Old Age In A Changing Society:

Aging in a Changing Society James Thorson, 2013-08-21 The field of gerontology the study of aging has emerged as an area of increasing importance This book is an introduction to the multidisciplinary field of gerontology The text with its friendly narrative style assumes no prior knowledge of gerontology sociology or psychology Old Age in a Changing Society Zena Smith Blau, 1973-01-01 Ageing and Old Age in a Changing Society, 1975 Aging in a Changing World Molly George, 2021-10-15 This is a story about aging in place in a world of global movement Around the world many older people have stayed still but have been profoundly impacted by the movement of others Without migrating themselves many older people now live in a far different country than the one of their memories Recently the Brexit vote and the 2016 election of Trump have re enforced prevalent stereotypes of the racist older person This book challenges simplified images of the old as racist nostalgic and resistant to change by taking a deeper more nuanced look at older people s complex relationship with the diversity and multiculturalism that has grown and developed around them Aging in a Changing World takes a look at how some older people in New Zealand have been responding to and interacting with the new multiculturalism they now encounter in their daily lives Through their unhurried micro daily interactions with immigrants they quietly emerge as agents of the very social change they are assumed to oppose Toward an Independent Old Age National Institute on Aging. National Research on Aging Planning Panel, 1982 Intergenerational Support and Old Age in Africa Isabella Aboderin, 2017-09-08 In most societies of the world including in Africa responsibility for the material support of older people unable to sustain themselves through work or investments has originally resided with their younger generational family members especially their adult children Aboderin explores this topic specifically for Africa In the wake of social or economic change societies experience shifts in the degree in which families support their elders Questions about the proper balance of family and state responsibilities however persist especially in the light of socio demographic trends and constraints in public expenditure In most of sub Saharan Africa in contrast to other world regions economic security policies for older people have not yet been formulated despite declines in material family support along with rising poverty to which a growing elderly population is particularly exposed In part this betrays the crucial lack of understanding about how and why these shifts in support have occurred in African societies and thus a profound uncertainty about what balance of individual family and state responsibilities will be culturally appropriate and effective in ensuring economic security for older Africans both now and in the future Abdorein aims to address these gaps in understanding She provides an empirical and theoretical analysis of the micro and macro level processes that have underpinned recent declines in old age family support in African societies and likely parameters of future familial support She also addresses more fundamental theoretical questions about how we should think about the relationships between intergenerational support norms and values and societal change Intergenerational Support in Africa should be of interest to anyone interested in the subjects of African studies economic policy and theory concerning elder care as well as those interested in sociology and social welfare development

Chimes of Change and Hours Audrey Borenstein, 1983 Encompassing a variety of perspectives on the lives of older women in modern America this book is a rich mosaic drawing on demographic social psychological social historical economic and gerontological data and incorporating transcripts of oral histories interviews with women artists fiction and essays by and about women in the second half of their lives autobiographies diaries journals letters and other sources

Life-Span and Change in a Gerontological Perspective Joep M. A. Munnichs, Paul Mussen, Erhard Olbrich, 2014-05-10 Life Span and Change in a Gerontological Perspective provides a critical evaluation of different methodological and theoretical approaches to the study of behavioral development in a life span perspective This book addresses the need for more integrated knowledge in the field of gerontological and life span psychology Organized into three parts encompassing 12 chapters this book begins with an overview of the most significant longitudinal studies in a life span perspective This text then examines the developmental research in adulthood and old age which provide insights into processes specific to the later periods of the life span and theoretical conceptualizations of development and its determinants during the whole life span Other chapters consider the connection between the age of longitudinal studies and the theory used implicitly This book discusses as well data on the intelligence of the elderly The final chapter deals with the problems and processes involving family networks and aging This book is a valuable resource for psychologists social scientists and gerontologists

Changing Administration, Changing Society Peter Herrmann, Sabine Herrenbrueck, 2007 Welfare is a current global issue challenging the lives of many Investigations are constantly being made to find answers in search of the most proficient social model This book presents the usefulness of an enhanced model for welfare regime analysis and shows the localisation of social professional orientations This includes social quality social professions traditions public services globalisation child protection retirement plans and other social services

Economy in Changing Society Maria Nawojczyk, 2011-01-18 Economy is embedded in ongoing concrete social networks and economic processes are increasingly international in character Three interrelated processes are crucial for setting the frame of analysis for this book globalisation development of post industrial societies and transformation of European post socialist countries Within this framework the main issues are as follows 1 Economies in transition reliable patterns imitation local adaptation cultural embeddedness 2 Multiplicity of markets commodification of life new markets in old societies 3 Economic behavior households micro enterprises local and global influences 4 Contemporary politics i e states the European Union and global corporations The stress will be placed on actors relations and institutions as the driving forces of the above described processes The authors of this collection based on their empirical material analyze very interesting socio economic issues These are ethical consumption from the perspective of the moral economy and its connection to political institutions in Europe and particularly in Hungary the cultural context of consumption both in the case of social networks in Bangladesh and of counterfeited goods on the Russian market the new and old individual and organizational actors in transition economies for instance in Poland and Croatia the new approach to corporations as global actors stressing their social responsibility the dynamics of managerial practices in the example of Russia the influence of EU funds and policies on the Polish SMEs market the cultural embeddedness of economic behavior in the case of Poles working in the Scottish market and of entrepreneurs in Damascus the retirement policy in the fast aging societies of Spain and Poland and the emergence of the new markets like that of health services in Russia and that of the property market in Eastern and Central Europe Older Widows and the Life Course Pat Chambers,2018-01-18

Later life widowhood is the expectation of most older wives since statistically women live longer than men and tend to marry men older than themselves Despite this there has been little coverage of the complexities of later life widowhood In this book Pat Chambers redresses this balance combining an analysis of the literature that does exist with qualitative research amongst older widows The research reveals a multi faceted experience of later life widowhood Older widows life stories challenge the dominant public narrative of misery and decline pointing instead to a complexity of experience which is rooted in personal biography and the female life course rather than in later life widowhood itself Chambers develops the concept of multiple narratives as a way of uncovering the complex but often hidden lives of older widows Without such an understanding she argues it is all too easy to subscribe to the powerfully dominant public narrative and thus to misinterpret older widows current needs and aspirations This is an engaging and original study of a key topic for gerontological research and will be of great interest to sociologists and social policy scholars who study ageing and the life course The Meanings of Age Bernice L. Neugarten,1996-12-15

Neugarten who explains and highlights Neugarten s contributions in light of the most recent research in the fields of gerontology and social policy Carefully edited by Dail A Neugarten each chapter presents the reader with Bernice Neugarten s original formulations on topics such as age norms and age constraints the changing meanings of age and age neutral social policy

Women in Changing Society Rhyland Jones,2019-05-18 Since the 1960s and 1970s century the women s movements and women s studies have been beginning to rise throughout the world In the past several decades the status of women has been greatly improved All the writings contain valuable insights highlighting the idea of feminism and trace the different forms it has taken in the countries under consideration The book specially has the concerns on various aspects of feminism and queries of paradigm shift in women studies The comprehensive coverage of the activities of women in numerous sectors and also hints at feminization of labour as well as household activities conflict zones and environment in our society A book to further reading in the light of the documents consulted and used in the chapters which may be a foundation for any serious researcher on women in the development process Health and Illness in a Changing Society Michael Bury,2013-10-11
