Gills, Kevin Gray, 2013-10-31 A quarter of a century has now passed since the historic popular uprising that led to the overthrow of the Ferdinand Marcos dictatorship in the Philippines The mass movement known as the People Power Revolution was not only pivotal to the democratic transition within the Philippines but it also became an inspiration for subsequent mass movements leading to further democratic transitions throughout the Third World and in the former Communist bloc in Eastern Europe and the Soviet Union However the neoliberal economic policies subsequently pursued by newly democratic governments throughout the Third World led all but the most celebratory observers to note the constrained and limited nature of these formal political transitions This volume poses the question of the extent to which people power has been able to play an active role resisting neoliberalism and deepen substantive democracy and social justice Through a series of case studies of the regions and individual countries of Asia Africa Latin America and Eastern Europe the contributions in the volume provide a new set of original and in depth critical assessments of the nature of the longer term impact of the democratic transitions commencing in the 1980s and continuing until the present and questioning their impact and potential influence on human dignity freedom justice and self determination and thus opening new avenues of enquiry into the future of democracy This book was originally published as a special issue of Third World Quarterly
