Racing the Rain John L. Parker,2016-09-13 From the author of the New York Times bestselling Once a Runner The best novel ever written about running Runner s World comes that novel s prequel the story of a world class athlete coming of age in the 1950s and 60s on Florida s Gold Coast Quenton Cassidy s first foot races are with nature itself the summer storms that sweep through his subtropical neighborhood Shirtless barefoot and brown as a berry Cassidy is a skinny mouthy kid with aspirations to be a great athlete As he explores his primal surroundings along the Loxahatchee River and the nearby Atlantic Ocean he is befriended by Trapper Nelson the Tarzan of the Loxahatchee a well known eccentric who lives off the land In junior high school quite by chance Cassidy discovers an ability to run long distances but his real dream is to be a basketball star Still Cassidy absorbs Nelson s view of running as a way of relating to and interacting with the natural world Though he is warned of Nelson s checkered past Cassidy dismisses the stories as superstitious gossip until his small town is stunned by the disappearance of a prominent judge and his wife Cassidy s loyalty to his friend is severely tested just as his opportunity to make his mark as a gifted runner comes to fruition John Parker s prequel to the New York Times bestseller Once a Runner vividly captures how a runner is formed and the physical endurance determination and mindset he develops on the way to becoming a champion Racing the Rain is an epic coming of age classic about the environments and friendships that shape us all

The Longest Race Ed Ayres,2013-08-20 It soon becomes clear that this book isn t just about an athletic race It s also about the human race Bloomberg Businessweek Having run in more than six hundred races over the span of fifty five years Ed Ayres is a legendary distance runner and this book is his urgent exploration of the connection between individual endurance and a sustainable society The Longest Race begins in 2001 at the starting line of the JFK 50 Mile the nation's oldest and largest ultramarathon and like other such races it's an epic test of human limits and aspiration At age sixty his sights set on breaking the age division record Ayres embarks on a course over the rocky ridge of the Appalachian Trail along the headwind buffeted towpath of the Potomac River and past momentous Civil War sites such as Harpers Ferry and Antietam But even as Ayres focuses on an endurance runner's familiar concerns starting strong and setting the right pace controlling his breathing overcoming fatigue and staying mindful of the course ahead he finds himself as preoccupied with the future of our planet as with the finish line A veteran journalist and environmental editor Ayres reveals how the skills and mindset necessary to complete an ultramarathon are also essential for grappling anew with the imperative to endure not only as individuals but as a society and not just for fifty miles but over the real long haul in a unique meditation that ought to be required reading even for people who have never run a step The Boston Globe He seamlessly moves between discussing running to exploring larger life issues such as why we run our impact on the environment and the effects of the nation's declining physical fitness Thought provoking Booklist To read this book is to run alongside a seasoned athlete a deep thinker and a great storyteller And Ayres doesn't disappoint He is the best kind of running companion generously doling out hilarious stories and hard won insights into performance conditioning and the human condition His lifetime of ultra running and environmental writing drive his exploration of what keeps us running long distances and what it might take to keep the planet from being run into the ground Nature Conservancy magazine
