Sailor Said:

The Sailor's Magazine ,1867 The Sailor's Magazine, and Naval Journal ,1829 California Edan Lepucki,2014-07-08 The world Cal and Frida have always known is gone and they've left the crumbling city of Los Angeles far behind them. They now live in a shack in the wilderness working side by side to make their days tolerable in the face of hardship and isolation. Mourning a past they can't reclaim, they seek solace in each other. But the tentative existence they've built for themselves is thrown into doubt when Frida finds out she's pregnant. Terrified of the unknown and unsure of their ability to raise a child alone, Cal and Frida set out for the nearest settlement, a guarded and paranoid community with dark secrets. These people can offer them security, but Cal and Frida soon realize this community poses dangers of its own. In this unfamiliar world where everything and everyone can be perceived as a threat, the couple must quickly decide whom to trust. A gripping and provocative debut novel by a stunning new talent, California imagines a frighteningly realistic near future in which clashes between mankind's dark nature and deep-seated resilience force us to question how far we will go to protect the ones we love. In her arresting debut novel, Edan Lepucki conjures a lush, intricate, deeply disturbing vision of the future, then masterfully exploits its dramatic possibilities. Guess Who's Coming to Kill You Ellery Queen,2015-08-11 An American spy heads to Tokyo to meet a Soviet defector, but things go very wrong in this tale of espionage, mystery, and murder. Fred Wilkinson waits in a Tokyo alley, wishing he were James Bond. Paunchy in his 50s and oh so tired, Wilkinson has nothing in common with that world-famous man of mystery except that they are both spies. He's already near the end of his career when he goes to Japan to meet with the Soviet defector Krylov and some of his colleagues back in Washington think he's getting soft. They're right. Wilkinson never sees the killer coming. Three quick jabs to the kidneys and the American spy is done for good. There to pick up the pieces is Peter Brook, a rising star in American intelligence. Brook doesn't give a damn how his martinis are prepared but he's an expert at the fine art of staying alive. It's up to him to bring in the defector unless the defector comes after him. Keeper of the Moon Harley Jane Kozak, 2013-03-01 In their new Keeper roles these extraordinary women must balance the fate of the world with their desires. Lust. Elven Keeper Sailor Gryffald's body quivers with it but is it a symptom of the deadly Scarlet Pathogen coursing through her bloodstream or the proximity of shifter Keeper Declan Wainwright Sailor and Declan have had an uneasy relationship ever since they met and now things are about to get a lot more complicated. A killer is stalking Los Angeles intentionally infecting Elven with the deadly virus and now Sailor and Declan must work to keep the supernatural peace while bringing the murderer to justice. But in doing so these powerful denizens of the Otherworld find themselves straddling a fine line between lust and love. The Rooster Trapped in the Reptile Room Barry Gifford, 2011-01-04 Everything I have to say about race and religion and politics is in the novels declares Barry Gifford. The Rooster Trapped in the Reptile Room gathers generous portions of all thirteen novels and novellas as well as first person essays, generous helpings of poetry, journalism and a new interview with the author. The broad contours of an episodic output emerge, a full length view of the freaks and freakish incidents that populate Gifford's unique human comedy. A world as Lula, the author's favorite of all his characters, reflects wild at heart and weird on top. The Rooster Trapped in the Reptile Room provides essential reading for anyone after the soul of American writing. The Pilot, or Sailors' magazine. [Continued as] The Chart and compass British and foreign sailors' society, 1881 Keep Your Heads Down Walter Saul Bernstein, 2016-07-26 A young American soldier blessed with the sure touch of the born journalist and a deep personal understanding of what it means to be an active participant in this war tells here the story of his three eventful years in camp and in combat. Beginning at Fort Benning, Georgia, on a fine afternoon in 1941 with the war three thousand miles away and ending in Marshal Tito's headquarters in Yugoslavia in 1944, Sergeant Bernstein's war adventures have taken him to many fronts in many countries. While he was still in the United States he served with the famous 8th Infantry of the 4th Infantry Division, watched the paratroopers train, did publicity for This Is the Army. Then came two months on a freighter as guest of the U.S. Army. He was with a regimental intelligence detachment in Italy and did reconnaissance work in Sicily. Once he was lost from his regiment and wandered about alone seeking his outfit through the terribly dangerous battle area. He marched into Yugoslavia with fifty Partisans to Marshal Tito's headquarters. They climbed tortuous mountain trails and crossed through German occupied territory for seven days. Bernstein was the first correspondent to interview Tito. These experiences are exciting in themselves and Bernstein is a skilled and sensitive reporter who presents his story in an enviably simple and graphic manner without heroics or sentimentality. He is not just a correspondent writing about the men who are fighting for us. He is himself one of them. The Complete Works of G. A.
