The European Union between Free Trade and Protectionism Anes Ridha, 2022-01-18 Bachelor Thesis from the year 2018 in the subject Economics International Economic Relations grade 1 3 University of Duisburg Essen Social Economics language English abstract This thesis deals with the European Union and its tension between free trade on the one hand and protectionism on the other A closer look at the EU reveals an inconsistency in its policies Thus in its domestic policy the EU represents a strongly free trade oriented attitude by standing for a single market without any restrictions Externally however the EU tends to take a protectionist stance in some sectors such as agricultural policy In order to be able to deal with this topic more exactly all bases must be understood as for example terms and theories For this purpose the concept of free trade and protectionism will be introduced in detail Then in chapter two the term economic justification of free trade is defined in more detail Trade Protection in the European Community Ludger Schuknecht, 2017-10-10 This book first published in 1992 provides an in depth analysis of the EC policy making processes relating to trade protection It argues that the decision making process is biased towards national policy makers leading to the political determination of the EC's administered protection with the outcome being that protection is geared towards domestic producer interests seeking relief from import competition This study offers a unique perspective because it locates the analysis of EC trade protection within the wider framework of EC decision making processes

Lobbying the European Union David Coen, Jeremy Richardson, 2009-06-04 It is universally accepted that there has been a huge growth in EU lobbying over the past few decades There is now a dense EU interest group system This entirely new volume inspired by Mazey Richardson's 1993 book Lobbying in the European Community seeks to understand the role of interest groups in the policy process from agenda setting to implementation Specifically the book is interested in observing how interest groups organise to influence the EU institutions and how they select different coalitions along the policy process and in different policy domains In looking at 20 years of change the book captures processes of institutional and actor learning professionalisation of lobbying and the possible emergence of a distinct EU public policy style More specifically from the actors perspective the editors are interested in assessing how the rise of direct lobbying and the emergence of fluid issue based coalitions has changed the logic of collective action and what is the potential impact of venue shopping on reputation and influence From an institutional perspective the contributors explore resource and legitimacy demands and the practical impact of consultation processes on the emergence of a distinct EU lobbying relationship It will be essential reading for academics and practitioners alike Company Law and Economic Protectionism Ulf Bernitz, Wolf-Georg Ringe, 2010-12-23 A collection of essays examining the conflict between EU law and company law covering a broad range of topics including takeovers mergers and restructuring sovereign wealth funds and proportionality of ownership and control

The European Union and Turkey Mehmet Ugur, 2019-05-23 First published in 1999 this volume draws on the theories of integration credible policy commitments and convergence this book demonstrates that the problematic evolution of the EU Turkey relations has been due to an anchor credibility dilemma neither Turkey's European orientation was a credible commitment nor was the EU's anchoring capacity resolute enough to make policy reversals in Turkey less likely The way out of this dilemma is to re write the existing contracts so that non transparency and the scope for discretion are minimised

Making Trade Policy in the European Community J.P. Hayes, 2016-07-27 Commentators often see wide differences between policy as they consider how it should be conducted and how it actually emerges Those who are involved in making trade policy for their part commonly accuse commentators of not living in the real world There is often a dialogue of the deaf Part of Mr Hayes object has been to try to build bridges between practitioners and commentators with suggestions for ways of improving the policy making process in the future Hugh Corbet Consultant Trade Policy Research Centre London The external trade policies of the European Community are of great importance both for its own people and for trading partners in the remainder of the world Yet the processes by which the European Community of twelve countries attempts to reach agreement have remained somewhat mysterious What has been the relative influence of principles of policy and of various political bureaucratic and private interests at both the Community and the national levels This volume is based on a number of case studies and also contains chapters on the formation of attitudes to trade policy in three of the largest countries of the Community Germany France and the United Kingdom
