Psychiatric Morbidity Report 5:

Assessing Forensic Mental Health Need Andrea Cohen, Nigel Eastman, 2000 Mentally disordered offenders MDOs have dominated the recent political agenda for mental health care emphasised by cases such as those of Christopher Clunis and Michael Stone Yet successive governments have constrained the development of all health and social services by the requirement that they must be demonstrated as capable of benefiting those to whom they are applied This book analyses the development of government policy for services for MDOs since the important Butler report in 1975 and provides a theoretical framework for adjudging research which purports to demonstrate a need and outcome Finally it emphasises the subjective and value laden nature of all needs assessments and their interpretation and poses the crucial questions of whose need it is that we address through MDO services those of the patient or of society This book will be valuable to clinicians and researchers working in mental health services policy makers service commissioners and managers Features An analysis of the history of the MDO policy in relation to needs assessment pre and post the important Reed Report A methodological framework for needs assessment of MDOs Critical appraisal of alternative definitions of needs and of related concepts Critical analysis of the application of needs assessment methods A review of research relevant to needs assessment for MDOs Needs in relation to outcome An analysis of recent policy development related to MDO services Contemporary Psychiatry major new reference presents The Foresight Mental Capital and Wellbeing Project a UK Government project in the Government Office for Science It offers a comprehensive exploration of how mental capital and wellbeing operate over the lifespan how experiences in the family in school at work and following retirement augment or reduce mental capital and wellbeing and the impact that this has for the individual and for the welfare and economic progress of the nation Mental Capital and Wellbeing comprises a series of scientific reviews written by leading international scientists and social scientists in the field The reviews undertake systematic analyses of the evidence base surrounding five key themes on which they propose future policies will have to be based An internationally renowned team of Editors introduce each theme and draw together conclusions in terms of both policy and practice

Section 1 Mental Capital and Wellbeing Through Life Mental capital refers to the totality of an individual's cognitive and emotional resources including their cognitive capability flexibility and efficiency of learning emotional intelligence and resilience in the face of stress The extent of an individual's resources reflects his or her basic endowment e.g. genes and early biological programming motivation and experiences e.g. education which take place throughout the life course This section presents the very latest on the science of mental capital throughout life

Section 2 Learning Through Life provides a coherent overview of a fast moving and complex field of policy and practice Educational attainment has a considerable impact on physical and mental wellbeing both directly and indirectly by enabling people better to achieve their goals The ability to continue learning throughout the lifespan is critical to a successful and rewarding life in contemporary societies

Section 3 Mental Health and Ill Health draws together the most recent evidence about positive mental health as well as a range of mental disorders to consider their importance to the population and economy in terms of prevalence and disability and the wider burden on society

Section 4 Wellbeing and Work It is estimated that 13 million working days are lost through stress each year costing the economy over 3.7 billion per annum This theme explores those drivers that influence the nature and structure of work and the impact this has on employee wellbeing

Section 5 Learning Difficulties This theme provides a cutting edge picture of how recent insights from genetics cognitive and neuroscience improve our understanding of learning difficulties such as dyslexia dyscalculia and attention deficit hyperactivity disorder

Reviews focus on how current research can contribute to early diagnosis and improved intervention
