Rural Images Estate Maps In The Old And New Worlds:

Writing, Geometry and Space in Seventeenth-Century England and America Jess Edwards, 2018-12-07 The early modern map has come to mark the threshold of modernity cutting through the layered customs of Medieval parochialism with its clean expansive geometries Re thinking the role played by mathematics and cartography in the English seventeenth century this book argues that the cultural currency of mathematics was as unstable in the period as that of England's controversial enclosures and plantations Reviewing evidence from a wide range of literary and scientific courtly and pragmatic texts Edwards suggests that its unstable currency rendered mathematics necessarily rhetorical subject to constant re negotiation Yet he also finds a powerful flexibility in this weakness Mathematized texts from masques to maps negotiated a contemporary ambivalence between Calvinist asceticism and humanist engagement Their authors promoted themselves as artful guides between virtue and profit the study and the marketplace This multi disciplinary work will be of interest to all disciplines affected by the recent spatial turn in early modern cultural studies and particularly to students and researchers in literature history and geography

Rural Images David Buisseret, 1996-07 But these hand drawn maps often displaying elaborate cartouches and elegant coats of arms served as far more than mere records of property ownership they were treasured works of art exhibited for pleasure and as symbols of wealth and passed down from generation to generation

Manors and Maps in Rural England, from the Tenth Century to the Seventeenth P.D.A. Harvey, 2023-05-31 P D A Harvey is a historian of medieval rural England with a wide interest in the history of cartography this collection of his essays brings together both these strands It first looks at the English countryside from the 10th century to the 15th investigating problems in particular documents in the village community and in underlying long term changes How landlords drew profits from their property in the eleventh and twelfth centuries how and why there followed changes in the way landed estates were run and in the written records they produced what new light their personal seals can throw on medieval peasants are all among the topics discussed while the local management of large estates and the development of the peasant land market are themes that recur throughout There follow essays on the way maps were brought into the management of landed estates in the 16th and 17th centuries starting with the introduction of consistent scale into mapping a new concept crucially important in the general history of topographical maps The collection closes by looking at some of the traps that both documents and maps set for the historian of the English countryside

The Memory of the People Andy Wood, 2013-08-15 Did ordinary people in early modern England have any coherent sense of the past Andy Wood's pioneering new book charts how popular memory generated a kind of usable past that legitimated claims to rights space and resources He explores the genesis of customary law in the medieval period the politics of popular memory local identities and traditions gender and custom literacy orality and memory landscape space and memory and the legacy of this cultural world for later generations Drawing from a wealth of sources ranging from legal proceedings and parochial writings to proverbs and estate papers he shows how custom formed a body of ideas built up generation after generation from localized patterns of cooperation and conflict This is a unique account of the intimate connection between landscape place and identity and of how the poorer and middling sort felt about the world around them The Mapmakers' Quest David Buisseret, 2003-05-22 In 1400 Europe was behind large parts of the world in its understanding of the use of maps For instance the people of China and of Japan were considerably more advanced in this respect And yet by 1600 the Europeans had come to use maps for a huge variety of tasks and were far ahead of the rest of the world in their appreciation of the power and use of cartography The Mapmakers Quest seeks to understand this development not only to tease out the strands of thought and practice which led to the use of maps but also to assess the ways in which such use affected European societies and economies Taking as a starting point the question of why there were so few maps in Europe in 1400 and so many by 1650 the book explores the reasons for this and its implications for European history It examines inter al how mapping and military technology advanced in tandem how modern states territories were mapped and borders drawn up the role of maps in shaping the urban environment and cartography's links to the new sciences

Remembering, Forgetting and City Builders Dr Haim Yacobi, Dr Tovi Fenster, 2012-11-28 Remembering Forgetting and City Builders critically explores how urban spaces are designed planned and experienced in relation to the politics of collective and personal memory construction Bringing together case studies from North America South Asia Eastern Europe and the Middle East the book analyzes how contested national ethnic and cultural sentiments clash in planning and experiencing urban spaces Going beyond the claim that such situations exist in many parts of the world because communities construct their past memories within their current daily life and future aspirations the book explores how the very acts of planning and urban design are rooted in the existing structures of hegemonic power With contributors from the fields of architecture geography planning anthropology and sociology urban studies and cultural studies the book provides a rich interdisciplinary view into the conflicts over memory and belonging which are spatially expressed and mediated through the official planning apparatus

John Norden's The Surveyor's Dialogue (1618) Mark Netzloff, 2016-05-06 This edition provides the first complete modern version of John Norden's The Surveyor's Dialogue Norden's text a series of dialogues between a fictional surveyor and several interlocutors including a tenant farmer an aristocrat landowner a manorial officer and a socially mobile land buyer is remarkable for its unique commentary on the agrarian roots of English capitalism In his extensive introduction Mark Netzloff situates the text in relation to a number of early modern contexts He discusses the use of dialogue and other literary forms in proto scientific writing and the role of print in the increasing professionalism of early surveyors Netzloff also examines the impact of capital formation on agrarian and manorial class relations discussing topics such as popular protest and revolt cottagers and the rural poor regionalism and urbanization and the transformation of the natural environment through deforestation enclosure and the appropriation of commons Alongside a thorough annotation of technical and historical terms the edition provides a list of textual variants

among early modern versions of the text This critical edition of The Surveyor's Dialogue constitutes an important contribution to early modern scholarship and it will be invaluable to scholars from a range of fields including the history of science economic and agrarian history and literary and cultural studies Spatial Imaginings in the Age of Colonial Cartographic Reason Nilanjana Mukherjee,2020-05-18 This volume explores how India as a geographical space was constructed by the British colonial regime in visual and material terms It demonstrates the instrumentalisation of cultural artefacts such as landscape paintings travel literature and cartography as spatial practices overtly carrying scientific truth claims to materially produce artificial spaces that reinforced power relations It sheds light on the primary dominance of cartographic reason in the age of European Enlightenment which framed aesthetic and scientific modes of representation and imagination The author cross examines this imperial gaze as a visual perspective which bore the material inscriptions of a will to assert possess and control The distinguishing theme in this study is the production of India as a new geography sourced from Britain's own interaction with its rural outskirts and domination in its fringes This book Addresses the concept of production of space to study the formulation of a colonial geography which resulted in the birth of a new place later a nation Investigates a generative period in the formation of British India c 1750 1850 as a colonial territory vis vis its representation and reiteration in British maps landscape paintings and travel writings Brings Great Britain and British India together on one plane not only in terms of the physical geo spaces but also in the excavation of critical domains by alluding to critics from both spaces Seeks to understand the pictorial grammar that legitimised the expansive British imperial cartographic gaze as the dominant narrative which marginalised all other existing local ideas of space and inhabitation Rethinking colonial constructions of modern India this volume will be of immense interest to scholars and researchers of modern history cultural geography colonial studies English literature cultural studies art visual studies and area studies

Urban Poetics in the French Renaissance Elisabeth Hodges,2016-12-05 The city view forms the jumping off point for this innovative study which explores how the concept of the city relates to the idea of the self in early modern French narratives At a time when print culture cartography and literature emerged and developed together the city view a picture or topographic image of a city became one of the most distinctive and popular products of the early modern period Through a construct she calls urban poetics Elisabeth Hodges draws out the relationship between the city and the self showing the impact of the city in cultural production to be so profound that it cannot be extricated from what we know by the name of subjectivity Each chapter of the book brings focus to a crucial text that features descriptions of the self in the city by the writers Villon Corrozet Scève and Montaigne and investigate how representations of urban experience prepared the way for the emergence of the autonomous subject Charting a course between cartography literary studies and cultural history this study opens new vistas on some of the period's defining problems the book the subject the city Literature, Mapping, and the Politics of Space in Early Modern Britain Andrew Gordon,Bernhard Klein,2001-08-16 In this timely collection an international team of Renaissance scholars analyzes the material practice behind the concept of mapping a particular cognitive mode of gaining control over the world Ranging widely across visual and textual artifacts implicated in the culture of mapping from the literature of Shakespeare Spenser Marlowe and Jonson to representations of body city nation and empire Literature Mapping and the Politics of Space in Early Modern Britain argues for a thorough reevaluation of the impact of cartography on the shaping of social and political identities in early modern Britain Cartographic Encounters G. Malcolm Lewis,1998-09-15 Ever since a native American prepared a paper chart of the lower Colorado River for the Spaniard Hernando de Alarcon in 1540 native Americans have been making maps in the course of encounters with whites the most recent maps often support land claims This book charts the history of these cartographic encounters examining native maps and mapmaking from the earliest contacts onward Decolonizing the Map James R. Akerman,2017-06-16 Almost universally newly independent states seek to affirm their independence and identity by making the production of new maps and atlases a top priority For formerly colonized peoples however this process neither begins nor ends with independence and it is rarely straightforward Mapping their own land is fraught with a fresh set of issues how to define and administer their territories develop their national identity establish their role in the community of nations and more The contributors to Decolonizing the Map explore this complicated relationship between mapping and decolonization while engaging with recent theoretical debates about the nature of decolonization itself These essays originally delivered as the 2010 Kenneth Nebenzahl Jr Lectures in the History of Cartography at the Newberry Library encompass more than two centuries and three continents Latin America Africa and Asia Ranging from the late eighteenth century through the mid twentieth contributors study topics from mapping and national identity in late colonial Mexico to the enduring complications created by the partition of British India and the racialized organization of space in apartheid and post apartheid South Africa A vital contribution to studies of both colonization and cartography Decolonizing the Map is the first book to systematically and comprehensively examine the engagement of mapping in the long and clearly unfinished parallel processes of decolonization and nation building in the modern world The Imperial Map James R. Akerman,2009-03 Maps from virtually every culture and period convey our tendency to see our communities as the centre of the world if not the universe and by implication as superior to anything beyond our boundaries This study examines how cartography has been used to prop up a variety of imperialist enterprises History of Universities: Volume XV: 1997-1999 Peter Denley,2000-04-13 Volume XV of History of Universities contains the customary mix of learned articles book reviews conference reports and bibliographical information which makes this publication such an indispensable tool for the historian of higher education Its contributions range widely geographically chronologically and in subject matter The volume is as always a lively combination of original research and invaluable reference material From British Peasants to Colonial American Farmers Allan Kulikoff,2014-02-01 With this book Allan Kulikoff offers a sweeping new interpretation of the origins and development of the small farm economy in Britain s mainland American colonies Examining the lives of farmers and their families he tells the story of immigration to the colonies traces patterns of settlement analyzes the growth of markets and assesses the impact of the Revolution on small farm society Beginning with the dispossession of the peasantry in early modern England Kulikoff follows the immigrants across the Atlantic to explore how they reacted to a hostile new environment and its Indian inhabitants He discusses how colonists secured land built farms and bequeathed those farms to their children Emphasizing commodity markets in early America Kulikoff shows that without British demand for the colonists crops settlement could not have begun at all Most important he explores the destruction caused during the American Revolution showing how the war thrust farmers into subsistence production and how they only gradually regained their prewar prosperity

The Commerce of Cartography Mary Sponberg Pedley,2022-06-30 Though the political and intellectual history of mapmaking in the eighteenth century is well established the details of its commercial revolution have until now been widely scattered In The Commerce of Cartography Mary Pedley presents a vivid picture of the costs and profits of the mapmaking industry in England and France and reveals how the economics of map trade affected the content and appearance of the maps themselves Conceptualizing the relationship between economics and cartography Pedley traces the process of mapmaking from compilation production and marketing to consumption reception and criticism In detailing the rise of commercial cartography Pedley explores qualitative issues of mapmaking as well Why for instance did eighteenth century ideals of aesthetics override the modern values of accuracy and detail And what to an eighteenth century mind and eye qualified as a good map A thorough and engaging study of the business of cartography during the Enlightenment The Commerce of Cartography charts a new cartographic landscape and will prove invaluable to scholars of economic history historical geography and the history of publishing

An Archaeology and History of a Caribbean Sugar Plantation on Antigua Georgia L. Fox,2020-02-17 This volume uses archaeological and historical evidence to reconstruct daily life at Betty s Hope plantation on the island of Antigua one of the largest sugar plantations in the Caribbean It demonstrates the rich information that multidisciplinary studies can provide about the effects of sugarcane agriculture on the region and its people

Mapping Latin America Jordana Dym,Karl Offen,2011-12-01 For many a map is nothing more than a tool used to determine the location or distribution of something a country a city or a natural resource But maps reveal much more to really read a map means to examine what it shows and what it doesn t and to ask who made it why and for whom The contributors to this new volume ask these sorts of questions about maps of Latin America and in doing so illuminate the ways cartography has helped to shape this region from the Rio Grande to Patagonia In Mapping Latin America Jordana Dym and Karl Offen bring together scholars from a wide range of disciplines to examine and interpret more than five centuries of Latin American maps Individual chapters take on maps of every size and scale and from a wide variety of mapmakers from the hand drawn maps of Native Americans to those by famed explorers such as Alexander von Humboldt to those produced in today s newspapers and magazines for the general public The maps collected here and the interpretations that accompany them provide an excellent source to help readers better understand how Latin American countries regions provinces and municipalities came to be defined measured organized occupied settled disputed and understood that is how they came to have specific meanings to specific people at specific moments in time The first book to deal with the broad sweep of mapping activities across Latin America this lavishly illustrated volume will be required reading for students and scholars of geography and Latin American history and anyone interested in understanding the significance of maps in human cultures and societies

Curiosities and Texts Marjorie Swann, 2010-11-24 A craze for collecting swept England during the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries Aristocrats and middling sort men alike crammed their homes full of a bewildering variety of physical objects antique coins scientific instruments minerals mummified corpses zoological specimens plants ethnographic objects from Asia and the Americas statues portraits Why were these bizarre jumbles of artifacts so popular In Curiosities and Texts Marjorie Swann demonstrates that collections of physical objects were central to early modern English literature and culture Swann examines the famous collection of rarities assembled by the Tradescant family the development of English natural history narrative catalogs of English landscape features that began to appear in the Tudor and Stuart periods the writings of Ben Jonson and Robert Herrick and the foundation of the British Museum Through this wide ranging series of case studies Swann addresses two important questions How was the collection which was understood as a form of cultural capital appropriated in early modern England to construct new social selves and modes of subjectivity And how did literary texts both as material objects and as vehicles of representation participate in the process of negotiating the cultural significance of collectors and collecting Crafting her unique argument with a balance of detail and insight Swann sheds new light on material culture s relationship to literature social authority and personal identity
