Beginning from Man and Woman Bernard K. Wong, 2017-04-30

Engaging with contemporary thought on love and the family Bernard Wong argues that our notion of love has been deeply influenced by modern technological culture and political ideologies leading to the detriment of familial relationships Dr Wong demonstrates how Christian doctrines can be used to critique and resist these ideologies Through a careful analysis of Christ's love expressed in his life death and resurrection the author presents a notion of Christ's love bearing the characteristics of fraternal incarnational and unfolding love These aspects of Christ's love are pertinent to the relationships between husbands and wives parents and children and families and their neighbours It is through practicing Christ's love that Christians strengthen their familial relationships and bear witness to Christ in the world The Zuni Man-woman Will Roscoe, 1991

Imago Dei: Man/Woman Created in the Image of God

George Hobson, 2019-09-30 The question What is human nature is in vogue today Like everything else this concept is being deconstructed in the context of the reigning ideology of individualistic materialism Is there a fixed human nature or is this simply a manipulatable social construct with no objective reference This book says Yes there is the imago Dei man woman created in the image of God Hobson argues that this text from Genesis 1:26-28 is a God-given anthropological revelation that establishes the relational bond of human beings with their Creator and also with his creation for which the imago equips us to be responsible stewards Many of Hobson's essays were delivered as talks in parishes They explore from multiple angles the import of the imago Dei for theological and sacramental reflection apologetics aesthetics art and at a hands-on practical level for pastoral counseling and inner healing His texts one of which opens with a discussion of genocide contain incisive critiques of the dark side of modernity alongside wide-ranging demonstrations of the pertinence of the imago Dei to the current debates about human dignity and rights His book is a ringing call to the church to take the measure of the value of this anthropological revelation for its proclamation of the gospel Man, Woman, and Marriage Alan L. Grey, 2017-07-12

In Man Woman and Marriage noted experts discuss such subjects as the ways in which people choose their mates how the family social system can entrap its members in neurotic games and the complex nature of marital love Each of the essays has been significant in major controversies on family research and represents a progressive exploration of the psychosocial aspects of marriage and family life in the United States Alan L Grey's penetrating Introduction traces the history of family research reviews earlier theories of social interaction discusses typical research approaches and furnishes a stimulating commentary on each paper that enumerates the key ideas and themes most relevant to the main emphasis of the debate Representative of the variety of viewpoints highlighted in this book are the pioneer efforts of Robert F Winch and his co-workers and the critical evaluations by George Levinger and Roland G Tharp as they point out the numerous complexities of the interpersonal process At the same time Gerald Bauman and his co-workers demonstrate the use of more flexible and sensitive research devices Melvin Cohen shows evidence of a type of family homeostasis and Mirra Komarovsky offers a social class comparison of typical kinds of husband wife relationships Despite the contrasting opinion presented in the volume the central theme runs through much of social science the quest for better descriptions of small group process and the actual ways in which family participants affect one another Bringing together original source materials that are both controversial and cross disciplinary Man Woman and Marriage promotes classroom discussion and is of immediate significance to all studies of marriage and family life whatever social science discipline is emphasized Man, Woman and Priesthood Graham Leonard, 1989

Human Sexuality and the Nuptial Mystery Roy R. Jeal, 2010-03-08 This collection of essays was originally presented at the St Margaret's Consultation on Doctrine Liturgy and Preaching held at St Margaret's Anglican Church in Winnipeg Canada in 2008 They consider human sexuality and marriage from a distinctly theological rather than polemical standpoint aiming to avoid frequently polarized debates The interesting commonality indicated in the articles is that sex and marriage are not about self fulfillment but are outwardly directed aimed toward the other person toward growth maturity and deepened spirituality for the benefit of the church for productive good and for children The first section explores theological and ethical issues surrounding human sexuality and aims toward understanding the nature of relationships in these contexts The second section explores the spiritual nature of marriage and the history of thinking on marriage and family within Christian theology For those interested in pursuing truly theological engagement with marriage and sexuality this collection is required reading

Simpler Syntax Peter W. Culicover, Ray Jackendoff, 2005-07-01 This groundbreaking book offers a new and compelling perspective on the structure of human language The fundamental issue it addresses is the proper balance between syntax and semantics between structure and derivation and between rule systems and lexicon It argues that the balance struck by mainstream generative grammar is wrong It puts forward a new basis for syntactic theory drawing on a wide range of frameworks and charts new directions for research In the past four decades theories of syntactic structure have become more abstract and syntactic derivations have become ever more complex Peter Culicover and Ray Jackendoff trace this development through the history of contemporary syntactic theory showing how much it has been driven by theory internal rather than empirical considerations They develop an alternative that is responsive to linguistic cognitive computational and biological concerns At the core of this alternative is the Simpler Syntax Hypothesis the most explanatory syntactic theory is one that imputes the minimum structure necessary to mediate between phonology and meaning A consequence of this hypothesis is a far richer mapping between syntax and semantics than is generally assumed Through concrete analyses of numerous grammatical phenomena some well studied and some new the authors demonstrate the empirical and conceptual superiority of the Simpler Syntax approach Simpler Syntax is addressed to linguists of all persuasions It will also be of central interest to those concerned with language in psychology human biology evolution computational science and artificial intelligence

"The Man Who Thought Himself a Woman" and Other Queer

Nineteenth-Century Short Stories Christopher Looby, 2016-11-29 Perhaps it is no coincidence that the nineteenth century the century when it has been said sexuality as such and various taxonomized sexual identities were invented is the period when American short stories were invented and when they were the queerest Christopher Looby from the Introduction A man in small town America wears the clothing of his wife and sisters satisfied at last that he has a perfect suit of garments appropriate for my sex he commits suicide asking only that he be buried dressed as a woman A country maid has a passionate summer relationship with an heiress the memory of which sustains her for the next forty years A girl is carried by a strong wind to a place where she discovers that everything is made of candy including the queer people whom she licks and eats If these are not the kinds of stories we expect to find in nineteenth century American literature it is perhaps because we have been looking in the wrong places The stories gathered here are written by a diverse assortment of writers women and men obscure and famous Herman Melville Willa Cather and Louisa May Alcott among others Exploring the vagaries of gender identity erotic desire and affectional attachments that do not map easily onto present categories of sex and gender they celebrate mourn and question the different modes of embodiment and forgotten styles of pleasure of nineteenth century America A Man's Woman Frank Norris, 1902-01-01 Playwrights for Tomorrow Arthur H.
