American Education , 1970 Reading Mengli Song, Tamara V. Young, 2007-12-01 The past decade saw heightened policy activism in the field of reading at both the federal level and across virtually all 50 states Initially sparked by disagreements about methods for teaching children to read the so called reading wars stirred heated debates on a variety of issues levels and trends of reading achievement pedagogy standards and assessment and education equity among others Embedded within these debates were the political agendas of state executives and legislatures the interests of advocacy groups and the ideologies of reading professionals which were collectively shaping state reading policy development Drawing primarily on interviews with 366 policy actors from nine states this book presents a comprehensive investigation of the state reading policy domain employing multiple theoretical frameworks and research methods Using social network analysis the authors examined the interplay among a plethora of policy actors embedded in reading policy networks They explored in depth policy actors divergent beliefs on key reading related issues the causal stories told and the policy solutions proposed In addition they examined the variety of lobbying tactics that interest groups utilized to gain influence over the policymaking process and to advance their policy agenda As the most significant research endeavor in the area of state reading policy to date this cross state comparative study sheds light on the multifaceted nature and the intricacies of the policy processes in reading and in education in general The findings of this study bear important implications for both policy actors and education professionals This study also makes a substantial contribution to policy research in education by demonstrating how theoretical frameworks and analytic methods that have not been fully utilized in education could serve as powerful tools for exploring educational policy processes System-wide Efforts to Improve Student Achievement Kenneth K. Wong, Stacey Rutledge, 2006-03-01 Strong system wide support is increasingly being identified as laying an important role in policy efforts aimed at increasing student achievement Hightower Knapp March and McLaughlin 2002 Yet current research often views district and other system wide support as largely governance changes without substantive linkage to school improvement outcomes Cuban and Usdan 2003 In this volume we seek to deepen our understanding of the role of school districts and system wide initiatives through a series of case studies that focus on how school districts and system wide actors facilitate policy innovation and reform initiatives that are designed to improve student achievement Through both quantitative and qualitative studies from diverse settings across the country chapters in this volume examine the role of instructional technology alternative accountability practices management and partnership reforms and school improvement efforts through new incentive and support practices While challenges remain these case studies demonstrate how districts support and facilitate school change aimed at improving student achievement Facilitator's Guide Jeffrey Glanz,2006
