Motivational Perspectives on Chronic Pain is one of the first volumes to present a cohesive account of the adaptation to chronic pain from a motivational perspective Contributing authors from diverse areas of pain research offer comprehensive summaries of the concepts findings and applied methodologies that converge on the role of goals and goal related cognitive processes self regulatory support mechanisms contextual forces and emotionality as they influence and are influenced by the experience of chronic pain This volume provides readers with an up to date compendium of cutting edge research and interventions that collectively illustrate the utility of viewing chronic pain neither as a disease nor an imposed lifestyle but as the emergent and potentially flexible product of a complex transactional system that is bounded by both sociocultural factors and by biogenetic and neural moderating forces Within its pages chapters capture the vibrancy of current theory research and practice while pointing toward unexplored new directions Among the important topics addressed by this distinguished group of authors include the nature and relevance of control systems the role of neural mechanisms on pain processing the influence positive and negative emotion regulation play on pain management the impact of learning and conditioning and the often neglected influence of interpersonal processes on adjustment to chronic pain Emotions and Reasons Patricia S. Greenspan,2014-02-25

In Emotions and Reasons Patricia Greenspan offers an evaluative theory of emotion that assigns emotion a role of its own in the justification of action She analyzes emotions as states of object directed affect with evaluative propositional content possibly falling short of belief and held in mind by generalized comfort or discomfort Social and Emotional Aspects of Learning Sanna Jarvela,2011-02-17

Social and emotional aspects of schooling and the learning environment can dramatically affect one's attention, understanding, and memory for learning. This topic has been of increasing interest in both psychology and education, leading to an entire section being devoted to it in the third edition of the International Encyclopedia of Education. Thirty-three articles from the Encyclopedia form this concise reference, which focuses on such topics as social and emotional development, anxiety in schools, effects of mood on motivation, peer learning and friendship, and social networks. Saves researchers time in summarizing in one place what is otherwise an interdisciplinary field in cognitive psychology, personality, sociology, and education. Level of presentation focuses on critical research, leaving out the extraneous and focusing on need-to-know information. Contains contributions from top international researchers in the field. Makes MRW content affordable to individual researchers.

Motivation in Online Education Maggie Hartnett, 2016-03-08 This work explores and explicates learner motivation in online learning environments. More specifically, it uses a case study approach to examine undergraduate students' motivation within two formal and separate online learning contexts. In doing so, it recognizes the mutually constitutive relationship of the learner and the learning environment in relation to motivation. This is distinctive from other approaches that tend to focus on designing and creating motivating environments or alternatively concentrate on motivation as a stable learner characteristic. In particular, this book identifies a range of factors that can support or undermine learner motivation and discusses each in detail. By unraveling the complexity of learner motivation in such environments, it provides useful guidelines for teachers, instructional designers, and academic advisors tasked with building and teaching within online educational contexts.

Handbook of Motivation at School Kathryn R. Wentzel, David B. Miele, 2009-09-10 The Handbook of Motivation at School presents the first comprehensive and integrated compilation of theory and research on children's motivation at school. It covers the major theoretical perspectives in the field as well as their application to instruction, learning, and social adjustment at school.

Key Features: Comprehensive: no other book provides such a comprehensive overview of theory and research on children's motivation at school. Theoretical/Applied: the book provides a review of current motivation theories by the developers of those theories as well as attention to the application of motivation theory and research in classrooms and schools. Chapter Structure: chapters within each section follow a similar structure so that there is uniformity across chapters. Commentaries: each section ends with a commentary that provides clear directions for future research.
