Rural Enterprise Shifting Perspectives On Small Scale Production:

Rural Enterprise Sarah Whatmore, Philip Lowe, Terry Marsden, 2023-06-08 Originally published in 1991 the focus of the contributions in this book is the relationships between rurality and small scale production particularly in Europe This remains relevant as then as when the book was first published the issues covered had a particular resonance in the shifting terrain of Europe and the political debates surrounding its common future The contributors explore the diversity and significance of rural small scale production in different countries and the regional disciplinary theoretical discourses which inform research

Rural Enterprise Sarah Whatmore, Terry Marsden, Philip Lowe, 2017      Gender at the Border Janet Henshall Momsen, 2018-01-18 Looking at two contrasting border regions one in western Hungary one in the east of the country this volume is the first to combine an examination of border related issues with gender and economic development By comparing and critically analyzing the relative levels of encouragement of entrepreneurial activities and gender differences it highlights the importance of borders within the changing European Union Despite the assumption that entrepreneurship would be strongest near the western border with Austria the findings show that on the contrary many women in western Hungary would rather avoid the risk of being self employed by getting well paid jobs in Austria or working for foreigners while in the east of the country entrepreneurship was often the only possible way of earning a living It also highlights the importance of setting up a business to the empowerment of women in both regions by giving them a bigger decision making role in the family      Contested Countryside Cultures Paul Cloke, Jo Little, 2005-08-12 This book examines the other side of the countryside a place also inhabited and visited by women children teenagers the elderly gay men and lesbians black and ethnic minorities the unemployed and the poor These groups have remained largely excluded by both rural policies and the representations of rural culture The book charts the experiences of these marginalised groups and sets this exploration within the context of postmodern poststructuralist postcolonial and late feminist analysis This theoretical framework reveals how notions of the rural have been created to reflect and reinforce divisions amongst those living in the countryside

Globalising Food David Goodman, Michael Watts, 2013-01-11 In an increasingly global world societies are being provisioned from a bewildering array of sources as new countries and new food commodities are drawn into international markets Globalising Food provides an innovative contribution to the area of political economy of agriculture food and consumption through a revealing investigation of the globalisation and restructuring of localised agricultural sectors and food systems The book draws on new theoretical perspectives and wide ranging case studies from Britain the USA India South Africa New Zealand and Latin America The key themes addresses range from giant multinational food corporations rural industrialisation and World Bank policies to the regulation of pollution labour relations urban food politics and environmental sustainability Globalising Food offers important insights into the problems consequences and limits of the industrialisation of agriculture and the provisioning of food in a global world as we approach the new millenium      Worlds of Production Michael Storper, Robert Salais, 1997 Four basic frameworks or possible worlds of production are explored in this book These frameworks underpin the mobilization of economic resources the organization of product systems and forms of profitability Case studies examine how possible worlds support innovative production complexes

Environmental Conflict and Democracy in Canada Laurie E. Adkin, 2010-01-01 The urgent need to resolve conflicts over forests fisheries farming practices urban sprawl and greenhouse gas reductions among many others calls for a critical rethinking of the nature of our democracy and citizenship This work aims to move the ideas of green democracy and ecological citizenship from the margins to the centre of discussion and debate in Canada Environmental Conflict and Democracy in Canada offers sixteen case studies to demonstrate that environmental conflicts are always about our rights and responsibilities as citizens as well as the quality of our democratic institutions By bringing together environmental politics and democratic theory this path breaking collection charts a new course for research and activism one that reveals the deficits of citizenship and how democracy must be extended to achieve a socially just ecologically sustainable society

Political Agroecology Manuel González de Molina, Paulo Frederico Petersen, Francisco Garrido Peña, Francisco Roberto Caporal, 2019-08-30 Political Agroecology is the first book to offer a systematic and articulated reflection on Political Agroecology from the Agroecological perspective It defines the disciplinary field responsible for designing and producing actions institutions and regulations aimed at achieving agrarian sustainability In short it aims to build a political theory that makes the scaling up of agroecological experiences possible turning them into the foundation of a new and alternative food regime The book proposes theoretical practical and epistemological foundations of a new theoretical and practical field of work for agroecologists Political Agroecology It establishes a framework for a common agroecological strategy covering the different levels of collective action and the different instruments with which it can be developed This will be essential reading for agroecologists environmentalists farming and food communities and an ideal textbook for advanced agroecology courses in universities Key features Offers a unique state of the art on this fundamental new topic Political Agroecology Presents a complete introduction to the political and institutional aspects of Agroecology covering the whole food system Offers an important tool for searching agrarian sustainability Provides a broad epistemological theoretical and methodological focus exploring the connection between the different levels and scales involved in agroecological theory and practice

The Good Farmer Rob J.F. Burton, Jérémie Forney, Paul Stock, Lee-Ann Sutherland, 2020-09-13 Developed by leading authors in the field this book offers a cohesive and definitive theorisation of the concept of the good farmer integrating historical analysis critique of contemporary applications of good farming concepts and new case studies providing a springboard for future research The concept of the good farmer has emerged in recent years as part of a move away from attitude and economic based understandings of farm decision making towards a deeper understanding of culture and symbolism in agriculture The Good Farmer shows why agricultural production is socially and culturally as well as economically important It explores the history of the concept and its position in contemporary theory as well as its use and meaning in a variety of different contexts including landscape environment gender society and as a tool for resistance By exploring the idea of the good farmer it reveals the often unforeseen assumptions implicit in food and agricultural policy that draw on culture identity and presumed notions of what is good The book concludes by considering the potential of the good farmer concept for addressing future emerging issues in agriculture This book will be of interest to students and scholars of food and agriculture and rural development as well as professionals and policymakers involved in the food and agricultural industry

The Rural Richard Munton, 2017-05-15 The rural has long been regarded as an important site of geographical inquiry even if our understanding of it has not always been treated as conceptually different from the urban That said rural research has pursued a number of distinct empirical agendas ranging from the operation and impacts of agribusiness to local resistance to global food supply chains to differing representations of the rural In doing so rural geographers have critically examined the relevance and significance of ideas drawn from numerous traditions including political economy ecological modernization and cultural theory amending them as appropriate in their search to understand the nature and trajectory of rural areas Up until the 1980s attention remained largely focused upon agriculture as the primary land use but increasingly new forms of rural consumption housing recreation nature conservation have taken centre stage as the primacy of local agricultures has been undermined by reduced state protection and new rural populations which have migrated out from the city More recently research has been dominated by the cultural turn with particular emphases upon society nature relations interpretations of landscape marginalised others and analyses of the relations between representation and practice In the last decade a more holistic view of the rural bringing together different aspects of the two previous themes has emerged through more politically oriented studies of rural governance concerned with the functioning of interest groups participation protest and the allocation and management of resources The volume is thus structured into three sections concerned with agriculture and food the rural and rural governance The great majority of the selected papers combine both empirical material often highly informative case studies and important conceptual arguments about change in the rural condition that can be linked to ideas being employed elsewhere in Geography and the Social Sciences more generally These critical reflections have been drawn very largely from research conducted in advanced economies which at least provide some commonality of experience allowing the transfer of ideas between what otherwise might be seen as very differing geographical contexts

12 A Sociology of Place in Australia Claire Baker, 2021-04-09 This book weaves a social economic and cultural history of Australia with rare first hand accounts of the lived experience of change related to farming and agriculture It provides a rich sociology of how living on the land has changed throughout Australia s history The book investigates the complex effects of the state on everyday life using an historical agricultural case study of place to explore long running sociohistorical processes of change examined through both a macro and micro sociological lens This provides a multi faceted perspective from which to examine economic social and cultural transformations in each of these contexts and change is examined through multiple sites of expression public policy and the role of the state colonial processes of dispossession social and cultural systems of value economic change and its consequences farming practices and lived experience neoliberalism and globalisation and their social impacts community decline and trends toward corporate and foreign land ownership Each of these transformations impact upon lived experience and everyday life and this book provides grounded insight into exactly this relationship and process

India Working Barbara Harriss-White, 2003 By drawing on her extensive fieldwork in India and on the adjacent theoretical literature Barbara Harriss White describes the working of the Indian economy through its most important social structures of accumulation Successive chapters explore a range of topics including labour capital the state gender religious plurality caste and space Despite the complexity of the subject the book is vivid and compelling The author s intimate knowledge of the country enables the reader to experience the Indian local scene and to engage with the precariousness of daily life Her conclusion challenges the prevailing notion that liberalisation releases the economy from political interference and leads to a postscript on the economic base for fascism in India This is an intelligent book first published in 2002 by a distinguished scholar for students of economics as well as for those studying the region

Illegal Drug Use in the United Kingdom Cameron Stark, Brian A. Kidd, Roger A.D Sykes, 2018-12-20 First published in 1999 Illegal Drug Use in the United Kingdom provides a comprehensive review of information and interventions available in drug misuse in order to inform local drug policies In keeping with the policy documents in both Scotland and England the volume covers the breadth of possible interventions rather than health care alone Separate chapters review educational policing and counselling approaches and discuss work with special groups such as rural drug users sex workers and club goers Although there are specialist textbooks on all aspects of addiction this is the first text book to bring together information in the framework used in the policy documents in the UK
