Black Political Activism and the Cuban Republic Melina Pappademos, 2011-09-19 While it was not until 1871 that slavery in Cuba was finally abolished African descended people had high hopes for legal social and economic advancement as the republican period started In Black Political Activism and the Cuban Republic Melina Pappademos analyzes the racial politics and culture of black civic and political activists during the Cuban Republic The path to equality Pappademos reveals was often stymied by successive political and economic crises patronage politics and profound racial tensions In the face of these issues black political leaders and members of black social clubs developed strategies for expanding their political authority and for winning respectability and socioeconomic resources Rather than appeal to a monolithic black Cuban identity based on the assumption of shared experience these black activists politicians and public intellectuals consistently recognized the class cultural and ideological differences that existed within the black community thus challenging conventional wisdom about black community formation and anachronistic ideas of racial solidarity Pappademos illuminates the central yet often silenced intellectual and cultural role of black Cubans in the formation of the nation's political structures in doing so she shows that black activism was only partially motivated by race

Black Women, Citizenship, and the Making of Modern Cuba Takkara K. Brunson, 2023-03-07 In the first book to focus on the activism of Black women during

Cuba's prerevolutionary period Takkara Brunson discusses how these women battled exclusion on multiple fronts but played an important role in forging a modern democracy A Nation for All Alejandro de la Fuente, 2001 Argues that racism and antiracism continue to coexist in Cuban nationalism and society despite its fight for freedom and describes the limitations Afro Cubans face in job access education and political representation Islas, 1974 Cultvra, 1919 A Nation for All Alejandro de la Fuente, 2011-01-20 After thirty years of anticolonial struggle against Spain and four years of military occupation by the United States Cuba formally became an independent republic in 1902 The nationalist coalition that fought for Cuba's freedom a movement in which blacks and mulattoes were well represented had envisioned an egalitarian and inclusive country a nation for all as Jose Marti described it But did the Cuban republic and later the Cuban revolution live up to these expectations Tracing the formation and reformulation of nationalist ideologies government policies and different forms of social and political mobilization in republican and postrevolutionary Cuba Alejandro de la Fuente explores the opportunities and limitations that Afro Cubans experienced in such areas as job access education and political representation Challenging assumptions of both underlying racism and racial democracy he contends that racism and antiracism coexisted within Cuban nationalism and in turn Cuban society This coexistence has persisted to this day despite significant efforts by the revolutionary government to improve the lot of the poor and build a nation that was truly for all
