Oh What A Blow That Phantom Gave Me:

Oh, what a Blow that Phantom Gave Me! Edmund Carpenter, 1973 Provides a collection of links to Internet resources on terrorism Oh, what a Blow that Phantom Gave Me! Edmund Carpenter, 1976 Oh, what a Blow that Phantom Gave Me! Edward Carpenter, 1974 The Mirror and the Mind Katja Guenther, 2024-11-26 How the classic mirror test served as a portal for scientists to explore questions of self awareness Since the late eighteenth century scientists have placed subjects humans infants animals and robots in front of mirrors in order to look for signs of self recognition Mirrors served as the possible means for answering the question What makes us human In The Mirror and the Mind Katja Guenther traces the history of the mirror self recognition test exploring how researchers from a range of disciplines psychoanalysis psychiatry developmental and animal psychology cybernetics anthropology and neuroscience came to read the peculiar behaviors elicited by mirrors Investigating the ways mirrors could lead to both identification and misidentification Guenther looks at how such experiments ultimately failed to determine human specificity The mirror test was thrust into the limelight when Charles Darwin challenged the idea that language sets humans apart Thereafter the mirror previously a recurrent if marginal scientific tool became dominant in attempts to demarcate humans from other animals But because researchers could not rely on language to determine what their nonspeaking subjects were experiencing they had to come up with significant innovations including notation strategies testing protocols and the linking of scientific theories across disciplines From the robotic tortoises of Grey Walter and the mark test of Beulah Amsterdam and Gordon Gallup to anorexia research and mirror neurons the mirror test offers a window into the emergence of such fields as biology psychology psychiatry animal studies cognitive science and neuroscience The Mirror and the Mind offers an intriguing history of experiments in self awareness and the advancements of the human sciences across more than a century Breaking Up (at) Totality Debra Diane Davis, 2000 Rhetoric and composition theory has shown a renewed interest in sophistic countertraditions as seen in the work of such postphilosophers as Jacques Derrida Michel Foucault and Hélène Cixous and of such rhetoricians as Susan Jarratt and Steven Mailloux As Diane Davis traces today's theoretical interest to those countertraditions she also sets her sights beyond them Davis takes a third sophistic approach one that focuses on the play of language that perpetually disrupts the either/or binary construction of dialectic She concentrates on the nonsequential third excess that overflows language's dichotomies In this work laughter operates as a trope for disruption or breaking up which is from Davis's perspective a joyfully destructive shattering of our confining conceptual frameworks The SAGE Handbook of Tourism Studies Tazim Jamal, Mike Robinson, 2009-07-01 The strongest overview I have encountered of the scope and the current state of research across all the fields involved in advancing our understanding of tourism For its range of topics depth of analyses and distinction of its contributors nothing is comparable Professor Dean MacCannell University of California Davis The breadth of vision and sweep of accounts is remarkable and range of topics laudable a rare combination of the authoritative

the challenging and stimulating Professor Mike Crang Durham University Tourism studies developed as a sub branch of older disciplines in the social sciences such as anthropology sociology and economics and newer applied fields of study in hospitality management civil rights and transport studies This Handbook is a sign of the maturity of the field It provides an essential resource for teachers and students to determine the roots key issues and agenda of tourism studies exploring The evolution and position of tourism studies The relationship of tourism to culture The ecology and economics of tourism Special events and destination management Methodologies of study Tourism and transport Tourism and heritage Tourism and postcolonialism Global tourist business operations Ranging from local to global issues and from questions of management to the ethical dilemmas of tourism this is a comprehensive critically informed constructively organized overview of the field It draws together an inter disciplinary group of contributors who are among the most celebrated names in the field and will be quickly recognized as a landmark in the new and expanding field of tourism studies

Framing French Culture Natalie Edwards, Ben McCann, 2015 Throughout this book the concept of framing is used to look at art photography scientific drawings and cinema as visually constituted spatially bounded productions The way these genres relate to that which exists beyond the frame by means of plastic chemically transposed pencil sketched or moving images allows us to decipher the particular language of the visual and at the same time circumscribe the dialectic between presence and absence that is proper to all visual media Yet these kinds of re framing owe their existence to the ruptures and upheavals that marked the demise of certain discursive systems in the past announcing the emergence of others that were in turn overturned

The Explorations of Edmund Snow Carpenter Richard Cavell, 2024-10-15 Edmund Snow Carpenter 1922-2011 shaped by an early encounter with Marshall McLuhan was a renegade anthropologist who would plumb the connection between anthropology and media studies over a thoroughly unconventional career As co conspirators in the founding of the legendary journal Explorations 1953-59 Carpenter and McLuhan established the groundwork for media studies After ten years teaching anthropology at the University of Toronto hosting radio and television shows on the CBC and doing major research in the Arctic Carpenter left Toronto and became an itinerant anthropologist He took up a position in Papua New Guinea where he countered anthropological practice by handing his camera to the Papuans Carpenter's marriage to the artist and heiress Adelaide de Menil made him a truly independent scholar With the support of the Rock Foundation founded by de Menil he collected ethnographical art curated exhibitions and edited the materials for a twelve volume study of social symbolism based on the massive archives created by Carl Schuster Richard Cavell shows Carpenter austere generous and unpredictable to also be unwavering in working throughout his career within the framework established by Explorations The anthropological impetus for media studies has largely been forgotten This study restores that memory tracing Carpenter's work in media and in anthropology over a lifetime of cultural achievements and intellectual convolutions
