Reading Postcolonial Literature Hayley G. Toth, 2025-03-10 An Open Access edition is available thanks to the kind sponsorship of the libraries participating in the Jisc Open Access Community Framework OpenUP initiative Debates about reading in postcolonial studies rarely discuss non professional readers except to secure the authority of professional reading practices In Reading Postcolonial Literature Hayley G Toth places non professional reading practices in dialogue with received academic wisdom to debunk common sense assumptions about non professional readers as Western or neocolonial consumers Drawing on reading practices recorded in academic books journal articles and on online book reviewing platforms like Amazon and Goodreads Toth draws attention to important continuities between professional and non professional practices of reading postcolonial literature At the same time she highlights that non professionals often have little desire to emulate the practices of professional postcolonial critics Precisely by not adopting the established protocols and methods of postcolonial studies non professional readers call attention to the limits of dominant approaches to reading in the discipline Across four chapters Toth examines the relationship between reading and identity during the Rushdie affair the difference between reading and address the challenges posed by difficult texts and the legitimacy of non understanding and the reception of popular texts primarily read by non professional audiences Reading Postcolonial Literature demonstrates that reception matters in any claims we make about the value of reading postcolonial literature and offers new ways forward for the practice study and teaching of reading in the discipline

Fellion, Katherine Inglis, 2017-09-05 When Henry Vizetelly was imprisoned in 1889 for publishing the novels of Émile Zola in English the problem was not just Zola's French candour about sex it was that Vizetelly's books were cheap and ordinary people could read them Censored exposes the role that power plays in censorship In twenty five chapters focusing on a wide range of texts including the Bible slave narratives modernist classics comic books and Chicana/o literature Matthew Fellion and Katherine Inglis chart the forces that have driven censorship in the United Kingdom and the United States for over six hundred years from fears of civil unrest and corruptible youth to the oppression of various groups religious and political dissidents same sex lovers the working class immigrants women racialized people and those who have been incarcerated or enslaved The authors also consider the weight of speech and when restraints might be justified Rich with illustrations that bring to life the personalities and the books that feature in its stories Censored takes readers behind the scenes into the courtroom battles legislative debates public campaigns and private exchanges that have shaped the course of literature A vital reminder that the freedom of speech has always been fragile and never enjoyed equally by all Censored offers lessons from the past to guard against threats to literature in a new political era Salman Rushdie Mittapalli Rajeshwar, Joel Kuortti, 2003 Rushdie Has Put Behind Him The Political And Religious Controversy That Surrounded Him In The Aftermath Of The Appearance Of The Satanic Verses These Two Volumes Endeavour To Continue The Literary Critical Study Of His Works By Bringing Together Some Of The Best Critical Essays Written In The Post Verses Controversy Period The Essays Present An Honest Assessment Of Rushdie's Works By Creatively Engaging With The Issues Each Of Them Raises Essays on Culture, Religion and Rights Peter Jones, 2020-10-09 Culture and religion are overlapping phenomena cultures are normally understood to subsume religions and religions are very often central to cultures The two are particularly closely associated when we focus on the kinds of difference that generate issues for public policy The world has always been culturally and religiously diverse but recent movements of population have intensified the internal diversity of societies That increased diversity has presented societies with a number of pressing questions How much should cultural differences matter Can they and should they be treated impartially Should they receive equal recognition and what sort of recognition might that be Are cultural and religious differences at odds with human rights thinking or do universal human rights demand respect for those differences When the demands of a religious faith clash with those of a society's rules which should take precedence Should the religious have to endure whatever burdens their beliefs bring their way or should they be accommodated so that their religious faith does not become a source of social disadvantage Should they have to put up with unwelcome treatments of their beliefs or should they be protected from the offensive and the disrespectful These are some of the many issues examined in Culture Religion and Rights Islamic Myths and Memories Itzhak Weismann, Mark Sedgwick, Ulrika Mårtensson, 2016-05-06 Islamic myths and collective memory are very much alive in today's localized struggles for identity and are deployed in the ongoing construction of worldwide cultural networks This book brings the theoretical perspectives of myth making and collective memory to the study of Islam and globalization and to the study of the place of the mass media in the contemporary Islamic resurgence It explores the annulment of spatial and temporal distance by globalization and by the communications revolution underlying it and how this has affected the cherished myths and memories of the Muslim community It shows how contemporary Islamic thinkers and movements respond to the challenges of globalization by preserving reviving reshaping or transforming myths and memories

MIDNIGHT WARRIOR ELLIK THE LIGHTNING HORROR CARNIVORA THE WINGED SCAVENGER Breaking Enmities P. Grant, 2016-07-27 This book discusses relationships among religion literature and ethnicity in Northern Ireland since 1967 The introduction provides a theoretical account of how literature engages sectarian prejudices allowing these to be played out in ways that can help to dissolve or mitigate the alienating effects of traditional enmities Subsequent chapters deal with identity endogamy education gender and imprisonment Each chapter combines an analysis of specific cultural issues with a critical assessment of relevant works by key authors A conclusion offers an assessment of relationships between Northern Ireland and other modern societies facing analogous problems in a post modern world marked by rapid globalisation

Profane Christopher S. Grenda, Chris Beneke, David Nash, 2014-08-15 Humans have been uttering profane words and incurring the consequences for millennia But contemporary events from the violence in 2006 that followed Danish newspaper cartoons depicting the Prophet Mohammed to the 2012 furor over the Innocence of Muslims video indicate that controversy concerning blasphemy has reemerged in explosive transnational form In an age when electronic media transmit offense as rapidly as profane images and texts can be produced blasphemy is bracingly relevant again In this volume a distinguished cast of international scholars examines the profound difficulties blasphemy raises for modern societies Contributors examine how the sacred is formed and maintained how sacrilegious expression is conceived and regulated and how the resulting conflicts resist easy adjudication Their studies range across art history politics law literature and theology Because of the global nature of the problem the volume s approach is comparative examining blasphemy across cultural and geopolitical boundaries Middle East Contemporary Survey, Volume Xiv: 1990 Ami Ayalon, 2021-11-28 This annual record of political developments in the Middle East is designed as a continuing up to date reference for scholars researchers and analysts policy makers students and journalists It examines in detail the rapidly changing Middle Eastern scene in all its complexity This volume covers the eruption of the Gulf crisis and the war that had dramatic effects on all the countries of the Middle East A Reader's Companion to the Short Story in English Erin Fallon, R.C. Autobiographical Writing Christina Schönberger-Stepien, 2023-03-31 This book explores 21st century uses of the second and third person perspective in Anglophone autobiographical narratives by canonical male writers Through detailed readings of contemporary autobiographical works by Paul Auster Julian Barnes J M Coetzee and Salman Rushdie the study demonstrates the multiple aesthetic rhetorical and un ethical implications of the choice of narrative perspective as well as the uncommon step of articulating the self from a perspective which is not I Drawing on rhetorical narratology and autobiography theory the book engages with questions and tensions of subjectivity and relationality the interplay of distance and proximity resulting from the narrative perspective and its effects on the relationship between autobiographer text and reader In addition the book traces relevant guiding principles that the authors use to navigate their self narratives in relation to others such as questions of embodiment visuality grief ethics and politics Situating the narratives in their socio political and cultural context the book uncovers to what extent these autobiographical narratives reflect the authors position between self withdrawal and self promotion as well as their response to questions of male agency self stylisation and celebrity status Eating and Identity in Postcolonial Fiction Paul Vlitos,2018-10-11 This book focuses on the fiction of four postcolonial authors V S Naipaul Anita Desai Timothy Mo and Salman Rushdie It argues that meals in their novels act as sites where the relationships between the individual subject and the social identities of race class and gender are enacted Drawing upon a variety of academic fields and disciplines including postcolonial theory historical research food studies and recent attempts to rethink the concept of world literature it dedicates a chapter to each author tracing the literary cultural and historical contexts in which their texts are located and exploring the ways in which food and the act of eating acquire meanings and how those meanings might clash collide and be disputed Not only does this book offer suggestive new readings of the work of its four key authors but it challenges the reader to consider the significance of food in postcolonial fiction more generally

Postmodern Literature and Race Len Platt,Sara Upstone,2015-02-19 Postmodernism and Race explores the question of how dramatic shifts in conceptions of race in the late twentieth and early twenty first centuries have been addressed by writers at the cutting edge of equally dramatic transformations of literary form An opening section engages with the broad question of how the geographical and political positioning of experimental writing informs its contribution to racial discourses while later segments focus on central critical domains within this field race and performativity race and the contemporary nation and postracial futures With essays on a wide range of contemporary writers including Bernadine Evaristo Alasdair Gray Jhumpa Lahiri Andrea Levy and Don DeLillo this volume makes an important contribution to our understanding of the politics and aesthetics of contemporary writing Religious Offence and Human Rights Lorenz Langer,2014-07-10 Should international law be concerned with offence to religions and their followers Even before the 2005 publication of the Danish Mohammed cartoons Muslim States have endeavoured to establish some reputational protection for religions on the international level by pushing for recognition of the novel concept of defamation of religions This study recounts these efforts as well as the opposition they aroused particularly by proponents of free speech It also addresses the more fundamental issue of how religion and international law may relate to each other Historically enforcing divine commands has been the primary task of legal systems and it still is in numerous municipal jurisdictions By analysing religious restrictions of blasphemy and sacrilege as well as international and national norms on free speech and freedom of religion Lorenz Langer argues that on the international level at least religion does not provide a suitable rationale for legal norms
