

A night scene of a road with a large fire in the distance. The road is illuminated by streetlights, and the fire is a bright, intense yellow and orange, with some red smoke or flames visible. The scene is framed by dark trees and foliage on the sides.

When you look back,
The only things you can Keep forever are the memories.

Moving Forward, Looking Back Sarah M. Misemer, 2010 Many critical shifts in concepts of time and society's consciousness of modernity were derived from the railway and World Standard Time in the nineteenth century These innovations restructured the way people viewed the world and dealt with public and private time The forward projectile motion along a linear track mimicked the passage of public chronological time Conversely the train also invoked a private nostalgic view of time as the traveler was yanked from his/her traditional view of the space-time continuum via the train's velocity Travelers observed the landscape disappear in their backward glance from the window although the landscape and interior compartment's space remained stagnant This optical illusion caused passengers to perceive the world in new ways Thus the train unveils a conflictive blend of nostalgia and progress in the River Plate as these countries move forward but look back

The Debunker Ted Lenny, 2018-05-09 Many of the modern theories are viewed as facts when in actuality they are just educated guesses from times more technologically challenged People assume that the theories are a given and should be accepted by all It's considered politically unacceptable to disagree with their assumptions when in actuality it's unhealthy to always agree and become close-minded In the book The Debunker I use logic to disprove several popular theories Sometimes do to modern-day prejudices my views may seem controversial at first but with careful consideration you will see that it is really the politically correct stance that is controversial The Theories of Einstein and Darwin along with ones in the fields of geology psychology anthropology and theology along with several other theories many that are not considered controversial and are considered to be facts are debunked with basic logic I have also included witty phrases and sensible advice on how to live a good life It's just a little book that I wrote to help people live more heavenly enlightened lives I hope you enjoy it and prosper from it too

Remember Me Davide Sisto, 2021-04-13 As the end of December draws near Facebook routinely sends users a short video entitled Your Year on Facebook It lasts about a minute and brings together the images and posts that received the highest number of comments and likes over the last year The video is rounded off with a message from Facebook that reads Sometimes looking back helps us remember what matters most Thanks for being here It is this looking back increasingly the focus of social networks that is the inspiration behind Davide Sisto's brilliant reflection on how our relationship with remembering and forgetting is changing in the digital era The past does not really exist it is only a story we tell ourselves But what happens when we tell this story not only to ourselves but also to our followers when it is recorded not only on our social media pages but also on the pages of hundreds or thousands of others making it something that can be viewed and referenced forever Social media networks are becoming vast digital archives in which the past merges seamlessly with the present slowly erasing our capacity to forget And yet at the same time our memory is being outsourced to systems that we don't control and that could become obsolete at any time cutting us off from our memories and risking total oblivion This timely and thoughtful reflection on memory and forgetting in the digital age will be of interest to students and scholars in media studies and to anyone concerned with the ways our social and personal lives are changing in a world increasingly shaped by social media and the internet

Beneath the Surface Karie Eaton, 2015-12-15 As women we compete for attention validation admiration and the like Today technology makes it possible to connect with family and friends instantaneously We have so many options Gone are the days of a hand written letter and rare are the phone conversations or times to really be authentic with a close friend Technology makes it easy for women to portray an ideal life that competes with those whose lives they see represented on Facebook Instagram Pinterest Twitter and other social media By going beneath the surface and discovering God's true design for womanhood women can feel empowered energized and free to remove the masks and confidently embrace a life of authenticity While technologies such as social media and websites can improve our abilities and options to connect they also mean there are just so many more channels we have to manage relationships perceptions details and to top it off we have to be aware of how our communications will be read and interpreted on the receiving end Even though women long for meaningful relationships and an authentic life story they often find themselves exhausted from having to create and maintain a variety of masks to wear during the appropriate settings that prevent them from this As with anything when it is overused technology can take away from truly deep one on one intimacy and interaction Anything we come to rely on to substitute for personal relationships runs the risks of losing authenticity struggle in Potok's novels which results from a profound desire to reconcile the appeal of modernity with the pull of traditional Judaism.
