The Transformation of Rural Africa T. S. Jayne, Jordan Chamberlin, Rui Benfica, 2020-04-28 Contemporary discussions of Africa s recent growth have largely interpreted such growth in terms of structural transformation based mainly on national and sectoral level data However the micro level processes driving this transformation are still unclear and remain the subject of debate This collection provides a micro economic foundation for understanding the particular growth processes at work within the region s rural areas and in so doing provides important insights for policy action The book provides valuable household and farm level evidence about the drivers of rural labour productivity improvements in access to markets investment in food value chains and indeed the role of rural economic growth in Africa s ongoing rural transformation processes Some of the features of Africa s ongoing rural transformation are similar to those of agricultural transformation as experienced in Asia and elsewhere However other features of Africa s rural transformation are unique and pose important challenges for development policy and planning Together the studies compiled in this volume provide an updated evidence based and policy relevant understanding of where African countries are in their developmental trajectories and the region s prospects for achieving inclusive forms of development over the next several decades This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Development Studies

Development from Within D. R. F. Taylor, Fiona Mackenzie, 2024-09-30 The decade of 1980s was one of crisis for Africa Neither African governments nor development agencies made a significant impact on the quality of life of rural people The enormous range of contexts in Africa social economic political cultural and environmental limits the value of the search for universal solutions to endemic problems First published in 1992 Development from Within examines an alternative framework arguing for flexibility and specificity The authors use case studies to explore the complex social relationships of power from the household to the state They argue for the knowledge and skill of African people and illustrate the diverse means by which men and women in rural Africa struggle to survive This book will be a beneficial read for students and researchers of African studies development studies economics and sociology

Youth and jobs in rural Africa: Beyond stylized facts: Synopsis Mueller, Valerie, Thurlow, James, 2019-11-28 The rural population in Africa south of the Sahara is growing and its rural economy is still underdeveloped The pressure to create jobs in rural areas is therefore particularly acute There is cause for optimism however Evidence suggests that agriculture is transforming in many African countries albeit slowly and that youth are often participating in this process Further research is needed to accelerate this progress

contributions in sub-Saharan Africa Crumpler, K., Gagliardi, G., Otieno, Z., Dino Radin, M., Berrahmouni, N., Federici, S., Dasgupta, S., Buto, O., Toepper, J., Bloise, M., Salvatore, M., Meybeck, A., Wolf, J., Bernoux, M., 2022-06-30 This report provides a unique sector specific synthesis of the nationally determined contributions NDCs submitted by countries in sub Saharan Africa It summarizes the substantial contributions already put forward by countries opportunities for further action and the gaps barriers and needs that will need to be addressed if the agriculture and land use sectors in sub Saharan Africa are to raise mitigation and adaptation ambitions The findings of this report will help FAO Members to reflect on their progress in advancing toward NDC implementation of their agriculture and land use priorities as well as illustrate potential areas for enhancing mitigation and adaptation ambition in future NDCs The analysis also helps to clarify the links between the NDCs from the region and the 2030 Agenda and the Sendai Framework for Disaster Risk Reduction SFDRR Finally the report serves as a guide to FAO and other organizations in the region to design targeted evidenced based support programmes that support Member Countries to fill current implementation gaps and scale up climate action in the agriculture and land use sectors

The Demography of Africa Bloomsbury Publishing, 1996-11-25 Written lucidly and simply to serve as an introduction to the study of the African continent from a human population perspective this book demonstrates important factors in the ebb and flow of group size and structure using the example of the fastest growing region in the world From a total original population of less than a quarter million in prehistoric times to the present count of 642 million people in 1990 Africa is now demonstrating an annual growth rate of 3.0% the highest on the planet While the rest of the world's population is expected to increase by 60% Africa's is expected to increase by 100% doubling by the year 2025 to a projected total of 1.6 billion people The major factor creating the high growth rate is the drop in death rates while the fertility rates remain high Stress on the population has been related to urbanization which has increased since African countries attained independence in the 1960s Employment opportunities in cities are inadequate and slum conditions have appeared around most major cities Since agriculture remains the major industry and occupation rural development policies are seen to hold the most promise for stemming urban migration and reducing famine and poverty

Transforming rural Africa Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2024-03-22 The UN Decade of Family Farming 2019-2028 acknowledges the importance of inclusive rural communication services RCS to advance economic environmental and social dimensions of family farming Focusing on Africa this study examines the role of RCS in rural transformation and family farming and provides insights for the region Through case studies and a review of media and ICT trends and policies it highlights the need for participatory farmer centred communication approaches and responsive delivery mechanisms aligned with local socioeconomic realities The study concludes with recommendations for embedding RCS into national policies thereby opening new development opportunities for family farmers and rural communities in the Africa region

Food Security for Rural Africa Terry Leahy, 2018-09-03 At least fifty years of projects aimed at the rural poor in Africa have had very little impact Up to half of the children of these countries are still suffering from stunting and malnutrition Soil degradation and poor crop yields are ubiquitous Projects are almost always aimed at helping local people to solve their problems by growing for the market In some countries projects link poor villagers into cooperatives to produce a commercial output In other countries projects target more competent entrepreneurial villagers Almost all these projects fail after several years Even those that are successful make few inroads into the problems While the slogan feeding the farmers first comes from the Philippines it is particularly applicable to much of Africa where household food security can come from household production This book explains how projects can be designed that increase food security through subsistence production Focusing on particular people and projects it gives a sociological analysis of why this is so difficult to manage This book challenges the models promoted by academics in the field of development studies and argues against the strategies adopted by most donor organizations and government bodies It explains why commercial projects have been so ubiquitous even though they rarely work It gives practical tips on how to set up villages and farms to achieve sustainable solutions that also provide plenty of nutritious food The book is written to be accessible and engaging For anyone planning to work in the rural areas of Africa this book is required reading

Africa's Water and Sanitation Infrastructure, 2011-01-01 Africa's Water and Sanitation Infrastructure Access Affordability and Alternatives integrates a wealth of primary and secondary information to present a quantitative snapshot of the state of the WSS sectors in Africa It explains the sectoral institutional structures and utility performance and articulates the volume and quality of financing available over time The authors also evaluate the challenges to the WSS sectors and explore the factors that govern the expansion of coverage over time Finally the authors estimate spending needs for WSS arriving at a funding gap for meeting the MDGs The proposed directions for the future draw on lessons learned from best practices and present the menu of choices available to African countries bearing in mind that the challenges differ to a significant extent among countries and solutions must be tailored to national or regional conditions Book Jacket

Africa's Infrastructure World Bank, 2009-12-01 Sustainable infrastructure development is vital for Africa's prosperity And now is the time to begin the transformation This volume is the culmination of an unprecedented effort to document analyze and interpret the full extent of the challenge in developing Sub Saharan Africa's infrastructure sectors As a result it represents the most comprehensive reference currently available on infrastructure in the region The book covers the five main economic infrastructure sectors information and communication technology irrigation power transport and water and sanitation Africa's Infrastructure A Time for Transformation reflects the collaboration of a wide array of African regional institutions and development partners under the auspices of the Infrastructure Consortium for Africa It presents the findings of the Africa Infrastructure Country Diagnostic AICD a project launched following a commitment in 2005 by the international community after the G8 summit at Gleneagles Scotland to scale up financial support for infrastructure development in Africa The lack of reliable information in this area made it difficult to evaluate the success of past interventions prioritize current allocations and provide benchmarks for measuring future progress hence the need for the AICD Africa's infrastructure sectors lag well behind those of the rest of the world and the gap is widening Some of the main policy relevant findings highlighted in the book include the following infrastructure in the region is exceptionally expensive with tariffs being many times higher than those found elsewhere Inadequate and expensive infrastructure is retarding growth by 2 percentage points each year Solving the problem will cost over US 90 billion per year which is more than twice what is being spent in Africa today However money alone is not the answer Prudent policies wise management and sound maintenance can improve efficiency thereby stretching the infrastructure dollar There is the potential to recover an additional US 17 billion a year from within the existing infrastructure resource envelope simply by improving efficiency For example improved revenue collection and utility management could generate US 3.3 billion per year Regional power trade could reduce annual costs by US 2 billion And deregulating the trucking industry could reduce freight costs by one half So raising more funds without also tackling inefficiencies would be like pouring water into a leaking bucket Finally the power sector and fragile states represent particular challenges Even if every efficiency in every infrastructure sector could be captured a substantial funding gap of 31 billion a year would remain Nevertheless the African people and economies cannot wait any longer Now is the time to begin the transformation to sustainable development
