Mythos and Logos in the Thought of Carl Jung Walter A. Shelburne, 1988-01-01 The author explores and defends the bold thesis that the idea of the collective unconscious can be reconciled with a scientific world outlook as he sketches a big picture from Jung's psychological viewpoint In his examination of Jung's archetypes Shelburne considers the chief critical views of the scientific import of Jung's thesis as he discusses the issue of rationality posed by the theory There is also a discussion of how the ideas of James Hillman contrast with those of Jung on the issue of the scientific nature of archetypes Shelburne presents scientific evidence for the existence of archetypes and shows how the theory fits in with modern evolutionary biology Embodied Spirituality in a Sacred World Michael Washburn, 2012-02-01 Anyone seeking a deeper understanding of human spirituality will find something of value in Michael Washburn's new book Drawing on a rich variety of psychoanalytic Jungian and existential phenomenological sources and on both Western and Asian spiritual texts Embodied Spirituality in a Sacred World provides a theoretical foundation for the idea that human development follows a spiral path Washburn shows that ego development early in life requires us to turn our backs on original sources of our existence and therefore that spiritual development later in life requires us to spiral back to these sources on the way to whole psyche integration He elucidates the underlying causes and pivotal events that set development on its spiral course and traces six major dimensions of experience as they unfold along the spiral path the unconscious the energy system the ego system the perceived other the experiential body and the life world In providing a theoretical foundation for the idea of the spiral path Washburn defends the idea against its critics and helps explain why the idea has been compelling to so many people in diverse traditions *Letters of Helena Roerich. 1935-1939.
