Human-Computer Interaction - INTERACT 2009 Tom Gross, Jan Gulliksen, Paula Kotzé, Lars Oestreicher, Philippe Palanque, Raquel Oliveira Prates, Marco Winckler, 2009-08-20 INTERACT 2009 was the 12th of a series of INTERACT international conferences supported by the IFIP Technical Committee 13 on Human Computer Interaction This year INTERACT was held in Uppsala Sweden organized by the Swedish Interdisciplinary Interest Group for Human Computer Interaction STIMDI in cooperation with the Department of Information Technology at Uppsala University Like its predecessors INTERACT 2009 highlighted both to the academic and to the industrial world the importance of the human computer interaction HCI area and its most recent breakthroughs on current applications Both experienced HCI researchers and professionals as well as newcomers to the HCI field interested in designing or evaluating interactive software developing new interaction technologies or investigating overarching theories of HCI found in INTERACT 2009 a great forum for communication with people of similar interests to encourage collaboration and to learn INTERACT 2009 had Research and Practice as its special theme The reason we selected this theme is that the research within the field has drifted away from the practical applicability of its results and that the HCI practice has come to disregard the knowledge and development within the academic community

Indoor Scene Recognition by 3-D Object Search Pascal Meißner, 2019-10-11 This book focuses on enabling mobile robots to recognize scenes in indoor environments in order to allow them to determine which actions are appropriate at which points in time In concrete terms future robots will have to solve the classification problem represented by scene recognition sufficiently well for them to act independently in human centered environments To achieve accurate yet versatile indoor scene recognition the book presents a hierarchical data structure for scenes the Implicit Shape Model trees Further it also provides training and recognition algorithms for these trees In general entire indoor scenes cannot be perceived from a single point of view To address this problem the authors introduce Active Scene Recognition ASR a concept that embeds canonical scene recognition in a decision making system that selects camera views for a mobile robot to drive to so that it can find objects not yet localized The authors formalize the automatic selection of camera views as a Next Best View NBV problem to which they contribute an algorithmic solution which focuses on realistic problem modeling while maintaining its computational efficiency Lastly the book introduces a method for predicting the poses of objects to be searched establishing the otherwise missing link between scene recognition and NBV estimation

Explainable Human-AI Interaction Sarath Sreedharan,Anagha Kulkarni,Subbarao Kambhampati,2022-05-31 From its inception artificial intelligence AI has had a rather ambivalent relationship with humans swinging between their augmentation and replacement Now as AI technologies enter our everyday lives at an ever increasing pace there is a greater need for AI systems to work synergistically with humans One critical requirement for such synergistic human AI interaction is that the AI systems behavior be explainable to the humans in the loop To do this effectively AI agents need to go beyond planning with their own models of the world and take into account the mental model of the human in the loop At a minimum AI agents need approximations of the human's task and goal models as well as the human's model of the AI agent's task and goal models The former will guide the agent to anticipate and manage the needs desires and attention of the humans in the loop and the latter allow it to act in ways that are interpretable to humans by conforming to their mental models of it and be ready to provide customized explanations when needed The authors draw from several years of research in their lab to discuss how an AI agent can use these mental models to either conform to human expectations or change those expectations through explanatory communication While the focus of the book is on cooperative scenarios it also covers how the same mental models can be used for obfuscation and deception The book also describes several real world application systems for collaborative decision making that are based on the framework and techniques developed here Although primarily driven by the authors own research in these areas every chapter will provide ample connections to relevant research from the wider literature The technical topics covered in the book are self contained and are accessible to readers with a basic background in AI

The Earthquake Observers Deborah R. Coen, 2012-12-10 Earthquakes have taught us much about our planet's hidden structure and the forces that have shaped it This knowledge rests not only on the recordings of seismographs but also on the observations of eyewitnesses to destruction During the nineteenth century a scientific description of an earthquake was built of stories stories from as many people in as many situations as possible Sometimes their stories told of fear and devastation sometimes of wonder and excitement In The Earthquake Observers Deborah R Coen acquaints readers not only with the century's most eloquent seismic commentators including Alexander von Humboldt Charles Darwin Mark Twain Charles Dickens Karl Kraus Ernst Mach John Muir and William James but also with countless other citizen observers many of whom were women Coen explains how observing networks transformed an instant of panic and confusion into a field for scientific research turning earthquakes into natural experiments at the nexus of the physical and human sciences Seismology abandoned this project of citizen science with the introduction of the Richter Scale in the 1930s only to revive it in the twenty first century in the face of new hazards and uncertainties The Earthquake Observers tells the history of this interrupted dialogue between scientists and citizens about living with environmental risk
