Letters of Saint Augustin Saint Augustine of Hippo, Aeterna Press, I Would not presume even in playful discussion to attack the philosophers of the Academy for when could the authority of such eminent men fail to move me did I not believe their views to be widely different from those commonly ascribed to them Instead of confuting them which is beyond my power I have rather imitated them to the best of my ability For it seems to me to have been suitable enough to the times in which they flourished that whatever issued pure from the fountainhead of Platonic philosophy should be rather conducted into dark and thorny thickets for the refreshment of a very few men than left to flow in open meadow land where it would be impossible to keep it clear and pure from the inroads of the vulgar herd Aeterna Press Saint Augustin Louis Bertrand, 1914

tiresome prolixity which attaches to the remembrance of all the writers of Port Royal save Pascal has that affected too the work of Augustin enlisted in spite of himself in the ranks of these pious schismatics And yet if there have ever been any beings who do not resemble Augustin and whom probably he would have attacked with all his eloquence and all the force of his dialectic they are the Jansenists Doubtless he would have said with contempt The party of Jansen even as in his own day with his devotion to Catholic unity he said The party of Donatus
