

A sea otter grouping, like this cluster in Alaska's Halibut Cove, is called a raft. The genders tend to split up by raft: all females, with pups and often one territorial male, or all males. Together they groom and rest between bouts of the vigorous foraging that frustrates shellfish-harvesting humans. "It's a long-term relationship we are in," Tinker says. "Humans and sea otters have to basically re-figure out how we coexist."
