Tang, Bruce Stone, 1980 Abstract A population of one billion people has the potential for enormous impact on the world food supply but demographic and food production data for the People's Republic of China have been difficult to obtain In an effort to fill this gap two papers are presented which attempt to synthesize and analyze as much information as is available and make predictions of probable trends in agriculture and related fields in the year 2000 and for the 1985 grain program Records from 1952-77 are used to estimate cultivated land animals energy consumption farm machinery fertilizer and output of grains soybeans and cotton The effects of industrialization and resources are considered Trends are toward population control although total demand will continue to grow emphasis on agriculture seems to indicate that production will be capable of keeping up with demand may result in some dietary improvement but will not provide for emergency supplies      Technology and Science in the People's Republic of China Jon Sigurdson, 2013-10-22 Technology and Science in the People's Republic of China An Introduction tackles several areas of concerns in the technological development of China The title covers China's research structure scientific resources and technological priorities The text first reviews contemporary China and then proceeds to discussing Chinese history Next the selection talks about China's objective and policies The text also covers the Chinese research organizations along with education and training Chapter 7 tackles the basic and applied science in China while Chapter 8 details mass science The next chapter talks about China's policy on environmental protection The tenth chapter covers electronics and the last chapter tackles the future of Chinese technology The book will be of great use to readers who have an interest in Chinese technological progress      Technology, Politics,

And Society In China Rudi Volti, 2019-07-11 This study is the first to summarize the major technological policies implemented in China since 1949 and to place them in their social and historical context Dr Volti looks at technological change in China as part of a broader process of economic political cultural and organizational change focusing primarily on four key areas agriculture energy ground transportation and medicine and public health He emphasizes how technological change has been shaped by political and ideological structures notes how China's unique cultural heritage has affected adoption of technologies developed outside China and assesses China's success in developing technologies appropriate to its specific needs as an economically and politically developing nation He draws on interviews with technicians engaged in the transfer of technology to China as well as extensive primary source materials Michigan Journal of Economics, 1980

Chu-yuan Cheng, 2019-03-13 How has the government of the PRC transformed traditional economic institutions into a socialist central planning system What has been the impact of this transformation on China's economic growth What is the essence of the Chinese development model and how successfully has it functioned during the past three decades What are the prospects for it China's Urban Space Terry McGee, George C.S. Lin, Mark Wang, Andrew Marton, Jiaping

Wu, 2007-10-18 China's urban growth is unparalleled in the history of global urbanization and will undoubtedly create huge challenges to China as it modernizes its society Adopting an interdisciplinary approach this book presents an overview of the radical transformation of China's urban space since the 1970s arguing that to study the Chinese urbanization process one must recognize the distinctive political economy of China After a long period as a planned socialist economy China's rapid entry into the global economy has raised suggestions that modernization in China will inevitably result in urban patterns and features like those of cities in developed market economies This book argues that this is unlikely in the short term because processes of urban transition in China must be interpreted through the lens of a unique and unprecedented juxtaposition of socialism and the market economy which is leading to distinctive patterns of Chinese urbanization Richly illustrated with maps diagrams and in depth case studies this book will be an invaluable resource to students and scholars of urban economics and policy geography and the development of China Economic Transition in Hunan and Southern China A. S.

Bhalla, 1984-06-18 Technology Choice Kelvin W Willoughby, 2019-07-09 This book attempts to provide a theoretical framework for answering difficult questions evoked by the concept of technology choice primarily by conducting a review of the Appropriate Technology movement and its ideas and experiments Red China's Green Revolution Joshua

Eisenman,2018-04-24 China's dismantling of the Mao era rural commune system and return to individual household farming under Deng Xiaoping has been seen as a successful turn away from a misguided social experiment and a rejection of the disastrous policies that produced widespread famine In this revisionist study Joshua Eisenman marshals previously inaccessible data to overturn this narrative showing that the commune modernized agriculture increased productivity and spurred an agricultural green revolution that laid the foundation for China's future rapid growth Red China's Green Revolution tells the story of the commune's origins evolution and downfall demonstrating its role in China's economic ascendance After 1970 the commune emerged as a hybrid institution including both collective and private elements with a high degree of local control over economic decision but almost no say over political ones It had an integrated agricultural research and extension system that promoted agricultural modernization and collectively owned local enterprises and small factories that spread rural industrialization The commune transmitted Mao's collectivist ideology and enforced collective isolation so it could overwork and underpay its households Eisenman argues that the commune was eliminated not because it was unproductive but because it was politically undesirable it was the post Mao leadership led by Deng Xiaoping not rural residents who chose to abandon the commune in order to consolidate their control over China Based on detailed and systematic national provincial and county level data as well as interviews with agricultural experts and former commune members Red China's Green Revolution is a comprehensive historical and social scientific analysis that fundamentally challenges our understanding of recent Chinese economic history
