

Essay on Old Age Home

Old age homes are facilities that provide care and support for elderly individuals who are unable to live independently. These homes offer a safe and comfortable environment for seniors to live in, with trained staff members to assist them with their daily needs.

While some may view old age homes as a negative concept, they can actually be a beneficial option for seniors who do not have family members to care for them or who require specialized medical attention. Old age homes provide a sense of community and companionship for the residents, as well as access to healthcare services and recreational activities.

It is important to ensure that old age homes are well-managed and provide quality care for their residents. By supporting and funding these facilities, we can help ensure that our elderly population receives the care and respect they deserve in their later years.

Old Age And Other Essays:

Old Age and Other Essays Norberto Bobbio, 2017-06-06 This book by one of Italy's oldest and wisest intellectuals is a philosophical and personal meditation on ageing. The question of old age has preoccupied writers from Cicero to Amery but in this volume Norberto Bobbio produces an account that is specific to our times. Born in 1909 Bobbio has lived through the major events of the past century and his experiences of Fascism, Communism and the Cold War lend his reflections a melancholy that distinguishes them from earlier eulogies on old age and death. Bobbio's conclusions are often sobering yet his investigation into memory and mortality is written with both humour and emotion. In the opening chapter Bobbio reassesses the notion of progress from the perspective of an old man. Arguing for an understanding of historical change as the transfer between generations Bobbio explains how the elderly are increasingly marginalized in contemporary society. Referring to the traditional idea of old age as the age of wisdom Bobbio argues that our ever accelerating technological progress has dramatically shifted the power of knowledge from old to young. This discussion of old age as a social problem is accompanied by a reflection on old age as a personal predicament. In his elegant and lucid prose Bobbio confronts the facts of decrepitude and death. In taking stock of his life he argues once again for the importance of democracy and human rights. This is a beautifully written book that will be of great interest to the academic and general reader alike. Its intellectual content renders it of particular value to students in the fields of philosophy, politics and the social sciences. Literary

Education and Other Essays Joseph Epstein, 2014-06-01 Who invented the personal essay? That is hard to say. The ancient Roman philosopher and cynical power broker Seneca. The 16th century French philosopher Montaigne certainly brought it to a peak of perfection. There were many 19th century masters not so many after that. Who is the greatest living essayist writing in English? That requires no debate at all. It is unquestionably Joseph Epstein. He is not only the best living essayist; he is right up there in the company of Seneca and Montaigne but one of our own living in our era and dealing with our pleasures and travails. Epstein is penetrating. He is witty. He has a magic touch with words that hard to define but immediately recognizable quality called style. Above all he is impossible to put down. Epstein reads omnivorously and brings us the best of what he reads. Passages that we would never have found on our own. How easy it is today in the digital age, drowning in emails and other ephemera to forget the simple delight of reading for no intended purpose. Like any master essayist, however, this one brings us more than the shared experience of a lifetime of reading. He brings us himself: alternately scolding and charming, sparkling and deep, buoyant and sad, zany and wise, rebellious and conservative, bookworm and sports fan, clever and everyman, debunker and preservationist, deep into high culture, deep into low culture, curious, fresh and settled in his ways. This is the friend we all wish we could have: the ideal humane companion who is completely comfortable in his own human skin. Like Plutarch he gives us life teaching by example but with a wry smile and such a sure hand that we hardly notice the instruction. It is pure pleasure.
