes in the biological and health fields population theories and doctrines observation systems and the teaching of demography The international perspectives brought to these subjects is vital for those who want an unbiased rounded overview of these complex multifaceted subjects Topics to be covered Population Dynamics and the Relationship Between Population Growth and Structure The Determinants of Fertility The Determinants of Mortality The Determinants of Migration Historical and Geographical Determinants of Population The Effects of Population on Health Economics Culture and the Environment Population Policies Data Collection Methods and Teaching about Population Studies All chapters share a common format Each chapter features several cross references to other chapters Tables charts and other non text features are widespread Each chapter contains at least 30 bibliographic citations

Population and Development: Challenges and Opportunities Anatoly G. Vishnevsky, 2009-10-20 Population and Development Challenges and Opportunities is a component of Encyclopedia of Human Resources Policy Development and Management in the global Encyclopedia of Life Support Systems EOLSS which is an integrated compendium of twenty one Encyclopedias The Theme on Population and Development Challenges and Opportunities with contributions from distinguished experts in the field discusses population and development This volume is aimed at the following five major target audiences University and College students Educators Professional practitioners Research personnel and Policy analysts managers and decision makers and NGOs Population and Health in Developing Countries: Population, health and survival at INDEPTH sites International Development Research Centre (Canada), INDEPTH Network, 2002 Population and Health in Developing Countries Volume 1 Population health and survival at INDEPTH sites Population Dynamics of Senegal National Research Council, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Commission on Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Working Group on Senegal, 1995-01-01 This volume the last in the series Population Dynamics of Sub Saharan Africa examines key demographic changes in Senegal over the past several decades It analyzes the changes in fertility and their causes with comparisons to other sub Saharan countries It also analyzes the causes and patterns of declines in mortality focusing particularly on rural and urban differences Health in Ecological Perspectives in the Anthropocene Toru Watanabe, Chiho Watanabe, 2018-11-27 This book focuses on the emerging health issues due to climate change particularly emphasizing the situation in developing countries Thanks to recent development in the areas of remote sensing GIS technology and downscale modeling of climate it has now become possible to depict and predict the relationship between environmental factors and health related event data with a meaningful spatial and temporal scale The chapters address new aspects of environment health relationship relevant to this smaller scale analyses including how considering people s mobility changes the exposure profile to certain environmental factors how considering behavioral characteristics is important in predicting diarrhea risks after urban flood and how small scale land use patterns will affect the risk of infection by certain parasites and subtle topography of the land profile Through the combination of reviews and case studies the reader would be able to learn how the issues of health and climate social changes can be addressed using available technology and datasets The post 2015 UN agenda has just put forward and tremendous efforts have been started to develop and establish appropriate indicators to achieve the SDG goals This book will also serve as a useful guide for creating such an indicator associated with health and planning in line with the Ecohealth concept the major tone of this book With the increasing and pressing needs for adaptation to climate change as well as societal change this would be a very timely publication in this trans disciplinary field

The Economization of Life M. Murphy, 2017-05-18 What is a life worth In the wake of eugenics new quantitative racist practices that valued life for the sake of economic futures flourished In The Economization of Life M Murphy provocatively describes the twentieth century rise of infrastructures of calculation and experiment aimed at governing population for the sake of national economy pinpointing the spread of a potent biopolitical logic some must not be born so that others might live more prosperously Resituating the history of postcolonial neoliberal technique in expert circuits between the United States and Bangladesh Murphy traces the methods and imaginaries through which family planning calculated lives not worth living lives not worth saving and lives not worth being born The resulting archive of thick data transmuted into financialized Invest in a Girl campaigns that reframed survival as a question of human capital The book challenges readers to reject the economy as our collective container and to refuse population as a term of reproductive justice

World Mental Health Casebook Alex Cohen, Arthur Kleinman, Benedetto Saraceno, 2002-04-30 In 1974 the World Health Organization began research on the effectiveness of mental health services in the developing world Through their efforts they found that treatment methods were extremely limited in their usefulness and in some cases even inappropriate and harmful Little has changed in the last quarter century but the research in these countries has shown that psychological need often stems from poor physical conditions Elements including social and economical inequalities gender discrimination political violence and malnutrition and poor physical health all contribute to the social and psychological decay of both individuals and communities Currently the goal of the WHO is to document previous studies on communities of developing countries and to build on this information in order to move forward in research Using real cases based in the South Pacific Asia South and Latin America and Europe this volume sets out examples of community based interventions that have succeeded by implementing outreach to the families and community to identify those in need reliable and adequate drug supplies treatment interventions healthy psychosocial environments This book will interest mental health professionals international public health workers global program administrators and clinicians and healthcare workers all working with low income areas Demographic Research, Volume 17: Book I Demographic Research,2008 HIV, Resurgent Infections and Population Change in Africa Michel Caraël,Judith Glynn,2008-08-12 Forty years ago the age old battle against infectious diseases as a major threat to human health was believed close to being won However by the late twentieth century the increase of emerging and reemerging infectious diseases was evident in both low and high income countries About 30 new infectious diseases have been identified in the last 20 years Among the new diseases and most importantly the Human Immunodeficiency Virus HIV epidemic with 40 million persons infected and 25 million deaths since its first description presents one of the most significant health societal and security challenges facing the global community The interaction of HIV AIDS with tuberculosis malaria and bacterial infections have increased HIV related morbidity and mortality and in turn the HIV pandemic has brought about devastating increases in tuberculosis Understanding the population impact and the dynamics of infection diseases in the most affected region is critical to efforts to reduce the morbidity and mortality of such infections and for decisions on where to use limited resources in the fight against infections This book aims to contribute to these efforts by offering a demographic and epidemiological perspective on emerging and reemerging infections in sub Saharan Africa Neurological Practice: An Indian Perspective - E-Book Noshir H. Wadia,Satish V Khadilkar,2014-10-30 Headache Tumours of Central Nervous System Aging Research and Practices in Malaysia Tengku Aizan Hamid,Maw Pin Tan,Siti Anom Ahmad,Pei-Lee Teh,Devinder Kaur Ajit Singh,Rahimah Ibrahim,2022-07-28 Promoting Cardiovascular Health in the Developing World Institute of Medicine,Board on Global Health,Committee on Preventing the Global Epidemic of Cardiovascular Disease: Meeting the Challenges in Developing Countries,2010-06-29 Cardiovascular disease CVD once thought to be confined primarily to industrialized nations has emerged as a major health threat in developing countries Cardiovascular disease now accounts for nearly 30 percent of deaths in low and middle income countries each year and is accompanied by significant economic repercussions Yet most governments global health institutions and development agencies have largely overlooked CVD as they have invested in health in developing countries Recognizing the gap between the compelling evidence of the global CVD burden and the investment needed to prevent and control CVD the National Heart Lung and Blood Institute NHLBI turned to the IOM for advice on how to catalyze change In this report the IOM recommends that the NHLBI development agencies nongovernmental organizations and governments work toward two essential goals creating environments that promote heart healthy lifestyle choices and help reduce the risk of chronic diseases and building public health infrastructure and health systems with the capacity to implement programs that will effectively detect and reduce risk and manage CVD To meet these goals the IOM recommends several steps including improving cooperation and collaboration implementing effective and feasible strategies and informing efforts through research and health surveillance

Without better efforts to promote cardiovascular health global health as a whole will be undermined The Grand Challenge for the Future Stefan H.E. Kaufmann, Paul-Henri Lambert, 2005-06-16 The vaccines most urgently needed are those against poverty related diseases such as tuberculosis malaria and HIV However there is a considerable gap between the development of a vaccine and the implementation as a useful measure for disease control Major obstacles need to be overcome even after successful completion of the preclinical stage This book provides an important link between vaccine development and application under the particular conditions in developing countries The editors S H E Kaufmann and P H Lambert one from the field of basic research and the other an expert on the side of applied vaccinology have gathered contributions from specialists of both fields in an attempt to create a source of information that has thus far not been available Public Management in Global Perspective Salvatore Schiavo-Campo, Hazel M. McFerson, 2014-12-18 Written by two authors with a wide range of experience in international affairs this introductory text addresses both the commonalities and diversity of administrative practice around the world including a succinct but thorough overview of PA in the United States It combines solid conceptual foundations with strong coverage of nuts and bolts how to topics such as personnel management procurement and budgeting and covers both developed countries and developing and transitional economies The book's chapters are organized into four major sections government functions and organization management of government activity interaction between government and citizens and prospects of administrative reform Plentiful illustrations and examples throughout the book and What to Expect sections and discussion questions in each chapter make this an ideal text for any PA course that takes a global perspective Handbook of Epidemiology Wolfgang Ahrens, Iris Pigeot, 2007-07-26 This 3 volume reference covers the entire field of epidemiology from statistical methods and study design to specialized areas such as molecular epidemiology and applications in clinical medicine and health services research This updated edition of the Handbook of Epidemiology adds 22 new chapters on History of Epidemiological Methods and Concepts Cluster Randomized Trials Internet Based Epidemiology Misclassification Sensitivity Analysis and Bias Analysis Emergency and Disaster Health Surveillance Statistical Inference Data Management in Epidemiology Visual Display of Quantitative Information Bayesian Methods in Epidemiology Generalized Estimating Equations Directed Acyclic Graphs Life Course Epidemiology Molecular Epidemiology Physical Activity Radiation Epidemiology Epidemiology of Obesity Epidemiology of Respiratory Allergies and Asthma Epidemiology of Dental Diseases Epidemiology of Digestive Diseases Psychiatric Disorders Epidemiology of Diabetes All other chapters are extensively revised from the 1st edition This is a reference for epidemiological researchers and graduate students in public health Handbook on ICT in Developing Countries: 5G Perspective Knud Erik Skouby, Idongesit William, Albert Gyamfi, 2017-05-16 The mobile communications market in developing countries is growing at a rapid rate This is evident in the rapid spread of mobile broadband cellular networks such as 3G 4G is also being deployed in developing countries around the world As the global communications market proceeds towards 5G

it is evident that developing countries will not be left behind However there are challenges and barriers on the road ahead specific to developing countries To aid policy makers researchers and members of the academia make informed decision that will help the advancement of 5G this handbook provides an insight into the impact of existing mobile cellular networks in some developing countries Topics discussed in this handbook include Digital divide Policy outlook 5G and rural areas 5G readiness Telco Business models Telecom tower pricing Mobile application adoption
