Salinity Crisis Landscapes Communities And Politics:

The Salinity Crisis Quentin Beresford, 2001 Focuses on dryland salinity in W A s wheatbelt Irrigation, Salinity, and Rural Communities in Australia's Murray-Darling Basin, 1945-2020 Daniel Rothenburg, 2023-01-13 This book explores the issue of salinization in the context of contemporary conflicts about irrigation water and the environment in Australia considering the Murray Darling Basin in particular It provides an environmental and social history charting the transformation of rural communities in the basin through the salinization of soils and water Focusing on the Goulburn Murray Irrigation district in the southwest of the Murray Darling basin the largest irrigation district in Australia it explores the history of state directed large scale engineering in the district where the environment has been altered dramatically to facilitate white agricultural settlement inland Changes to the landscape led to extensive salinization however a significant environmental threat in Australia This book traces the impact of these changes on rural communities taking a bottom up approach highlighting the connections between environmental social and political change It provides an important reflection on the importance of environmental history for facing the challenges posed by anthropogenic climate change Water Politics in the Murray-Darling Basin Daniel Connell, 2007 In January 2007 the Australian Prime Minister John Howard announced a 10 billion plan to reform rural water management Most of the effort will focus on the Murray Darling Basin In this book Daniel Connell explains why there is a crisis in the Murray Darling He highlights the disastrous consequences of a century of fitful reluctant co operation between the six governments responsible for the region Connell argues that a new institutional system is essential but a Commonwealth takeover is not the best answer Instead the Commonwealth government should use its constitutional and financial power to force the States to adopt national policies and stick to them whatever the local politics The States would continue to play a substantial role but the controls would be tighter the framework more comprehensive He also shows how the National Water Initiative the great blueprint for water reform has stalled with many of its most important recommendations ignored So far the public debate about the future of the Murray Darling Basin has concentrated on new technical projects and increased water trading Connell argues that unless institutional change is given priority hundreds of millions of dollars of annual investment will be frittered away and the crisis will continue Green Urbanism Down Under Timothy Beatley, Peter Newman, 2012-09-26 In this immensely practical book Timothy Beatley sets out to answer a simple question what can Americans learn from Australians about greening city life Green Urbanism Down Under reports on the current state of sustainability practice in Australia and the many lessons that U S residents can learn from the best Australian programs and initiatives Australia is similar to the United States in many ways especially in its energy footprint For example Australia s per capita greenhouse gas emissions are second only to those of the United States A similar percentage of its residents live in cities 85 percent in Australia vs 80 percent in the United States And it suffers from parallel problems of air and water pollution a national dependence on automobiles and high fossil fuel consumption Still after traveling throughout Australia Beatley finds that there are myriad creative responses to these problems and that they offer instructive examples for the United States Green Urbanism Down Under is a very readable collection of solutions Although many of these innovative solutions are little known outside Australia they all present practical possibilities for U S cities Beatley describes green transport projects city farms renewable energy plans green living programs and much more He considers a host of public policy initiatives and scrutinizes regional and state planning efforts for answers In closing he shares his impressions about how Australian results might be applied to U S problems This is a unique book hopeful constructive and filled with ideas that have been proven to work It is a must read for anyone who cares about the future of American cities

Climate, Science, and Colonization

Emily O'Gorman,Matthew Henry,2014-09-17 Offering new historical understandings of human responses to climate and climate change this cutting edge volume explores the dynamic relationship between settlement climate and colonization covering everything from the physical impact of climate on agriculture and land development to the development of folk and government meteorologies Collapse Jared Diamond,2005-12-27 This title has been removed from sale by Penguin Group USA Trends in Fisheries and Aquatic Animal Health Panagiotis Berillis,2017-11-11 Fish and other seafood have always been considered as an important part of human diet and have also long been recognized as a health promoting food for human nutrition However managing aquatic food resources remains a challenge as the human population is expanding and overfishing poses a threat to fishing reserves in several areas Aquaculture is the alternative solution for food production from the sea According to the FAO aquaculture is probably the fastest growing food producing sector and can be a sustainable solution for fish production In order to maximize marine food production and achieving sustainable management of the aquatic environment knowledge about aspects of fisheries and aquatic animal health is very important Trends in Fisheries and Aquatic Animal Health covers some basic and applied topics in fishery management and fish health with a focus on European regions The textbook is a combination of reviews and research articles Topics covered in the book include challenges in fishery management environmental impacts on fisheries fish health pharmacology histopathology stress response telemetry techniques in fisheries research and specific case studies of regional marine species in localized fisheries This textbook is a useful resource for graduates and professionals involved in advanced training courses for aquaculture and fishery management Biological Diversity L. N. Petrov,2003 One of the cornerstones of life s wonders is the vast array of species filling the planet From plants to animals to humans there is no shortage of beings to provide spice of life variety is said to be Periodically scientists announce the discovery of a new form of life so it seems as if Earth is capable of producing new species just to keep us on our toes At times the immense breadth of living things can even feel overwhelming as one pauses to ponder how numerically insignificant humans are when compared to the insect population Given the biological diversity of the planet it is incumbent upon humans to safeguard the natural beauty of the environment To that end conservation takes on special importance necessitating the balancing of industrial expansion with preserving the flora and fauna surrounding us This book is an important tool in understanding and researching the many different life forms spanning the globe Collected here is a substantial and carefully selected listing of relevant literature on biological diversity and its conservation Following this bibliography are author title and subject indexes to allow for further access to this information The sheer bulk of the works about biological diversity can be so intimidating that a book such as this one becomes useful in sorting through the resources about the importance of life s variety Geographies of Rural Cultures and Societies Moya Kneafsey,2017-09-08 The last decade or so has witnessed a flourishing of research in rural geography in particular approaches which have developed socio cultural perspectives on rural issues This book brings together well established and newer researchers to examine the position of rural social and cultural geography at the beginning of the 21st century and to suggest new research agendas. It offers critical evaluations of theoretical positions and advances, introduces new conceptual and methodological tools and reports on recent empirical work on a variety of topical issues in a number of countries. With diverse theoretical and empirical content, the book makes a valuable contribution to the development of research into changing social and cultural geographies of rurality in developed or Western countries.

Sustainability and Change in Rural Australia Chris Cocklin, Jacqui Dibden, 2005. By addressing themes such as social and economic change, government policy and gender relations, this volume tackles the thematic complexities of sustainability. It attempts to understand how small rural communities have survived in the past, what factors shaped them and how these factors will impact on their future survival.

Disasters that Changed Australia Richard Evans, 2009. From natural phenomenon such as Cyclone Tracy and the Ash Wednesday and Black Friday fires to key moments in our military history such as Flanders in 1917 and the fall of Singapore, this is an essential guide to understanding the people, the ideas and the events that defined the course of Australia's history.

The Memory of Trees Viki Cramer, 2023-06-27. Most Australians see their world through eucalypts. From towering forests to straggly woodlands in city parks, by the coast and in the bush, these are the trees that inhabit our familiar landscapes and national psyche. Yet the resilience of our eucalypt ecosystems is being tested by logging and land clearing, disease and drought, fire and climate change. In many places, they are a faded remnant of those known by past generations. How important is the memory of these trees? In search of answers, Viki Cramer takes us on a journey through the richest botanical corner of the continent, exploring forests of rugged jarrah and majestic karri woodlands, of enduring salmon gum and burnished bark gum. Spending time with the people caring for these precious places, she interrogates the decisions of the past, takes a measure of the present and glimpses hope for the landscapes of tomorrow. The Memory of Trees will make you look anew at the trees and environments that sustain us and show the many ways that together we can ensure their future.

Developing Australia's Regions Andrew Beer, Alaric Maude, William Pritchard, 2003-05-01. Delves behind the too often negative media headlines and stereotypes about regional Australia and considers the true state of Australia's regions, including metropolitan regions and what can be done to improve their economic, social and environmental well-being.

Soil Science: Agricultural and Environmental Prospectives Khalid Rehman Hakeem, Javaid Akhtar, Muhammad Sabir, 2016-08-01. Soil is the most important natural non-renewable resource developed over a longer period of time due to weathering of rocks and subsequently enrichment of organic matter. Soil provides habitat for numerous microorganisms and serves as a natural medium for plant growth, thereby providing the plants with anchorage, nutrients and water to sustain the growth. Soil also serves as a universal sink for all types of pollutants, purifies ground water and is a major reserve of carbon in the universe. The role of soils to provide ecosystem services, maintenance of environmental human health and ensuring the food security makes it as the most important and basic natural resource. Soil Science helps us to elaborate and understand how the soils provide all these services Soil Science also provides us the basic knowledge dealing with the origin of the soil parent material weathering of parent material and the formation of soils morphological physico chemical and biological features of soils classification of soils and role of soils in the provision and maintenance of ecosystem services food security and environmental quality This book encompasses the various processes functions and behaviour of soils very comprehensively to acquaint the students of soil plant and environmental sciences about their role to perform different agricultural and environmental functions
