Provin Up Adventures On A South Dakota Homestead:

Provin' Up Dorothy Y. Goble,2002 You think you have seen true love and amazing grit and determination Compare it to that of George Young and his fianc e Marie Forbes in the true life saga of their adventures from 1909 through World War I on a South Dakota homestead The young college couple invested in homesteads for money to get married and send George to medical college They would live on their claims for fourteen months and make improvements After proving up they would sell for a profit Two years of drought changed their plans and their lives There was no market for their land George had to learn to farm to make a living A neighbor with agricultural college training and immigrant neighbors helped them cope After ten difficult years and a delayed marriage the Youngs sold out realizing a substantial wartime profit on their investment They moved with their two children to an 800 acre farm in a warmer climate near a thriving town in Kansas George was a successful farmer and cattle rancher Marie brought music and delicious bread to their neighborhood gatherings Like many early settlers the Youngs chose to raise their family in a rural community and looked forward to new adventures on the land greater political rights and economic independence The answer is found in this unique blend of more than 90 primary documents in which the women's own words tell the story combined with 11 selected essays by noted historian Glenda Riley A number of themes pervade the articles and documents presented here The selections discuss stereotypes of western women the ethnic and racial backgrounds of western women women's migration experiences female migrants relations with Native Americans and women's contributions inside and outside the home as the West was settled Goodreads Beyond the Furrow Hiram M. Drache, 1976 The family farm has long been hailed as the strength of rural America and the nation Much has been written about the virtuous but sometimes mythical family enterprise This book deals with the changes that have taken place on the land that makes the family farm of today different from its 1900s predecessor Hard Grass Mary Zeiss Stange, 2010-08-16 Mary Zeiss Stange's story of running a bison ranch with her husband in southeastern Montana on the outskirts of nowhere and far from here is a narrative of survival in a landscape and a society at once harsh and alluring In this series of essays she illustrates the realities of ranch life at a time when the New West of subdivision ranchettes telecommuting and tourism collides with the True West of too much too little too hard and too harsh This society is molded by the climate and both run to extremes simultaneously unforgiving often brutal yet capable of unalloyed charm and breathtaking beauty Her stories explore the myths and realities of ranch life in modern America the brandings rodeos and demolition derbies that are major events and the social environmental and political factors at work in shaping the land and the people Less memoir than deep history of people and place these vivid naturalistic tales examine the complex relationships that comprise life in the rural West today American Book Publishing Record Cumulative, 1950-1977 R.R.

Name H. Elaine Lindgren, 1991 Land is often known by the names of past owners Emma's Land Gina's quarter and the Ingeborg Land are reminders of the many women who homesteaded across North Dakota in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries Land in Her Own Name records these homesteaders' experiences as revealed in interviews with surviving homesteaders and their families and friends land records letters and diaries These women's fascinating accounts tell of locating a claim erecting a shelter and living on the prairie Their ethnic backgrounds include Yankee Scandinavian German and German Russian as well as African American Jewish and Lebanese Some were barely twenty one while others had reached their sixties A few lived on their land for life and never borrowed a cent against it others sold or rented the land to start a small business or to provide money for education
