Mourning Becomes Electra A Trilogy:

Mourning becomes Electra Eugene O'Neill, Mourning Becomes Electra Eugene O'Neill, 2022-07-21 Eugene O'Neill's Mourning Becomes Electra is a monumental exploration of familial dysfunction and tragedy structured as a trilogy that reimagines the themes of revenge and fate from the Greek tragedies. Written in a poetic and expressionistic style, the play unfolds against the backdrop of post-Civil War America, utilizing the classical structure of the Oresteia while intertwining existential despair and psychological depth. O'Neill's rich characterizations and vivid dialogues transform the mythological elements into a domestic sphere where love and hate are inextricably linked, and the quest for redemption becomes a haunting motif. Eugene O'Neill, a luminary of American theater and the first playwright to win the Nobel Prize in Literature, drew upon his personal experiences of loss and familial turmoil to craft this profound work. Having suffered from dysfunctional relationships and a tumultuous upbringing, including the struggles with addiction and mental illness that permeated his life, O'Neill's deep insights into human nature and existential themes imbue his characters with a haunting authenticity. Readers seeking a powerful examination of the human condition, steeped in tragedy and layered with meaning, will find Mourning Becomes Electra both compelling and thought-provoking. It stands as a testament to O'Neill's mastery of drama, making it an essential read for lovers of literary theater and those fascinated by the intricacies of the human psyche.

The Theater of Trauma Michael Cotsell, 2005 The Theater of Trauma is a groundbreaking rereading of the relations between psychology and drama in the age of Eugene O'Neill, Susan Glaspell, and their many brilliant contemporaries. American modernist Theater of Trauma drew its vision from the psychological investigation of trauma and its consequences among them hysteria and dissociation made by French and American psychiatrists such as the great Pierre Janet, Alfred Binet, William James, Morton Prince, and W. E. B. Du Bois, the European and American dissociationist culture that developed around their work and the resulting trauma of World War I American dramatists deep resistance to Freud's suppression of trauma challenges the equation of Freud and modernism that has become commonplace in modernist criticism Mourning
