pathbreaking introduction to Central Asia in contemporary international economic and political context answers the needs of both academic and professional audiences and is suitable for course adoption

Korean Security in a Changing East Asia Terence Roehrig, Jungmin Seo, Uk Heo, 2007-08-30 Since its partition in the 1950s the Korean peninsula has directly or indirectly shaped the broader security relations between regional powerhouses and the recent test of a nuclear weapon by the North Korean regime has heightened tensions across the world This study draws upon contributions from a diverse array of experts who offer their perspectives on the region's complex network of alliances and hostilities The authors discuss the future of the region the potential for military conflict and a new arms race and the ways to maintain peace and stability Since its partition in the 1950s the Korean peninsula has directly or indirectly shaped the broader security relations between regional powerhouses while the recent test of a nuclear weapon by the North Korean regime has heightened tensions across the world Japan feeling increasingly threatened by the North Korean regime and China's extravagant military expenditures has begun questioning Article IX in its Constitution that renounces war and the maintenance of armed forces Its neighbors still haunted by Japanese atrocities during World War II are fearful of a new nuclear arms race in the region The United States for its part has adopted unprecedented hard line policies in response to 9 11 going so far as to condemn North Korea as part of an axis of evil It has strengthened its alliance with Japan and alienated its long time strategic partner South Korea Add to this the economic entanglements of each of these countries both with each other and with the rest of the world and the regional security issues become even more paramount This study makes sense of these complex alliances and frictions and offers an array of perspectives on the future of the region the potential for military conflict and a new arms race and the ways to maintain peace and stability Topics include big power rivalries South Korea's sunshine policy anti Americanism and emerging nationalisms

Natural Allies?: Regional Security in Asia and Prospects for Indo-American Strategic Cooperation, 2005 Indo American relations increasingly comprise expanded strategic and economic ties India's government led by Prime Minister Manmohan Singh has stated its intention to intensify these ties with America Clearly the Bush administration agrees For example President Bush has indicated his intention to sustain the gains achieved since 2001 as a priority Prime Minister Singh has invited the President to India President Bush has indicated his intention to go there leading Indian analysts to expect that What we are going to see is a consolidation of Indo U S ties on a range of strategic issues We may see a greater emphasis on economic ones as well The Bush administration is prepared to make a major offer of arms sales to India This deal has many repercussions across the entire range of Indo American relationships and of India's relationships with a host of important foreign governments like Russia China Pakistan and Israel Undoubtedly a reinforcement of the economic foundations of bilateral amity would be desirable for many reasons This book length monograph seeks to illuminate India's rising power and capabilities with regard to the key regions on its periphery the Persian Gulf Central Asia and South East Asia The author also considers the major issues pertaining to India's bilateral defense agenda with the United States By

Central Asia in Retrospect & Prospect Mushtaq A. Kaw, 2010-01-01 Central Asia assimilated several alien traditions and trends and also forged conflicts and contradictions among the peoples of the region Therefore it cannot be understood without comprehension of its glorious past and budding present This compendium of thirty five papers presented at an international conference organized by the Centre of Central Asian Studies University of Kashmir Srinagar attempts to examine the various dynamics of Central Asia It addresses a wide range of issues concerning Central Asia's geo politics and geo strategy geo economics historico cultural relations and its relations with other countries of the world

Prospect Theory and Foreign Policy Analysis in the Asia Pacific Kai He, Huiyun Feng, 2013 Why does North Korea behave erratically in pursuing its nuclear weapons program Why did the United States prefer bilateral alliances to multilateral ones in Asia after World War II Why did China become nice no more military coercion in dealing with the pro independence Taiwan President Chen Shuibian after 2000 Why did China compromise in the negotiation of the Chunxiao gas exploration in 2008 while Japan became provocative later in the Sino Japanese disputes in the East China Sea North Korea's nuclear behavior U S alliance strategy China's Taiwan policy and Sino Japanese territorial disputes are all important examples of seemingly irrational foreign policy decisions that have determined regional stability and Asian security By examining major events in Asian security this book investigates why and how leaders make risky and seemingly irrational decisions in international politics The authors take the innovative step of integrating the neoclassical realist framework in political science and prospect theory in psychology Their analysis suggests that political leaders are more likely to take risky actions when their vital interests and political legitimacy are seriously threatened For each case the authors first discuss the weaknesses of some of the prevailing arguments mainly from rationalist and constructivist theorizing and then offer an alternative explanation based on their political legitimacy prospect theory model This pioneering book tests and expands prospect theory to the study of Asian security and challenges traditional expected utility based rationalist theories of foreign policy behavior

Institutional Change and Political Continuity in Post-Soviet Central Asia Pauline Jones Luong, 2002-04-29 The establishment of electoral systems in Kazakhstan Kyrgyzstan and Uzbekistan presents both a complex set of empirical puzzles and a theoretical challenge Why did three states with similar cultural historical and structural legacies establish such different electoral systems How did these distinct outcomes result from strikingly similar institutional design processes Explaining these puzzles requires understanding not only the outcome of institutional design but also the intricacies of the process that led to this outcome Moreover the transitional context in which these three states designed new electoral rules necessitates an approach that explicitly links process and outcome in a dynamic setting This book provides such an approach Finally it both builds on the key insights of the dominant approaches to explaining institutional origin and change and transcends these approaches by moving beyond the structure versus agency debate
