Charles Fletcher Lummis

Man On Two Ponies:

Missouri Way Fred Jones, 2009-05-21 There is no available information at this time The Trailsman #291 Jon Sharpe, 2006-01-03 Fargo goes on the hunt for mad killer Skye Fargo knows that in the wild death is everywhere Indians wild animals and bushwhackers can all end a man's life in a heartbeat But Jess Van Cleef is a killer like no other He's blazed a twisted trail of butchery all along the Oregon Trail from Missouri to Wyoming killing ravaging and mutilating at will And he's never going to stop the slaughter because he likes it But now the Trailsman is coming for him and he's going to make the demented Van Cleef pay for all the blood he's spilled drop by crimson drop Live Stock Journal , 1901 The New England Farmer , 1861 Fast Shuffle David Black, 2015-07-07 Harry always looks on the bright side of things until the day he stumbles into a situation that leads to darkness danger and death Now Harry doesn't know if he's tracking a killer or if the killer is tracking him and his assistant Friday the only woman he has ever loved Turning to the authorities only makes things worse With Harry and Friday on the run hunted by the police the killer and even Harry's friends and relatives the chances for survival look grim The White Man's Trail Robert Leighton, 1922 Ladies' Home Companion , 1908 The Studio , 1913 Societies and Ceremonial Associations in the Oglala Division of the Teton-Dakota Clark Wissler, 1916 The Golden Frontier Herman Francis Reinhart, 2014-08-27 The gold rush was Herman Francis Reinhart's life for almost twenty years From the summer of 1851 when as a boy in his late teens he traveled the Oregon trail to California until a January day in 1869 when he climbed aboard an eastbound train at Evanston Wyoming he was a part of every gold discovery that stirred the West Reinhart dipped his pan in the streams of northern California and western Oregon in Humbug Creek Indian Creek Rogue River and Sucker Creek He made the arduous and dangerous overland journey through Indian occupied western Washington and British Columbia to find the Fraser River gold even more elusive than that farther south With his teams and wagons he traversed all of the inland mine areas from Walla Walla to Fort Benton from Boise Basin to South Pass City Reinhart's German common sense soon turned him from actual mining to other sources of income but whatever his labor was the mines were always the focal point of his activities When he operated a bakery and saloon it was a business whose customers were miners whose transactions were more likely to involve gold dust than legal tender and whose gambling tables saw the exchange of mining fortunes When he operated a whipsaw mill the timbers cut there were used by miners for sluices and cradles For a while Reinhart farmed but planting and harvesting suffered from interruption by frequent expeditions to the mines And when he prospered as a teamster it was to and from the mining towns that he hauled passengers supplies and equipment The men who like Herman Francis Reinhart hopefully followed the golden frontier were not an articulate group and the written records of their lives are few and fragmentary But Reinhart in his later years recorded his experiences in five long narrow hardback ledgers Many years after he died his daughter gave the ledgers to a friend in Chanute Kansas Nora Cunningham who read the narrative became fascinated by it and typed it for publication

Reinhart's account written in a grammar and language all his own is not a record of the historian's West but of the West of the individual miner. The pages are filled with the details of day to day life of the miners, the subjects that interested them, the problems that plagued them, their fun and feuding, their frustrations and hopes. Edited by an authority of the history of the West, it is a book that will offer exciting reading to casual readers and scholars alike.
