Central Asia in Retrospect & Prospect Mushtaq A. Kaw,2010-01-01 Central Asia assimilated several alien traditions and trends and also forged conflicts and contradictions among the peoples of the region Therefore it cannot be understood without comprehension of its glorious past and budding present This compendium of thirty five papers presented at an international conference organized by the Centre of Central Asian Studies University of Kashmir Srinagar attempts to examine the various dynamics of Central Asia It addresses a wide range of issues concerning Central Asia s geo politics and geo strategy geo economics historico cultural relations and its relations with other countries of the world     American Geography: Inventory & Prospect Preston Everett James,Clarence Fielden Jones,1954     Magnetism, Planetary Rotation, and Convection in the Solar System: Retrospect and Prospect W. O'Reilly,2012-12-06 On the 6th 7th and 8th April 1983 a conference entitled Magnetism planetary rotation and convection in the Solar System was held in the School of Physics at the University of Newcastle upon Tyne The purpose of the meeting was to celebrate the 60th birthday of Prof Stanley Keith Runcorn and his and his students and associates several decades of scientific achievement The social programme which consisted of excursions in Northumberland and Durham with visits to ancient castles and churches to Hexham Abbey and Durham Cathedral and dinners in Newcastle and Durham was greatly enjoyed by those attending the meeting and by their guests The success of the scientific programme can be judged by this special edition of Geophysical Surveys which is derived mainly from the papers given at the meeting The story starts in the late 1940s when the question of the origin of the magnetic field of the Earth and such other heavenly bodies as had at that time been discovered as having a magnetic field was exercising the minds of several scientists notably P M S Blackett at Manchester W M Elsasser at the University of Pennsylvania and E C Bullard at Cambridge Two alternative mechanisms were proposed In one the magnetic field was in some way connected with the distributed angular momentum of a rotating body in the other electric currents in conducting parts within the body were proposed as the source of magnetic field     Failure and Prospect Reuben Bredenhof,2018-12-27 Bredenhof analyses the parable of Lazarus and the Rich Man Luke 16 19 31 by examining its functions as a narrative considering its persuasiveness as a rhetorical unit and situating it within a Graeco Roman and Jewish intertextual conversation on the themes of wealth and poverty and authoritative revelation The parable portrays the consequences of the rich man s failure to respond to the suffering of Lazarus Bredenhof argues that the parable offers its audience a prospect for alternative outcomes in response both to poverty and to a person who has risen from the dead This prospect is particularly evident when the parable is read in anticipation of the ethical and theological concerns of Luke s second volume in Acts Bredenhof asserts that reading within the context of Luke Acts contributes to the understanding of Luke's purposes with this narrative. It is in Acts that his audience witnesses the parable's message about mercy being applied through charitable initiatives in the community of believers while the Acts accounts of preaching and teaching demonstrate that a true reading of Moses and the prophets is inseparably joined to the believing acceptance of one risen from the dead. Through a re-reading of Luke 16:19-31 in its Luke Acts context its message is amplified and commended to the parable's audience for their response.

A Cultural History of Gardens in the Medieval Age Michael Leslie, 2015-04-02 The Middle Ages was a time of great upheaval; the period between the seventh and fourteenth centuries saw great social, political, and economic change. The radically distinct cultures of the Christian West, Byzantium, Persian, influenced Islam, and al Andalus resulted in different responses to the garden arts of antiquity and different attitudes to the natural world and its artful manipulation. Yet these cultures interacted and communicated, trading plants, myths, and texts. By the fifteenth century the garden as a cultural phenomenon was immensely sophisticated and a vital element in the way society saw itself and its relation to nature. A Cultural History of Gardens in the Medieval Age presents an overview of the period with essays on issues of design, types of gardens, planting, use, and reception, issues of meaning, verbal and visual representation of gardens, and the relationship of gardens to the larger landscape.

The Demographic Revolution in Modern Egypt Warren C. Robinson, Fatma H. El-Zanaty, 2006-01-01 The Demographic Revolution in Modern Egypt tells the dramatic story of Egypt's transition in the last two decades from staggeringly high to low fertility and mortality rates. Scholars Warren C. Robinson and Fatma H. El-Zanaty especially delve into the reasons for the decline in fertility, including the relative success of Egypt's recent public initiatives in family planning. Robinson and El-Zanaty compellingly show the importance of continued demographic stability in Egypt for that nation, the Middle East, and indeed the world. The authors point to Egypt's optimistic progress as a model for other countries facing out of control birth rates wreaking havoc with economic and social development.

Roman Finds Richard Hingley, Steven Willis, 2007-04-10 Studies on finds in Roman Britain and the Western Provinces have come to greater prominence in the literature of recent years. The quality of such work has also improved and is now theoretically informed and based on rich data sets. Work on finds over the last decade or two has changed our understanding of the Roman era in profound ways, and yet despite such encouraging advances and such clear worth there has to date been little in the way of a dedicated forum for the presentation and evaluation of current approaches to the study of material culture. The conference at which these papers were initially presented has gone some way to redressing this, and these papers bring the very latest studies on Roman finds to a wider audience. Twenty papers are here presented covering various themes.
