A Special Relationship Anthony Slide,2015-06-15 A Special Relationship provides not only a historical overview of the British in Hollywood but also a detailed study of the contributions made by American individuals and companies to British cinema from the beginning of the twentieth century onwards The story begins with Ohio born Charles Urban who came to London in 1898 and deserves credit for major involvement in the creation of a British film industry While Ireland was still a part of Britain the New York based Kalem Company made films there from 1910 to 1913 British producers realized the importance of American stars and many actors beginning with Florence Turner who was arguably also the first American star made numerous British films In the 1920s such Hollywood stars as Mae Marsh Betty Blythe and Dorothy Gish remained active in Britain In the 1930s as their careers came to a halt more than one hundred former American stars made the trip to England partly as a vacation and partly in the hope of reenergizing their careers Chapters discuss American cinematographers at work in Britain in the 1920s and 1930s and the introduction of Technicolor to British films Diversity is represented by African American performers

most notably Paul Robeson the Chinese American star Anna May Wong along with female filmmakers from Hollywood With Britain's declaration of war on Germany there were Americans who stayed such as Bebe Daniels and Ben Lyon contributing to the war effort America became actively involved in British cinema after World War II with many Hollywood studios producing films there As the years progressed the British film industry became an international film industry The book concludes with the Harry Potter and James Bond series indicative of a new international cinema with financing and behind the camera talent coming from the United States but with British locales and British stars Who's Who In Hollywood!
