Salt Water Power People A Short Hist:

A Short History of the American People: The development of American nationality, by C.R. Fish ,1919     A Short History of the American People ... ,1913     Corporate History and the Chemical Industries Jeffrey Louis Sturchio,1985 Three essays on the historiography of the chemical process industries on business archives and on oral history in the corporate setting provide the context for extensive annotated bibliographies in the three areas     Love Canal Richard S. Newman,2016-04-12 In the summer of 1978 residents of Love Canal a suburban development in Niagara Falls NY began protesting against the leaking toxic waste dump in their midst a sixteen acre site containing 100 000 barrels of chemical waste that anchored their neighborhood Initially seeking evacuation area activists soon found that they were engaged in a far larger battle over the meaning of America s industrial past and its environmental future The Love Canal protest movement inaugurated the era of grassroots environmentalism spawning new anti toxics laws and new models of ecological protest Historian Richard S Newman examines the Love Canal crisis through the area s broader landscape detailing the way this ever contentious region has been used altered and understood from the colonial era to the present day Newman journeys into colonial land use battles between Native Americans and European settlers 19th century utopian city planning the rise of the American chemical industry in the 20th century the transformation of environmental activism in the 1970s and the memory of environmental disasters in our own time In an era of hydrofracking and renewed concern about nuclear waste disposal Love Canal remains relevant It is only by starting at the very beginning of the site s environmental history that we can understand the road to a hazardous waste crisis in the 1970s and to the global environmental justice movement it sparked

Building the Worlds That Kill Us David Rosner,Gerald Markowitz,2024-11-05 Across American history the question of whose lives are long and healthy and whose lives are short and sick has always been shaped by the social and economic order From the dispossession of Indigenous people and the horrors of slavery to infectious diseases spreading in overcrowded tenements and the vast environmental contamination caused by industrialization and through climate change and pandemics in the twenty first century those in power have left others behind Through the lens of death and disease Building the Worlds That Kill Us provides a new way of understanding the history of the United States from the colonial era to the present David Rosner and Gerald Markowitz demonstrate that the changing rates and kinds of illnesses reflect social political and economic structures and inequalities of race class and gender These deep inequities determine the disparate health experiences of rich and poor Black and white men and women immigrant and native born boss and worker Indigenous and settler This book underscores that powerful people and institutions have always seen some lives as more valuable than others and it emphasizes how those who have been most affected by the disparities in rates of disease and death have challenged and changed these systems Ultimately this history shows that unequal outcomes are a choice and we can instead collectively make decisions that foster life and health     The Social and Cultural Construction of Risk B.B. Johnson,V.T.

Covello,2012-12-06 The Social and Cultural Construction of Risk Issues Methods and Case Studies Vincent T Covello and Branden B Johnson Risks to health safety and the environment abound in the world and people cope as best they can But before action can be taken to control reduce or eliminate these risks decisions must be made about which risks are important and which risks can safely be ignored The challenge for decision makers is that consensus on these matters is often lacking Risks believed by some individuals and groups to be tolerable or accept able such as the risks of nuclear power or industrial pollutants are intolerable and unacceptable to others This book addresses this issue by exploring how particular technological risks come to be selected for societal attention and action Each section of the volume examines from a different perspective how individuals groups communities and societies decide what is risky how risky it is and what should be done The writing of this book was inspired by another book Risk and Culture An Essay on the Selection of Technological and Environmental Dangers Published in 1982 and written by two distinguished scholars Mary Douglas a British social anthropologist and Aaron Wildavsky an American political scientist the book received wide critical attention and offered several provocative ideas on the nature of risk selection perception and acceptance

Encyclopedia of Chemical Processing and Design John J. McKetta Jr,1991-08-27 Written by engineers for engineers with over 150 International Editorial Advisory Board members this highly lauded resource provides up to the minute information on the chemical processes methods practices products and standards in the chemical and related industries

The Second Greatest Disappointment Karen Dubinsky,1999 A lively and wide ranging work on the history of the North American honeymoon and of necessity the tourist industry at Niagara Falls Dubinsky charts the growth of Niagara Falls as a tourist destination from the 1850s to the 1960s and explains how it acquired its reputation as the Honeymoon Capital of the World Ultimately the author asks Of all the ways to promote a waterfall why honeymoons Winner of the 2000 Albert B Corey prize from the Canadian Historical Association and the American Historical Association for the best book in Canadian American history

Paradise Falls Keith O'Brien,2022-04-12 The staggering story of an unlikely band of mothers in the 1970s who discovered Hooker Chemical s deadly secret of Love Canal exposing one of America s most devastating toxic waste disasters and sparking the modern environmental movement as we know it today Propulsive A mighty work of historical journalism A glorious quotidian thriller about people forced to find and use their inner strength The Boston Globe Lois Gibbs Luella Kenny and other mothers loved their neighborhood on the east side of Niagara Falls It had an elementary school a playground and rows of affordable homes But in the spring of 1977 pungent odors began to seep into these little houses and it didn t take long for worried mothers to identify the curious scent It was the sickly sweet smell of chemicals In this propulsive work of narrative storytelling NYT journalist Keith O'Brien uncovers how Gibbs and Kenny exposed the poisonous secrets buried in their neighborhood The school and playground had been built atop an old canal Love Canal it was called that Hooker Chemical the city s largest employer had quietly filled with twenty thousand tons of toxic waste in the 1940s and 1950s This waste was now leaching to the surface causing a public health crisis the likes of which America had never seen before and sparking new and specific fears Luella Kenny believed the chemicals were making her son sick O'Brien braids together previously unknown stories of Hooker Chemical's deeds the local newspaperman scientist and congressional staffer who tried to help the city and state officials who didn't and the heroic women who stood up to corporate and governmental indifference to save their families and their children They would take their fight all the way to the top winning support from the EPA the White House and even President Jimmy Carter By the time it was over they would capture America's imagination Sweeping and electrifying Paradise Falls brings to life a defining story from our past laying bare the dauntless efforts of a few women who years before Erin Brockovich took up the mantle fought to rescue their community and their lives from the effects of corporate pollution and laid foundation for the modern environmental movement as we know it today

The Fall of the Roman Republic: a Short History of the Last Century of the Commonwealth Charles Merivale (Dean of Ely.), 1853

This Borrowed Earth Robert Emmet Hernan, 2010-02-02 Chernobyl Exxon Valdez and Love Canal these names of preventable disasters haunt the world and serve as reminders of the tragedies caused by political negligence and economic greed Hernan's accounts explain how the disasters transpired and discusses the responses of governments and individuals

Beyond the Ruins Jefferson Cowie, Joseph Heathcott, 2003 The immediate impact of deindustrialization the suffering inflicted upon workers their families and their communities has been widely reported by scholars and journalists In this important volume the authors seek to move discussion of America's industrial decline beyond the immediate ramifications of plant shutdowns by placing it into a broader social political and economic context Emphasizing a historical approach the authors explore the multiple meanings of one of the major transformations of the twentieth century The concept of deindustrialization entered the popular and scholarly lexicon in 1982 with the publication of The Deindustrialization of America by Barry Bluestone and Bennett Harrison Beyond the Ruins both builds upon and departs from the insights presented in that benchmark study In this volume the authors rethink the chronology memory geography culture and politics of industrial change in America Taken together these original essays argue that deindustrialization is not a story of a single emblematic place such as Flint or Youngstown or a specific time period such as the 1980s Nor is it limited to the abandoned factory buildings associated with heavy industry Rather deindustrialization is a complex process that is uneven in its causes timing and consequences The essays in this volume examine this process through a wide range of topics from worker narratives and media imagery to suburban politics environmental activism and commemoration

Beyond Bakelite Joris Mercelis, 2020-03-24 The changing relationships between science and industry in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries illustrated by the career of the father of plastics The Belgian born American chemist inventor and entrepreneur Leo Baekeland 1863-1944 is best known for his invention of the first synthetic plastic his near namesake Bakelite which had applications ranging from electrical insulators to Art Deco jewelry Toward the end of his career Baekeland was called the father of plastics given credit for the establishment of a sector to which many other researchers inventors and firms inside and outside the United States had also made significant contributions In Beyond Bakelite Joris Mercelis examines Baekeland's career using it as a lens through which to view the changing relationships between science and industry on both sides of the Atlantic in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries He gives special attention to the intellectual property strategies and scientific entrepreneurship of the period making clear their relevance to contemporary concerns Mercelis describes the growth of what he terms the science industry nexus and the developing interdependence of science and industry After examining Baekeland's emergence as a pragmatic innovator and leader in scientific circles Mercelis analyzes Baekeland's international and domestic IP strategies and his efforts to reform the US patent system his dual roles as scientist and industrialist the importance of theoretical knowledge to the science industry nexus and the American Bakelite companies research and development practices technically oriented sales approach and remuneration schemes Mercelis argues that the expansion and transformation of the science industry nexus shaped the careers and legacies of Baekeland and many of his contemporaries

Of Bicycles, Bakelites, and Bulbs Wiebe E. Bijker, 1997-01-03 This book crystallizes and extends the important work Wiebe Bijker has done in the last decade to found a full scale theory of sociotechnical change that describes where technologies come from and how societies deal with them Of Bicycles Bakelites and Bulbs integrates detailed case studies with theoretical generalizations and political analyses to offer a fully rounded treatment both of the relations between technology and society and of the issues involved in sociotechnical change The stories of the the safety bicycle the first truly synthetic plastic and the fluorescent light bulb each a fascinating case study in itself reflect a cross section of time periods engineering and scientific disciplines and economic social and political cultures The bicycle story explores such issues as the role of changing gender relationships in shaping a technology the Bakelite story examines the ways in which social factors intrude even in cases of seemingly pure chemistry and entrepreneurship and the fluorescent bulb story offers insights into the ways in which political and economic relationships can affect the form of a technology Bijker's method is to use these case studies to suggest theoretical concepts that serve as building blocks in a more and more inclusive theory which is then tested against further case studies His main concern is to create a basis for science technology and social change that uncovers the social roots of technology making it amenable to democratic politics

Love Canal Penelope Ploughman PhD JD,2013-03-25 Love Canal originated in 1894 as part of William T Love s dream to build a model city and power canal The neighborhood emerged in the 1970s as an environmental nightmare and harbinger of the worldwide hazardous waste crisis Photographs in Love Canal tell the story of the community s early development and the subsequent use of the canal by Hooker Electrochemical Company to discard industrial chemical waste from 1942 to 1953 In the late 1970s the seemingly dormant dump began to leak and residents found themselves in a slowly unfolding nightmare learning that the waste dumped in the canal decades before was not simply garbage but actually a toxic brew of dangerous chemicals that were hazardous to life health and property      A Short History of Ancient Peoples Robinson Souttar,1903
