Protected Area Economics and Policy Mohan Munasinghe, Jeffrey A. McNeely, Adelaida Schwab, 1994 Protected Area Economics and Policy: Linking Conservation and Sustainable Development Mohan Munasinghe, 1994 Ecotourism Ralf Buckley, 2009 Focusing on fundamental ecotourism concepts this broad based textbook provides a basis for studies into environmental based tourism It covers key topics such as the management economics and potential environmental impacts both positive and negative of this popular and growing sector Publisher description Managing Protected Areas Michael Lockwood, Graeme Worboys, Ashish Kothari, 2012-05-04 This handbook produced by world renowned experts from the World Conservation Union IUCN spans the full terrain of protected area management and is the international benchmark for the field The book employs dozens of detailed international cases studies hundreds of concise topical snapshots maps tables illustrations and a colour plate section as well as evaluation tools checklists and numerous appendices to cover all aspects of park management from biodiversity to natural heritage to financial management The book establishes a conceptual underpinning for protected area management presents guiding principles for the 21st century reflects recent work on international best practice and provides an assessment of skills required by professionals As the most authoritative guide ever compiled to the principles and practice of protected area management this volume is essential for all professionals and students in all countries and contexts Nature-Based Tourism in Asia's Mountainous Protected Areas Thomas E. Jones, Huong T. Bui, Michal Apollo, 2021-07-23 This book provides holistic insights into management of protected areas across East Asia and identifies current trends in mountain tourism within the broader field of human geography and nature conservation The book describes the diversification in visitors and expanding protected areas territories in different Asian countries during recent years It also compares protected areas networks in the context of the changing demographic profiles of visitors and provides an interdisciplinary transnational appraisal of mountain based tourism in Asia based on national and international statistics The research combines specific case studies at the individual country and destination level with trans regional trends thereby offering analysis from both the perspective of supply parks protected areas and stakeholders and demand mountain tourist market trends and segments The book is a useful resource for students and academics in tourism and protected areas studies as well as social scientists and policy makers interested in Asian countries Biodiversity and Ecological Economics Luca Tacconi, 2017-09-25 It is vital that we adopt interdisciplinary approaches such as ecological economics to gain an understanding of the values that determine human interaction with and use and abuse of the environment This book is a model of applied ecological economics It presents an accessible introduction to the subject while at the same time broadening its theoretical basis by introducing a post positivist participatory method The theoretical framework is applied to case studies in biodiversity conservation drawn from around the world and a range of different ecosystems The book is a suitable textbook for students of ecological economics and an ideal introduction for scientists and environmentalists needing to understand the role of economics in ecology and conservation Tourism: New directions and alternative tourism Stephen Williams, 2004 This collection of key articles from the most influential journals and books in the field examines what social scientists mean by the term tourism and what it means to be a tourist Carefully selected and introduced by the editor this material charts the sociological changes that have occurred in tourism and the change from the upper class grand tours of the late nineteenth century to the mass tourism of the present day The collection also assesses the economic impacts of tourism on local economies environmental considerations and whether the growth of tourism is sustainable in a post September 11th world Tourism Critical Concepts in the Social Sciences is an accessible and comprehensive resource designed for academics and scholars researching in tourism globalization and human geography

Impact of Climate Change on Natural Resource Management Bipal Kr. Jana, Mrinmoy Majumder, 2010-06-27 As climate change takes hold there is an ever growing need to develop and apply strategies that optimize the use of natural resources both on land and in water This book covers a huge range of strategies that can be applied to various sectors from forests to flood control Its aim as with resource management itself is to combine economics policy and science to help rehabilitate and preserve our natural resources Beginning with papers on carbon sequestration including the practice of artificial desertification the topics move on to cover the use of distributed modeling and neural networks in estimating water availability and distribution Further chapters look at uncertainty analysis applied to the spatial variation of hydrologic resources and finally the book covers attempts at estimating meteorological parameters in the context of hydrological variables such as evapo transpiration from stream flow Within the next decade the effects of climate change will be severe and felt by ordinary human beings This book proposes a raft of measures that can mitigate if not reverse the impact of global warming on the resources we have all come to depend on Environmental Policy Instruments for Conserving Global

Biodiversity Oliver Deke, 2008-03-29 If you can believe all things are possible to him who believes Mark 9 23 The current unprecedented loss of global biodiversity as a result of anthropo genic interference in the world s ecosystems is affecting human well being across the globe with increasing severity It therefore represents a major chal lenge in international environmental policymaking With the Convention on Biological Diversity CBD the community of states has recognized the in creasing importance of preserving biodiversity Given the extensive context of biodiversity loss and preservation this study focuses on two issues which are at the center of the public discussion regarding the objectives of conservation and the sustainable use of biodiversity and that are addressed by specific policy instruments The first issue is the regulation of cross border trade in genetic information and genetic resources Here the question is whether the commercial use of genetic information derived from bio diversity can create incentives for its preservation The second issue involves the conservation of biodiversity through the protection of ecologically valuable eco systems from human use Here the question is how the protection of these natu ral areas and the consequent restriction of destructive human use can be organized effectively on an international level I am very grateful to Professor Horst Siebert for offering valuable advice and support I also am indebted to Professor Till Requate for his helpful ideas and encouragement

Contested Nature Steven R. Brechin, Peter R. Wilshusen, Crystal L. Fortwangler, Patrick C. West, 2012-02-01 How can the international conservation movement protect biological diversity while at the same time safeguarding the rights and fulfilling the needs of people particularly the poor Contested Nature argues that to be successful in the long term social justice and biological conservation must go hand in hand The protection of nature is a complex social enterprise and much more a process of politics and of human organization than ecology Although this political complexity is recognized by practitioners it rarely enters into the problem analyses that inform conservation policy Structured around conceptual chapters and supporting case studies that examine the politics of conservation in specific contexts the book shows that pursuing social justice enhances biodiversity conservation rather than diminishing it and that the fate of local peoples and that of conservation are completely intertwined

Environmental Management and Development Christopher J. Barrow, 2005 The environment and its management has been and continues to be a very topical issue Existing environment and development texts place emphasis is on listing problems making warnings and voicing advocacy but by focusing on environmental management this informative book offers a very different perspective Moving on from the usual much discussed viewpoints Barrow looks towards practical management and problem solving techniques He clarifies the definition nature and role of environmental management in development and developing countries beginning with an introduction to the key terms issues and tools of environmental management which are linked and developed in later chapters and concluding by discussing who pays for environmental management and its future in developing countries Written by an experienced and well known author this clear user friendly book ideal for students of resource management geography and development studies makes excellent use of chapter summaries boxed case studies annotated further readings and websites discussion questions and illustrations

Weak versus Strong Sustainability Eric Neumayer, 2025-07-15 This is an open access title available under the terms of a CC BY NC ND 4.0 License It is free to read download and share on Elgaronline.com This newly and fully revised fifth edition explores the two opposing paradigms of sustainability in an insightful and accessible way Eric Neumayer contends that central to the debate on sustainable development is the question of whether natural capital can be substituted by other forms of capital Using global warming and other major environmental issues as examples he shows how policies and solutions radically differ depending on which paradigm is more plausible

Ecotourism Third Edition David A. Fennell, 2007-11-14 Focusing on an array of economic social and ecological inconsistencies that continue to plague ecotourism in theory and practice this book examines ecotourism in reference to other related forms of tourism impacts conservation sustainability education and interpretation policy and governance and the ethical imperative of ecotourism as these apply to the world's greenest form of tourism This revised edition includes new information on the magnitude of the tourism industry nature based tourism and the pros and cons of mass ecotourism revised chapters on development economics marketing policy ecotourism in practice and biodiversity conservation a section on governance models ecotourism programmes operators and guides interpretation certification and ecolodge design a discussion of ecotourism as an ethical or responsible form of tourism approximately 300 new references It includes case studies and considers the perspectives of many adjacent fields including geography economics business philosophy biology and environmental studies

Environmental Challenges in South-East Asia

Victor T. King, 2013-01-11 This volume discusses environmental change natural resource exploitation and the prospect for ecological sustainability in Southeast Asia The contributors including sociologists geographers anthropologists economists political economists and historians presents the findings of recent archival and field research mainly from ongoing programmes of team research based in European universities and institutes Among the themes discussed are European and indigenous perceptions of the environment historical processes of environmental change the politics of resource use ecotourism and development deforestation and smallholding land use strategies migration and environmental degradation disease environment and human geography demography sustainability and resource exploitation

The Politics and Economics of Park Management Terry Lee Anderson, Alexander James, 2001 The Politics and Economics of Park Management examines national protected area systems in both developed and developing countries that have made a transformation from fortress parks to a sustainable use model The contributors park management academics and members of nongovernmental organizations contend that successful institutional change in protected area systems involves not only the adoption of appropriate legal and regulatory regimes covering sustainable use but also the development of an informal culture of sustainable resource use among all of a park's stakeholders While this latter requirement is often difficult to achieve the contributors show how these informal attitudes may evolve over time both within the management structure of a park agency and the community of resource users The case studies cited represent examples of successful institutional change demonstrating both financial and conservation benefits to protected area agencies that should serve as model for managing parks today

Tourism Geography Stephen Williams, 2009-06-02 Tourism is an intensely geographic phenomenon It stimulates large scale global movement of people and forges distinctive relationships between people and the places they visit It shapes processes of physical development and resource exploitation whilst the presence of visitors exerts a range of economic social cultural and environmental impacts that often have important implications for local geographies This second edition of Tourism Geography develops a critical understanding of how different geographies of tourism are created and maintained Drawing on both historical and contemporary perspectives the discussion which is in three main parts connects tourism to key geographical concepts relating to globalization mobility new geographies of production and consumption and post industrial change Part one examines how spatial patterns of tourism are formed and evolve through time Part two offers an extended discussion of how tourism relates to places that are toured examining physical and economic development socio cultural and environmental relations and the role of tourism planning Part three develops a range of new material for this second edition that considers important contemporary influences upon tourism geographies including place promotion new forms of urban tourism heritage identity and embodied forms of tourism Featuring international case studies and supported by up to date statistics the text offers a concise yet comprehensive review of tourism geography and how geographers can interpret this important contemporary process Written primarily as a student text each chapter includes guidance for further study and summary bibliographies that form the basis for independent work Towards an Environment Research

Agenda A. Winnett, 2002-12-13 This is the second volume of papers in the topical area of environmental management Arising from work done by the International Centre for the Environment at the University of Bath the papers address interdisciplinary environmental themes particularly from a business and management perspective Forests And Forest Plants - Volume I John N. Owens ,H. Gyde Lund, 2009-02-24 Forests and Forest Plants is a component of Encyclopedia of Food and Agricultural Sciences Engineering and Technology Resources in the global Encyclopedia of Life Support Systems EOLSS which is an integrated compendium of twenty one Encyclopedias Forests are an essential part of Earth s life support systems Forest resources are essential for humankind They provide both vital goods and services They provide food fuel shelter soil and water protection and filter the air we breathe This publication on Forest and Forest Plants provides the user with such information as to create an awareness of the value of our forestlands and the products and environmental services they provide The three volumes on Forests and Forest Plants are organized starting with first the necessity of the World s Forest Resources including classification and distribution of forest urban forestry and agroforestry Important Tree Species including trees in reclamation and arid zone forestry Forests and Forest Products including wood and non word products the Role of Forests in the Biosphere preserving biological diversity functions in the hydrological cycle etc and Conservation and Breeding of Forest Trees what is being done to improve our forest resources silviculture tree nurseries and forest protection The theme Forest and Forest Plants has led to the conclusion that there are substantial difficulties in matching environmental concerns and sustainability with an ever increasing world population Thus there is a tension between maximizing for food wood and production on the one hand and implementing sustainable development and environmental protection on the other These three volumes are aimed at the following five major target audiences University and College Students Educators Professional Practitioners Research Personnel and Policy Analysts Managers and Decision Makers NGOs and GOs Review of Protected Areas and Development in the Four Countries of the Lower Mekong River Region Protected Areas and Development Partnership, 2003 Proceedings of the 1996 Northeastern Recreation Research Symposium Walter F.
