Dispatches from the Color Line Catherine R. Squires, 2007-07-05. When modern news media choose to focus attention on people of multiracial descent, how does this fit with broader contemporary and historical racial discourses? Do these news narratives complicate common understandings of race and race relations? Dispatches from the Color Line explores these issues by examining contemporary news media coverage of multiracial people and identities. Catherine R. Squires looks at how journalists utilize information from many sources, including politicians, bureaucrats, activists, scholars, demographers, and marketers, to link multiracial identity to particular racial norms, policy preferences, and cultural trends. She considers individuals who were accused, rightly or wrongly, of misrepresenting their racial identity to the public for personal gain, and also compares the new racial categories of the Census 2000 as reported in Black-owned, Asian American-owned, and mainstream newspapers. These comparisons reveal how a new racial group is framed in mass media and how different media sources reinforce or challenge long-standing assumptions about racial identity and belonging in the United States.

Buddhist Fundamentalism and Minority Identities in Sri Lanka Tessa J. Bartholomeusz, Chandra R. de Silva, 1998-07-10. This examination of Sri Lanka's ethnic and religious minorities links the past with the present through a treatment of Sinhala Buddhist fundamentalist development in the late nineteenth century and its hegemony in the late twentieth.
