From New National to World Literature Bruce King, 2016-07-05 From New National to World English Literature offers a personal perspective on the evolution of a major cultural movement that began with decolonization continued with the assertion of African West Indian Commonwealth and other literatures and has evolved through postcolonial to world or international English literature Bruce King one of the pioneers in the study of the new national literatures and still an active literary critic discusses the personalities writers issues and contexts of what he considers the most important change in culture since modernism In this selection of forty five essays and reviews King discusses issues such as the emergence and aesthetics of African literature the question of the existence of a Nigerian literature the place of the new universities in decolonizing culture the contrasting models of American and Irish literatures and the changing nature of exile and diasporas He emphasizes themes such as traditionalism versus modernism the dangers of cultural assertion and the relationships between nationalism and internationalism Special attention is given to Nigerian West Indian Australian Indian and Pakistani literature

The Paragon, 2004      African Language Media Phillip Mpofu, Israel A. Fadipe, Thulani Tshabangu, 2023-03-13 This book outlines how African language media is affected by politics technology culture and the economy and how this media is creatively produced and appropriated by audiences across cultures and contexts African language media can be considered as a tool for communication socialization and community that defines the various identities of indigenous people in Africa This book shows how vernacular media outlets including radio and television as well as native formats such as festivals rituals and dance can be used to influence all facets of local peoples experience and understanding of community The book also explores the relationship between African language media sources and contemporary issues including the digitalization conundrum peace and conflict resolution identity formation hate speech and fake news Furthermore it shows how local media can be used for development communication purposes during health and environmental crises The book includes cases studies demonstrating the uses experiences and activities related to various forms of media available in African languages This book will be of interest to scholars in the field of communication and media studies health and environmental communication journalism African studies and anthropology      African Youth and the Persistence of Marginalization Danielle Resnick, James Thurlow, 2015-04-10 The much heralded growth and transformation of many economies in sub Saharan Africa over the last decade continues to receive prominent attention in academic scholarship and among policy practitioners. An apparent feature about this transformation however is that Africa's youth appear to have been left out. This book critically examines the extent and consequences of the marginalization of African youth. It questions conventional wisdoms about data trends, aspirational goals and common policy interventions surrounding Africa's youth that have been variously propagated in both the development studies literature and in mainstream donor policy reports. The book explores macro trends from both a temporal and cross regional perspective in order to highlight what is distinct about contemporary African youth and whether their prospects and behaviours do actually vary from their counterparts in other regions of the world or from previous generations of African youth. Such studies include cross country analyses of youth employment patterns and modes of political participation in depth examination of the behaviours and aspirations of the urban youth and critical reflections on the impact of rural employment initiatives, vocational education and learnership programmes. The incorporation of multiple methods and disciplines as well as its attention to policy issues ensures that the book will be of great interest to graduate students, researchers and professional researchers whose work lies at the intersection of African area studies and development studies as well as those focused on development economics, political science and public policy and administration.
