Women and Wars Carol Cohn,2013-09-04 Where are the women In traditional historical and scholarly accounts of the making and fighting of wars women are often nowhere to be seen With few exceptions war stories are told as if men were the only ones who plan fight are injured by and negotiate ends to wars As the pages of this book tell though those accounts are far from complete Women can be found at every turn in the gendered phenomena of war Women have participated in the making fighting and concluding of wars throughout history and their participation is only increasing at the turn of the 21st century Women experience war in multiple ways as soldiers as fighters as civilians as caregivers as sex workers as sexual slaves refugees and internally displaced persons as anti war activists as community peace builders and more This book at once provides a glimpse into where women are in war and gives readers the tools to understand women's told and untold war experiences in the greater context of the gendered nature of global social and political life

Hope, Pain & Patience Friederike Bubbenzer,Orly Stern,2011 As in many post conflict countries the roles played by women during Sudan's long lasting liberation struggle continue to go unrecognised Thousands of women joined the southern liberation struggle in response to a political situation that affected whole communities leaving the comfort and security of their homes not just to accompany their husbands but to fight for freedom democracy equity justice rights and dignity As well as playing roles in the fighting women acted as mothers teachers and nurses and filled numerous other roles during the war The long standing struggle for the liberation of South Sudan severely altered traditional gender roles as well as the societal structure as a whole Women also suffered during the war An increase in HIV hunger and violence particularly sexual violence characterised their lives in Sudan as well as in exile for many years Life in the post conflict period continues to be challenging as women try to carve out a meaningful life in a tenuous peace This volume documents the lives of different groups of women in South Sudan It seeks to understand the contributions made by a range of women both during the conflict and today It describes the women of South Sudan who they are what they have experienced what they hope and feel what they experienced in the war and whether the end of the war has brought meaningful change

Back cover Identity and Power in Narratives of Displacement Katrina M. Powell, 2015-02-11 In this book Powell examines the ways that identities are constructed in displacement narratives based on cases of eminent domain natural disaster and civil unrest attending specifically to the rhetorical strategies employed as barriers and boundaries intersect with individual lives She provides a unique method to understand how the displaced move within accepted and subversive discourses and how representation is a crucial component of that movement In addition Powell shows how notions of human rights and the public good are often at odds with individual well being and result in intriguing intersections between discourses of power and discourses of identity Given the ever increasing numbers of displaced persons across the globe and the layers of displacement experienced by many this study sheds light on the resources of rhetoric as means of survival and resistance during the globally common experience of displacement

Representations of Child Soldiers in Contemporary African Narratives Ademola Adesola, 2024-09-11 In Representations of Child Soldiers in Contemporary African Narratives Ademola Adesola examines the dominant factors that writers privilege in their portrayals of child soldiering in sub Saharan Africa In his textual interpretive analyses of selected novels in the African child soldier genre Adesola contends that critical discussions of African child soldier literature have depended on the interpretive frameworks supplied by Western humanitarian discourses which oversimplify and de historicize experiences of war in Africa The author argues that such reductive decontextualization of war realities serve to champion a narrow vision of war in African contexts centered on a moral and humanitarian urge for Western intervention Regardless of whether the casus belli legitimating those wars are genuine or not those conflicts and children s involvement in them are understood within the same racist colonial and ethnocentric stereotypes about Africa that have been privileged in Western thought and the Western moral political imagination for centuries Thus in studying African child soldier narratives this book provides an alternative reading of novels whose settings feature African ethnopolitical conflicts such as in Sierra Leone Liberia Congo Brazzaville Nigeria notable for their exploitation of children for military ends The author maintains that these works are significant in the varying ways they reify and challenge the Western ideas of child and childhood as well as privilege child soldiers as social actors whose intricate makeups disavow being simply understood as innocent victims or irredeemable perpetrators of atrocities
