Sail Through the Centuries Sam Svensson,1963 Boating ,1965-07 The Barbary Pirates 15th-17th Centuries Angus Konstam,2016-08-25 For the best part of three centuries the corsairs or pirates from the Barbary coasts of North Africa dominated the Western and Central Mediterranean They made forays far into the Atlantic preying on the shipping and coastal settlements across Christian Europe ranging from Greece to West Africa and the British Isles In the absence of organized European navies they seldom faced serious opposition and the scope of their raiding was remarkable As well as piracy and slave raiding they fought as privateers sharing their spoils with the rulers of the port cities that provided them with ships men and a ready market This book examines their development and their style of fighting chronicles their achievements and failures and illustrates their appearance and that of their ships explaining why they were so feared and effective

Lach, 2010-01-15 Praised for its scope and depth Asia in the Making of Europe is the first comprehensive study of Asian influences on Western culture. For volumes I and II the author has sifted through virtually every European reference to Asia published in the sixteenth century; he surveys a vast array of writings describing Asian life and society, the images of Asia that emerge from those writings, and in turn the reflections of those images in European literature and art. This monumental achievement reveals profound and pervasive influences of Asian societies on developing Western culture; in doing so it provides a perspective necessary for a balanced view of world history. Volume I, The Century of Discovery, brings together everything that a European could know of India, Southeast Asia, China, and Japan from printed books, missionary reports, traders' accounts, and maps. The New York Review of Books. Volume II, A Century of Wonder, examines the influence of that vast new body of information about Asia on the arts, institutions, literatures, and ideas of sixteenth-century Europe.
