And now there's a new phrase for the police: "runaway wives."

In the past, it was usually the men who were running away from their wives.

But now it's the women who are running away from their husbands.

Runaway Wives:

Runaway Wives, Urban Crimes, and Survival Tactics in Wartime Beijing, 1937-1949 Ma Zhao, 2020-05-11 From 1937 to 1949 Beijing was in a state of crisis. The combined forces of Japanese occupation, civil war, runaway inflation, and reformist campaigns and revolutionary efforts wreaked havoc on the city's economy, upset the political order, and threatened the social and moral fabric as well. Women, especially lower class women living in Beijing's tenement neighborhoods, were among those most affected by these upheavals. Delving into testimonies from criminal case files, Zhao Ma explores intimate accounts of lower class women's struggles with poverty, deprivation, and marital strife. By uncovering the set of everyday tactics that women devised and utilized in their personal efforts to cope with predatory policies and crushing poverty, this book reveals an urban underworld that was built on an informal economy and conducted primarily through neighborhood networks. Where necessary, women relied on customary practices, hierarchical patterns of household authority, illegitimate relationships, and criminal entrepreneurship to get by. Women's survival tactics, embedded in and reproduced by their everyday experience, opened possibilities for them to modify the male dominated city and more importantly allowed women to subtly deflect, subvert, and escape without leaving powerful forces such as the surveillance state, reformist discourse, and revolutionary politics during and beyond wartime Beijing.

From Eve to Dawn: A History of Women in the World Volume IV Marilyn French, 2008-09-01 The conclusion of the remarkable four volume history by the New York Times bestselling author of The Women's Room. Publishers Weekly: In the twentieth century, women became a force for change in part through suffrage and in part through mass organizing. This final volume of Marilyn French's wide ranging survey offers a vibrant history of multiple political revolutions as well as the century's horrors, including genocides and the atom bomb. It ends with a thoughtful investigation into the various indigenous feminist movements throughout the world and asks what these peaceful revolutions might augur for the future. Eschewing easy answers, French suggests that the defining moral moments of the twenty first century should and will build from a global human rights agenda.

Hard Knocks Janice Haaken, 2010-06-10 This book draws on interviews carried out over a period of eight years as well as novels films and domestic violence literature to explain the role of storytelling in the history of the battered women's movement The author shows how cultural contexts shape how stories about domestic abuse get told and offers critical tools for bringing psychology into discussions of group dynamics in the domestic violence field The book enlists psychoanalytic feminist theory to analyse storytelling practices and to re visit four areas of tension in the movement where signs of battle fatigue have been most acute These areas include the conflicts that emerge between the battered women s movement and the state the complex relationship between domestic violence and other social problems and the question of whether woman battering is a special case that differs from other forms of social violence The volume also looks at the tensions between groups of women within the movement and how to address differences based on race class or other dimensions of power Finally the book explores the contentious issue of how to acknowledge forms of female aggression while still preserving a gender analysis of intimate partner violence In attending to narrative dynamics in the history of domestic violence work Hard Knocks presents a radical re reading of the contribution of psychology to feminist interventions and activism The book is ideal reading for scholars activists advocates and policy planners involved in domestic violence and is suitable for students of psychology social work sociology and criminology
