Lorca's Experimental Theater Andrew A. Anderson, 2024-11-25 Critical and historical discussions of the life and work of Federico García Lorca often prioritize his stunning modernist poetry and popular dramas while obscuring the author's more avant garde dramatic works. In Lorca's Experimental Theater: Breaking the Guardrails of Convention Andrew A. Anderson focuses on four of Lorca's most challenging plays: Amor de don Perlimplín con Belisa en su jardín, El público, As que pasan cinco años, and El sueño de la vida (previously known as Comedia sin título) and on the surrounding context in which they came to be written and in only one case performed during his lifetime. While none of Lorca's plays can be considered conventional according to Anderson, some of them are nevertheless more approachable than others. The four considered here are the works that challenge theatrical conventions most forcefully both thematically and technically. The introduction offers a brief overview of Lorca's entire dramatic output and the place within it of his four most experimental plays. The first chapter, Staging the Unstageable, gives details concerning the chronology of the plays, composition, what Lorca had to say about them in newspaper interviews, and most importantly, his numerous attempts to get what he called his unperformable plays actually performed. After a chapter on the pervasive role of undecidability in Amor de don Perlimplín, two further contextual chapters cover what Anderson considers the most significant factors that encouraged Lorca to continue experimenting in his dramatical works: namely, his exposure to theater in New York over 1929-1930 and his increasing familiarity with expressionist drama that he both read and heard about from other theater professionals. From there, El público and As que pasan cinco años each receive two chapters devoted to their themes and symbols, and the book ends with a final chapter on how audiences could experience a staging of El sueño de la vida. By synthesizing materials drawn from theatrical practice, artistic modernism, and the historical avant garde, Lorca's Experimental Theater gives an integrated picture of this corpus by providing detailed readings of the plays, surveying their textual and performative history, and examining the most important contemporary influences on Lorca's creation of these expressive, innovative works.

Ingeniería, 1925 Sexuality, Eroticism, and Gender in French and Francophone Literature Aaron Emmitte, Melanie Hackney, 2011-07-12 This study explores the diverse representations of sexuality, eroticism, and gender as expressed in French and Francophone literary thought, both past and present. From Françoise de Graffigny's epistolary refusal of eroticism to the challenge of nineteenth-century notions of rape in the novels of Émile Zola, Victor Hugo, and Eugène Sue, to desire and eroticism as social taboo in the surrealist works of Georges Bataille and Luis Buñuel, its historical focus demonstrates that issues of sexuality, eroticism, and gender existed at the heart of France's literary tradition long before they became a staple in its universities. Taking a more contemporary view, it examines the notion of criture féminine in such authors as Monique Wittig, Anne F. Garra, Nina Bouraoui, Assia Djebar, and Luce Irigaray, and also challenges accusations of misogyny in the works of Michel Houellebecq. While glimpsing the evolution of challenges to and conceptions regarding sexuality, eroticism, and gender, each chapter's author focuses on language as both the obstacle and catalyst for change For example feminist strategies to avoid linguistic gender markers that subvert the phallogocentric paradigm literary portrayals of rape as a means to affect French penal code and use of the female body as language demonstrate that these notions are not only shaped by language but that language represents the key to deconstructing and redefining them Whether picking this up to read about familiar authors such as Hugo and Djebbar or discovering Graffigny and Houellebecq for the first time each chapter promises to shed new light on its subject matter in regards to sexuality eroticism and or gender

Cinematic Representations of Women in Modern Celebrity Culture, 1900-1950 María Cristina C. Mabrey, Leticia Pérez Alonso, 2022-04-15 The purpose of this edited volume is to explore the contributions of women to European Mexican American and Indian film industries during the years 1900 to 1950 an important period that signified the rise and consolidation of media technologies Their pioneering work as film stars writers directors designers and producers as well as their endeavors to bridge the gap between the avant garde and mass culture are significant aspects of this collection This intersection will be carefully nuanced through their cinematographic production performances and artistic creations Other distinctive features pertain to the interconnection of gender roles and moral values with ways of looking which paves the way for realigning social and aesthetic conventions of femininity Based on this thematic and diverse sociocultural context this study has an international scope their main audiences being scholars and graduate students that pursue to advance interdisciplinary research in the field of feminist theory film gender media and avant garde studies Likewise historians art and literature specialists will find the content appealing to the degree that intermedial and cross cultural approaches are presented
