Salmon Doubts Adam Sacks, 2004 Follows a group of salmon as they make their way to the ocean to fatten up and then return to their stream to spawn

Philosophy of Language and Webs of Information Heimir Geirsson, 2013 The nature of propositions and the cognitive value of names have been the focal point of philosophy of language for the last few decades. The advocates of the causal reference theory have favored the view that the semantic contents of proper names are their referents. However, Frege's puzzle about the different cognitive value of coreferential names has made this identification seem impossible. Geirsson provides a detailed overview of the debate to date and then develops a novel account that explains our reluctance even when we know about the relevant identity to substitute coreferential names in both simple sentences and belief contexts while nevertheless accepting the view that the semantic content of names is their referents. The account focuses on subjects organizing information in webs; a name can then access and elicit information from a given web. Geirsson proceeds to extend the account of information to non-referring names but they have long provided a serious challenge to the causal reference theorist.

Causation and Explanation Stathis Psillos, 2014-12-18 What is the nature of causation? How is causation linked with explanation? And can there be an adequate theory of explanation? These questions and many others are addressed in this unified and rigorous examination of the philosophical problems surrounding causation, laws and explanation. Part 1 of this book explores Hume's views on causation, theories of singular causation and counterfactual and mechanistic approaches. Part 2 considers the regularity view of laws and laws as relations among universals as well as recent alternative approaches to laws. Part 3 examines the issues arising from deductive nomological explanation, statistical explanation, the explanation of laws and the metaphysics of explanation. Accessible to readers of all levels, this book provides an excellent introduction to one of the most enduring problems of philosophy.

Between Generations Victoria Ford Smith, 2017-08-07 Winner of the Children's Literature Association's 2019 Book Award Between Generations is a multidisciplinary volume that reframes children as powerful forces in the production of their own literature and culture by uncovering a tradition of creative collaborative partnerships between adults and children in nineteenth and early twentieth century England The intergenerational collaborations documented here provide the foundations for some of the most popular Victorian literature for children from Margaret Gatty's Aunt Judy's Tales to Robert Louis Stevenson's Treasure Island Examining the publication histories of both canonical and lesser known Golden Age texts reveals that children collaborated with adult authors as active listeners coauthors critics illustrators and even small scale publishers These literary collaborations were part of a growing interest in child agency evident in cultural social and scientific discourses of the time Between Generations puts these creative partnerships in conversation with collaborations in other fields including child study educational policy library history and toy culture Taken together these collaborations illuminate how Victorians used new critical approaches to childhood to theorize young people as viable social actors Smith's work not only recognizes Victorian children as literary collaborators but also interrogates how those creative partnerships reflect and influence adult child relationships in the world beyond books Between Generations breaks the critical impasse that understands children's literature and children themselves as products of adult desire and revises common constructions of childhood that frequently and often errantly resign the young to passivity or powerlessness
