Saint Catherine's Monastery, Sinai, Egypt Helen C. Evans, 2004      Saint Catherine's Monastery, Sinai, Egypt Helen C. Evans, Bruce M. White, 2004-01-01      God in Early Christian Thought Andrew McGowan, Brian Daley, Timothy Gaden, 2009-05-31 While the diversity of early Christian thought and practice is now generally assumed and the experiences and beliefs of Christians beyond the works of great theologians increasingly valued the question of God is perennial and fundamental These essays individually modest in scope seek to address that largest of questions using particular issues and problems or single thinkers and distinct texts They include studies of doctrine and theology as traditionally conceived but also of understandings of God among the early Christians that emerge from study of liturgy art and asceticism and in relation to the social order and to nature itself      Writing the Icon of the Heart Maggie Ross, 2013-02-13 The subtitle of Maggie Ross's new book captures its essence for it is about silence and our need to behold God Beholding is a notion that we are in danger of losing It is often lost in translation even by the NRSV and the Jerusalem Bible Beholding needs to be recovered both in theology and practice Ross is very aware of poor talkative Christianity There is a twofold plea to enter into silence for lack of silence erodes our humanity and to behold the radiance of God This is a book full of deep questioning and the testing of our assumptions Throughout there is a great love for the world and for our humanity accompanied by sadness that we are so easily distracted We are invited into a silence that is not necessarily an absence of noise but is a limitless interior space Ancient texts are used in new and exciting ways and many of our worship practices are challenged She is in no doubt that the glory of the human being is the beholding of God adapted from a review in The Church Times London by Canon David Adam      Wonderful Things: Byzantium through its Art Liz James, Antony Eastmond, 2016-12-05 The essays collected in this book were delivered at the XLII Spring Symposium of Byzantine Studies held in London in 2009 to accompany the exhibition Byzantium 330 1453 at the Royal Academy The exhibition was one of the most ambitious and complex exhibitions ever mounted at the Royal Academy as well as one of the most popular and the overall aim of the book is to reflect on the exhibition of Byzantine art both as an academic and popular exercise and through the choice and discussion of individual objects Exhibitions present a very different picture of Byzantium and its culture from works of history The choices of object for display their arrangement and the underlying aims of exhibition curators and designers mean that every exhibition presents a different picture of Byzantium Particular emphases can be placed whether on everyday life or high court culture Constantinople or the provinces or claims of continuity or change over the Byzantine millennium The essays explore aspects of the image of Byzantium that results from these choices Given the enormous popularity of exhibitions of Byzantine objects continued after the completion of this volume by exhibitions in Paris Bonn and Istanbul art has become one of the most popular and accessible means of popularizing Byzantium to a wide public audience Hitherto there has been no general consideration of either the historiography of Byzantine exhibitions or the ways in which they have been set up to present different aspects of Byzantine culture to an academic and general public The essays are divided into 3 sections Exhibiting Byzantium sets the 2009 exhibition into the context of other exhibitions of Byzantine art and considers the issues involved in curating and viewing such major collections of medieval art Object Lessons offers a set of studies of individual objects that were in the exhibition Byzantium through its Art moves to consider Byzantine art more widely thinking about the different ways in which objects can be used to study Byzantine culture and society These are preceded by an introduction by the editors which sets the volume in context

Throughout the long history of Western culture how have people represented mountains as landscapes of the imagination and as places of real experience In what ways has human understanding of mountains changed or stayed the same Mountain Dialogues from Antiquity to Modernity opens up a new conversation between ancient and modern engagements with mountains It highlights the ongoing relevance of ancient understandings of mountain environments to the postclassical and present day world while also suggesting ways in which modern approaches to landscape can generate new questions about premodern responses It brings together experts from across many different disciplines and periods offering case studies on topics ranging from classical Greek drama to Renaissance art and from early modern natural philosophy to nineteenth century travel writing Throughout essays engage with key themes of temporality knowledge identity and experience in the mountain landscape As a whole the volume suggests that modern responses to mountains participate in rhetorical and experiential patterns that stretch right back to the ancient Mediterranean It also makes the case for collaborative cross period research as a route both for understanding human relations with the natural world in the past and informing them in the present
