dentistry and veterinary science Movies & Mental Illness Danny Wedding, Mary Ann Boyd, 1999 Movies and Mental Illness by Danny Wedding and Mary Ann Boyd provides students and instructors with an innovative and intriguing approach to studying abnormal psychology. This text utilizes the viewing and discussion of popular films to illuminate and enhance student understanding of abnormal behavior. As educators themselves, the authors have used films to supplement their lectures and have found that films are an ideal medium for teaching students in psychology, social work, medicine, nursing, and counseling about the fascinating world of psychopathology. The text mirrors the table of contents of a typical abnormal psychology text, except it uses a main film to illustrate the disorder. Questions are integrated throughout to provide teaching flexibility as well as stimulate critical thinking and classroom discussion. Films may be viewed independently in small groups or in class. A comprehensive appendix provides a listing of films and offers the student and instructor a resource for many years to come. The book is designed to supplement a main abnormal psychology textbook and will be available as a prepack with Abnormal Psychology Eighth Edition by Alloy Jacobson and Acocella.

Cinema's Military Industrial Complex Haidee Wasson, Lee Grieveson, 2018-01-23 The vast and vastly influential American military machine has been aided and abetted by cinema since the earliest days of the medium. The US military realized very quickly that film could be used in myriad ways: training, testing, surveying, and mapping; surveillance; medical and psychological management of soldiers; and of course, propaganda. Bringing together a collection of new essays based on archival research, Wasson and Grieveson seek to cover the complex history of how the military deployed cinema for varied purposes across the long twentieth century, from the incipient wars of US imperialism in the late nineteenth century to the ongoing War on Terror. This engagement includes cinema created and used by and for the military itself, such as training films, the codevelopment of technologies (chemical, mechanical, and digital), and the use of film and related mass media as a key aspect of American soft power at home and around the world. A rich and timely set of essays, this volume will become a go-to for scholars interested in all aspects of how the military creates and uses moving image media.

Dreams in Myth, Medicine, and Movies Sharon Packer MD, 2002-08-30 Cinema invented just before psychoanalysis formally developed primed the public and scholars to rethink ideas about dreams. The author describes how surrealist artists purposely applied Freudian dream theories to their art to make the public aware of modern ideas about dreams. Most of our current cultural consciousness about the psychological value of dreams is traced to classical and contemporary cinema. This work examines how residuals of past approaches to dreams make conceptions of dreams in psychoanalysis and science more complex than ever today. Scholars and students in the fields of psychology, psychiatry, cinema, medicine, and religion may find this volume useful. The book also examines academic psychiatry's increased emphasis in dream study on neuropsychiatry and psychopharmacology as well as managed care's decreased compensation for dream therapy.
