Oxford Handbook of Management Consulting Matthias Kipping, Timothy Clark, 2012-03-29 Management consultants of various kinds play an important role in the world of business and other organizations This Handbook provides a comprehensive overview of research and thinking on the role history and function of management consultants Task, Firm Size, and Organizational Structure in Management Consulting Michael Graubner, 2007-11-06 Foreword The management consulting industry has grown into a sizeable economic sector and employment market in the outgoing 20 century Globally operating management consulting firms with thousands of consultants have emerged They coexist alongside many small consultancies and single practitioners As a result a remarkable diversity in the organizational structure of management consulting firms has developed Organizational structure is of utmost importance for consultancies as it directly impacts their business and employment models Yet little scientific explanation has been offered so far on the factors accounting for the diversity of organizational structure in management consulting Michael Graubner explores this contemporary topic His research is guided by the contingency theory of organizations one of the classical organization theory schools of thought that has been traditionally applied to investigate organizational structure in manufacturing banking and the public sector The author thoroughly reviews the different aspects of contingency theory contingency factors constructs of organizational structure the concept of fit between contingencies and structure organic vs bureaucratic theory and reflects on them in the light of other organization theory schools of thought The Economics and Sociology of Management Consulting Thomas Armbrüster, 2006-11-16 academic disciplines Book Jacket Strategic Positioning in the Consulting Industry Kerim Galal, 2014-11-11 This book provides an in depth analysis of strategic positioning efforts of firms in the German consulting market In his work the author applies strategic group theory to the German management consulting industry and provides an empirical test of the performance effects of alternative positioning strategies of management consulting firms At the core is its empirical research specifically the analysis of the service expositions through which consulting firms communicate the nature of their services to clients In order to ascertain these service expositions the author conducts content analysis of 233 consulting firms active in the German market He then uses the findings in order to cluster the firms into distinct strategic groups and tests for associations between the positioning of firms within their respective group and their performance. Overall, the author finds evidence of three distinct strategic groups of consulting firms that operate in the German market which he describes as Standardized Solution Providers, Functional Specialists, and Functional Generalists. Practitioners and industry observers are going to find this book uniquely helpful as it provides clarity on both the macro and the micro strategies of consulting firms active in Germany, i.e. the overall service portfolio choices they make, which types of services to offer at all, and the specific communicative positioning of these service offerings vis-à-vis their clients. Strategy scholars will benefit from the in-depth discussion of the strengths and limitations of strategic group theory in general and of strategic balance theory in particular. Contemporary Theory and Practice of Organizations, Part II, Timea Havar-Simonovich, Daniel Simonovich, 2016-05-31. Organizations are the business world's central actors, employing multiple people who pursue collective goals while linked to an external environment. This volume is the first of two books dedicated to defining current theories of organizations and their practices. The text is filled with contributions by alumni of the ESB Business School at Reutlingen University. Part I discusses contemporary organizational forms and properties, including team aspects. Part II provides a detailed overview of key themes in modern leadership and coaching, as well as organizational intervention. Disliked Practices, Nicolas Rohde, 2010. In recent years, the concept of organizational practices has become increasingly popular in organization studies. The focus of research that follows a practice approach is on the actual activities in organizations, as opposed to prescribed procedures or standardized routines. This book is about a hitherto neglected category of practice, namely disliked practices in organizations. On the basis of an empirical study in three German companies, the author reveals how continuous practicing of disliked practices results in a discrepancy between practitioners and their practices. This stands in contrast to previous literature, which understands practices as being exclusively positive and in which the consent of the practitioner to their practices is generally assumed. Based on the findings from the inductive study, the author develops a Theory of Disliked Practices, which explicates findings about the nature and the evolution of disliked practices and the negative effects of disliked practices on practitioners and organizational functioning. This book addresses researchers, lecturers, students, and all those interested in organization studies and related disciplines such as industrial, organizational psychology, and sociology. The results of the study have significant implications for practice theory and methodology. Moreover, the theoretical model presented in this book provides a valuable basis for further research. Beyond that, the book will be insightful for managers and consultants who strive to improve the well-being of employees and overall organizational functioning. Disposal Methods of Municipal Solid Wastes for a Sustainable Environment Srivastava, Prateek, Ramteke, Durgaprasad, Bedyal, Ankush Kumar, Gupta, Monika, Sandhu, Jasminder Kaur, 2023-07-14 Managing solid waste is one of the biggest challenges in urban areas around the world. Technologically advanced economies generate vast amounts of organic waste materials many of which are disposed of in landfills. In the future, efficient use of carbon-containing waste and all other waste materials must be increased to reduce the need for virgin raw materials acquisition including biomass and reduce carbon emissions to the atmosphere, mitigating climate change. Moreover, expeditious development in information and communications technology (ICT) has made the machines more powerful and efficient but at the same time there is a simultaneous decrease in product life leading to an extensive rise in the annual production of e-waste or electronic waste. Considering the health hazards and environmental implications of e-waste, it has become a global problem that needs serious attention. The Handbook of Research on Safe Disposal Methods of Municipal Solid Wastes for a Sustainable Environment covers waste management principles and strategies in different fields and corresponding applications. The book also focuses on the waste management strategies for a sustainable environment that have emerged. Covering key topics such as waste energy and recycling, this premier reference source is an excellent resource for environmentalists, government officials, researchers, scholars, academicians, practitioners, instructors, and students.

Strategy and Change Aaron K. Olson, Ward Ching, Richard Waterer, B. Keith Simerson, 2025-09-23 A powerful guide to becoming a strategic leader who makes insightful business decisions and manages risk in volatile and unpredictable environments. Written by a team of seasoned strategy consultants, Strategy and Change: How to Succeed in the Face of Accelerating Disruptive Innovation delivers an insightful playbook on recognizing relevant patterns, making consistently sound business decisions, and effectively managing risk in a world defined by disruption and volatility. This follow-up to the authors' first book, Leading with Strategic Thinking, covers major business developments and trends occurring since 2015. It explores disruption from technological advancements like generative AI as well as unforeseen crises like the global COVID-19 pandemic. In this book, readers will find invaluable insights into the four ways to lead strategy in today's complex business environment: visionary leadership, directive leadership, incubating leadership, and collaborative leadership. How to analyze problems and make decisions that achieve short and long-term success. New methods to evaluate hazards as both threats and opportunities in a marketplace that has become increasingly disruptive and unpredictable. Grounded in the latest research and real-world case studies, Strategy and Change earns a well-deserved spot on the bookshelves of all executives, consultants, and entrepreneurs seeking proven guidance to navigate the new world of business. It is also an invaluable resource for risk management professionals, academics, and early-career professionals involved in strategy and leadership.
