Protecting the Commons Joanna Burger, Elinor Ostrom, Richard Norgaard, David Policansky, Bernard D. Goldstein, 2001-01-01 Commons lands waters and resources that are not legally owned and controlled by a single private entity such as ocean and coastal areas the atmosphere public lands freshwater aquifers and migratory species are an increasingly contentious issue in resource management and international affairs Protecting the Commons provides an important analytical framework for understanding commons issues and for designing policies to deal with them The product of a symposium convened by the Scientific Committee on Problems of the Environment SCOPE to mark the 30th anniversary of Garrett Hardin s seminal essay The Tragedy of the Commons the book brings together leading scholars and researchers on commons issues to offer both conceptual background and analysis of the evolving scientific understanding on commons resources The book gives a concise update on commons use and scholarship offers eleven case studies of commons examined through the lens provided by leading commons theorist Elinor Ostrom provides a review of tools such as Geographic Information Systems that are useful for decision making examines environmental justice issues relevant to commons Contributors include Alpina Begossi William Blomquist Joanna Burger Tim Clark Clark Gibson Michael Gelobter Michael Gochfeld Bonnie McCay Pamela Matson Richard Norgaard Elinor Ostrom David Policansky Jeffrey Richey Jose Sarukhan and Edella Schlager Protecting the Commons represents a landmark study of commons issues that offers analysis and background from economic legal social political geological and biological perspectives It will be essential reading for anyone concerned with commons and commons resources including students and scholars of environmental policy and economics public health international affairs and related fields

Protecting future generations through commons Saki Bailey, Gilda Farrell, Ugo Mattei, 2014-01-09 The recent austerity measures currently adopted in numerous European countries assume that a rise in public debt should automatically result in cuts to social programmes and the privatisation of inefficiently managed resources This type of reasoning is being used to justify the destruction of social rights of citizens for the profit of the private sector resulting in more limited access to the most fundamental resources such as water nature housing culture knowledge and information mainly for the most vulnerable members of society Such a view informed solely by short term growth and profit cycles is endangering access to those resources not only for current generations but for future ones as well This book is an attempt to go beyond liberal approaches to intergenerational and distributive justice It emphasises the role of commons and communities of the commons driven by the desire to defend and perpetuate those fundamental resources under the threat of expropriation by the state and the market This book also offers policy makers and citizens who wish to accept their political responsibility by being active and refusing corporate ideology some best practices as well as methods and solutions for renewing the configurations of societal relationships through commons thereby integrating the interests of future generations in the European Community s decision making processes and institutions This is a contribution by the Council of Europe and the International University College of Turin to the protection of the dignity of every person especially of those who even though unable to enjoy existing social rights have the right to benefit from choices and policies that ensure that human life remains unspoiled The tradable permits approach to protecting the commons : what have we learned?

Tom Tietenberg, 2002 Securing the commons in India: Mapping polycentric governance Meinzen-Dick, Ruth Suseela, Rao, Jagdeesh Puppala, Chaturvedi, Rahul, Rao, Kaushalendra, Bruns, Bryan Randolph, Kandikuppa, Sandeep, ElDidi, Hagar, 2020-07-01 Common pool land and water resources in India play vital but often overlooked roles in livelihoods and ecosystem services These resources are subject to the authority of various government departments and are often managed in ways that result in uncertain tenure for the people who depend on these resources for fodder fuel water and other products An Indian NGO the Foundation for Ecological Security FES has developed a process for commoning assisting communities to secure the commons by forming inclusive local institutions to manage the resources and to work with different government departments to gain stronger rights to the commons This paper applies polycentricity theory to examine the institutional arrangements that govern the commons in FES sites in Andhra Pradesh and Karnataka states and assesses relationships that may affect commons management It draws on key informant interviews and village level social network mapping exercises Net mapping to show the complex flows of resources information and influence related to the commons among habitation level organizations local government resource agencies the rural employment guarantee program MGNREGA and NGOs This paper discusses the potential of this methodology as a diagnostic tool to help understand community perceptions of the role of various stakeholders in overall governance of the commons and can provide guidance for interventions to help communities to strengthen their tenure on the commons and management of those resources

The Economics of Transnational Commons Partha Dasgupta, Karl-Göran Mäler, Alessandro Vercelli, 1997 Transnational commons cross border areas without well defined property rights have long been ignored in official development economics This volume redresses the balance by adopting an environmental approach which stresses the importance of shared natural resources and the links between acute poverty and environmental degradation The Economics of Transnational Commons draws together eminent contributors from fields as diverse as law population studies social anthropology biological sciences and economics to present authoritative accounts that combine empirical case studies with rigorous theoretical foundations Despite the multi disciplinary approach the main focus of the articles is the same that the reciprocal externalities and problems of free riding created by any common resource are complicated in the case of transnational commons by difficulties in monitoring enforcement and unequal access to information Often using theories of negotiation taken from game theory the studies then suggest possible solutions both at an institutional and educational level In order to make these materials suitable for teaching purposes the authors have been encouraged to survey their topics rather than present their most recent findings A companion publication The Environment and Emerging Development Issues Volumes 1 11 edited by Dasgupta and

Mahler deals with national environmental issues International Ethics Mark R. Amstutz, 2005 This text presents the concepts theories methods and traditions of ethical analysis and then applies them to case studies in the areas of human rights military force foreign intervention economic statecraft and global political justice Silent Theft David Bollier, 2003 This text exposes the audacious attempts of companies to appropriate medical breakthroughs public airwaves outer space state research and even the DNA of plants and animals It is an attempt to develop a new ethos of commonwealth in the face of a market ethic that knows no bounds Reports from Secret and Select Committees of the House of Commons and Evidence Great Britain. (ed.), Franz, N. (ed.), 2025-02-21 This volume provides a human centered perspective building on the expanding horizon from biological and economic management to interdisciplinary and transdisciplinary aquatic resources governance It was prepared in celebration of the tenth anniversary of the Voluntary Guidelines for Securing Sustainable Small Scale Fisheries in the Context of Food Security and Poverty Eradication SSF Guidelines It also provides an update of Berkes book Coasts for People Interdisciplinary Approaches to Coastal and Marine Resource Management Routledge 2015 The original chapters of the book served as the first draft of seven of the chapters all of them rewritten with multiple authors total of 20 co authors and with an explicit focus on small scale fisheries through the lens of the SSF Guidelines Over the years aquatic resources governance has evolved For example the term resource which carried a sense of free goods and commodification of nature shifted in meaning to include biodiversity and ecosystem services The term management changed to include participation complexity and uncertainty The volume focuses on several subject areas as the key elements of an interdisciplinary science of aquatic governance These include holism and ecosystems view Chapter 2 coupled humans and environment systems Chapter 3 fishers knowledge Chapter 4 commons dilemmas Chapter 5 co management Chapter 6 livelihoods and sustainability Chapter 7 fishery systems resilience Chapter 8 and ecosystem and human rights based management Chapter 9 These interdisciplinary social science oriented approaches have shaped recent thinking about small scale fisheries helping empower fishers and fishworkers towards a more inclusive equitable sustainable and resilient subsector They also help meet Sustainable Development Goals particularly SDG1 No Poverty and SDG2 Zero Hunger consistent with the emphasis of SSF Guidelines on poverty eradication and food security The intended audience for the volume is broad based and includes fisheries and aquatic management practitioners and policymakers scientists and educators It is an invitation to a new generation of resource managers to be aware of how approaches and concepts have evolved over time to embrace the challenge of interdisciplinarity and complexity to advance the transformation towards sustainable small scale fisheries Journals of the House of Commons Great Britain House of Commons,1826 House of Commons Debates Canada. The Commons, Plant Breeding and Agricultural Research Fabien Girard,Christine Frison,2018-03-09 The joint challenges of population increase food security and conservation of agrobiodiversity demand a rethink of plant breeding and agricultural research from a different perspective While more food is undeniably needed the key question is rather about how to produce it in a way that sustains biological diversity and mitigates climate change This book shows how social sciences and more especially law can contribute towards reconfiguring current legal frameworks in order to achieving a better balance between the necessary requirements of agricultural innovation and the need for protection of agrobiodiversity On the assumption that the concept of property can be rethought against the background of the right to include so as to endow others with a common right to access genetic resources several international instruments and contractual arrangements drawn from the plant breeding field including the Convention on Biological Diversity technology exchange clearing houses and open sources licenses receive special consideration In addition the authors explore the tension between ownership and the free circulation and exchange of germplasm and issues such as genetic resources managed by local and indigenous communities the ITPGRFA and participatory plant breeding programmes As a whole the book demonstrates the relevance of the Commons for plant breeding and agricultural innovation House of Commons Debates, Official Report Canada.
