A Historical Archaeology of Delaware Lu Ann De Cunzo, 2004 By analyzing what she describes as richly detailed archaeological site biographies De Cunzo reconstructs how Delaware's farming people actively created their identities and shaped their interactions at home at work at church and in the marketplace as they began to confront industrial capitalism Informed by a contextual interpretive perspective this valuable work reveals the complex interrelationships among environment technology economy social order and cultural praxis that defined the cultures of agriculture in Delaware during the last three centuries Jacket Cold War Dixie Kari Frederickson, 2013-06-01 Focusing on the impact of the Savannah River Plant SRP on the communities it created rejuvenated or displaced this book explores the parallel militarization and modernization of the Cold War era South The SRP a scientific and industrial complex near Aiken South Carolina grew out of a 1950 partnership between the Atomic Energy Commission and the DuPont Corporation and was dedicated to producing materials for the hydrogen bomb Kari Frederickson shows how the needs of the expanding national security state in combination with the corporate culture of DuPont transformed the economy landscape social relations and politics of this corner of the South In 1950 the area comprising the SRP and its surrounding communities was primarily poor uneducated rural and staunchly Democratic by the mid 1960s it boasted the most PhDs per capita in the state and had become increasingly middle class suburban and Republican The SRP's story is notably dramatic however Frederickson argues it is far from unique The influx of new money new workers and new business practices stemming from Cold War era federal initiatives helped drive the emergence of the Sunbelt These factors also shaped local race relations In the case of the SRP DuPont's deeply conservative ethos blunted opportunities for social change but it also helped contain the radical white backlash that was so prominent in places like the Mississippi Delta that received less Cold War investment The One R. J. Smith, 2012-11-06 A tribute to the life and achievements of the Godfather of Soul covers his unconventional youth in a segregated South his complicated family life and his work as a civil rights advocate and entrepreneur The Unexpected Exodus Louise Cassels, 2007 In late 1950 amid escalating cold war tensions the U S Atomic Energy Commission announced plans to construct facilities to produce plutonium and tritium for use in hydrogen bombs One such facility the Savannah River

Plant was built at a cost of 1.3 billion at a site that encompassed more than 315 square miles in South Carolina's Barnwell, Allendale and Aiken counties. Some fifteen hundred families residing in small communities within the new plant's borders were forced to leave their homes. The largest of the affected towns was Ellenton in Aiken County with a population of 760 residents. Detailing the period of evacuation and resettlement from 1950 to 1952, The Unexpected Exodus recalls in words and pictures the dramatic personal consequences of the cold war on the American South through the narrative of one uprooted family. Louise Cassels touches on such enduring historical themes as southerners' sense of place and antipathy toward the federal government as she struggles to maintain equilibrium through life-changing circumstances. Throughout the text, her extreme pride and patriotism are set against profound feelings of bitterness and loss.

The Archaeology of Medieval Villages Currently Inhabited in Europe Jesús Fernández Fernández, Margarita Fernández Mier, 2019-08-29 Archaeological interventions in European rural settlements have largely focussed on villages abandoned during the last millennium. This book details excavations of inhabited sites in the UK, the Netherlands, France, Scandinavia, and Spain.

Assessing Site Significance Donald L. Hardesty, Barbara J. Little, 2009-03-16 Assessing Site Significance is an invaluable resource for archaeologists and others who need guidance in determining whether sites are eligible for listing in the National Register of Historic Places (NRHP). Because the register's eligibility criteria were largely developed for standing sites, it is difficult to know in any particular case whether a site known primarily through archaeological work has sufficient historical significance to be listed. Hardesty and Little address these challenges, describing how to file for NRHP eligibility and how to determine the historical significance of archaeological properties. This second edition brings everything up to date and includes new material on 17th and 18th century sites, traditional cultural properties, shipwrecks, Japanese internment camps, and military properties.

Foucault and Family Relations Malcolm Voyce,2019-05-14 Foucault and Family Relations Governing from a Distance in Australia analyzes how notions of property ownership were instrumental in maintaining family stability and continuity in rural Australia outlining how inheritance and divorce laws functioned to govern the internal relationships of families to assist the state to rule from a distance Using a selection of Foucault s ideas on the family sexuality race space and economics this books shows how property operated as a disciplinary device which was underpinned by technical ideas such as surveying and cartography This book uses legal judgments as a form of ethnography to show how property as a socio technical device allowed a degree of local freedom for owners This aspect of property allowed the state to stimulate ideas of local freedom to assist in ruling from a distance demonstrating how the rural family as a domestic unit became a key field of intervention for the state as the family represented a bridge to larger relationships of power
